Estimates Question on Notice

No. 1

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Crisafulli Government's delivery of the $2 billion Residential Activation Fund on SDS page 1, can the Deputy Premier advise how the Residential Activation Fund will support rural and remote communities in Far North Queensland?

ANSWER:
Round 1 of the $2 billion Residential Activation Fund (RAF) received 178 submissions – 64 from South East Queensland (SEQ) and 114 from regional, rural and remote Queensland.

RAF will deliver a place to call home for more Queenslanders and support one million new homes by 2044 with at least 50 per cent of the overall funding to be invested outside of SEQ, in regional, rural and remote communities.

The Crisafulli Government's 2025-26 Budget made available up to $1 billion to support approved projects under Round 1, doubled from the original $500 million, in response to the overwhelming support and availability of shovel-ready projects.

RAF is dedicated to delivering the construction of critical trunk and essential infrastructure such as water supply, sewerage, stormwater, roads and power needed to unlock new residential developments. Round 1 focusses on projects ready to proceed now.

Funding of $89 million has been approved to date for 16 local government projects in Far North Queensland which will unlock almost 3000 new homes across the region. Councils in Far North Queensland with approved projects are Aurukun Shire Council, Cook Shire Council, Mareeba Shire Council, Northern Peninsula Area Regional Council, Pormpuraaw Aboriginal Shire Council, Torres Shire Council, Cassowary Coast Regional Council and Tablelands Regional Council.

Future funding rounds will continue to support rural and remote communities like those in Far North Queensland, in line with the Government's commitment to invest at least 50 per cent of RAF funding across regional, rural and remote Queensland.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Crisafulli Government's commitment to refocusing Economic Development Queensland (EDQ) on page 18 of the SDS, can the Deputy Premier advise what actions is EDQ undertaking to boost housing supply in Cairns?

ANSWER:
The Crisafulli Government is delivering on its Securing our Housing Foundations Plan and this includes refocusing Economic Development Queensland to deliver more homes in Priority Development Areas (PDA) and scaling up housing approvals by 25 per cent over the next five years.

Cairns Regional Council has been strongly advocating for a PDA at Mount Peter in the Southern Growth Corridor of Cairns for several months.

The Cairns Local Government Area is growing rapidly and Mount Peter is the last greenfield residential development area for Cairns.

The Cairns Regional Council has requested EDQ's assistance to facilitate efficient, coordinated infrastructure delivery alongside housing.

EDQ is working closely with the Cairns Regional Council to facilitate housing opportunities in the Cairns region to give more Queenslanders a place to call home.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to SDS page 8 and the Crisafulli Government's delivery of new regional plans which cover every corner of the State, in conjunction with infrastructure plans, can the Deputy Premier advise the Committee of when each regional plan was last published and why this deliverable is needed to protect the lifestyles of Queensland communities like those in the Lockyer Valley?

ANSWER:
The Crisafulli Government is committed to delivering new regional plans across the state in this term of government to protect the lifestyle of our communities and appropriately cater for growth. This is a significant and ambitious program which will be delivered within this term of Government. This commitment is demonstrated through the significant $31.3 million funding package over the next four years, the largest ever boost, to ensure this program can be delivered and delivered with impact. As part of my commitment to review these regional plans, I have promised to work in close partnership with the Local Governments in each region to ensure implementation and workability and to ensure all regional plans are supported by infrastructure plans.

Significant policy and legislative changes have occurred to Queensland's planning framework since majority of regional plans were published. Only three regional plans have been updated since 2015, leaving 10 plans behind with no current coordination and planning guiding development in those regions.

The date each regional plan was published is listed below:

- Gulf Development Plan – November 2000
- Far North Queensland Regional Plan – February 2009
- Maranoa-Balonne Regional Plan – February 2009
- South West Regional Plan – August 2009
- Central West Regional Plan – September 2009
- North West Regional Plan – August 2010
- Mackay, Isaac and Whitsunday – February 2012
- Central Queensland Regional Plan – October 2013
- Darling Downs Regional Plan – October 2013
- Cape York Regional Plan – August 2014
- North Queensland Regional Plan – March 2020
- South East Queensland Regional Plan – December 2023
- Wide Bay Burnett Regional Plan – December 2023.

In conjunction with Regional Infrastructure Plans, new regional plans will aim to protect the lifestyle of Queensland communities, foster economic prosperity and facilitate more housing. This is something that is needed not just in larger cities and towns but across the state, including communities like those in the Lockyer Valley.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Crisafulli Government's deliverable of ending the CFMEU's cultural practice of bullying and intimidation seen on Queensland worksites against workers, contractors, employers and the independent public servants who protect workers safety on SDS page 2, can the Deputy Premier inform the Committee of previous examples of these cultural practices and what measures the Crisafulli Government is undertaking to end it?

ANSWER:
Since coming into Government, the Crisafulli Government has taken immediate action to address the CFMEU's misuse of powers and its improper conduct.

Recently, on 13 July 2025, the Crisafulli Government announced a landmark Commission of Inquiry into the coercive, bullying, intimidatory and illegal practice and conduct of the CFMEU Queensland branch.

The Commission of Inquiry follows the publication of the report 'Violence in the Queensland CFMEU' prepared by Senior Counsel Mr Geoffrey Watson (the Watson Report), on 9 July 2025. Concerningly, Mr Watson noted that possibly the worst aspect of the investigation was that the violence perpetrated by the CFMEU and the trauma experienced as a result has prevented people from sharing their stories or their stories have been shared but not included in the report for fear of retribution. This further supports the need for a Commission of Inquiry, which will ensure those who come forward and share their stories will be afforded the appropriate protections they deserve.

The Watson Report sets out heinous examples of the CFMEU's culture of bullying, violence, aggression and intimidation against workers, public servants, employers, the media, and women and children. These examples include:

- verbal abuse and online harassment of Workplace Health and Safety Queensland (WHSQ) inspectors, including posting inflammatory videos on social media; threats of violence, intimidation, misogyny and bullying aimed at representatives and members of the Australian Workers Union (AWU)
- targeting representatives of contractors, including with defamatory placards, and disrupting major projects
- non-union members being harassed and filmed
- threatening and grossly inappropriate conduct towards a female employee by protesting CFMEU members, which resulted in a lock-down of the building
- lock-down of State and Federal Government buildings in response to risk to property from protests.

The Watson Report highlights repeated examples of the lawless conduct of the CFMEU. The Watson Report notes that in August 2024 the Fair Work Commission detailed how, between 2003 and 2024, there were 213 separate court proceedings brought against the CFMEU, resulting in 2,600 convictions and the imposition of $28 million in fines. Further, the Watson Report cited that in the five-year period between 2019 and 2024, the CFMEU had been convicted of 1,163 breaches of industrial laws, resulting in more than $10 million in fines.

This information recounted in the Watson Report reflects experiences in Queensland with numerous CFMEU officials being fined for breaching legislation. Common issues include entry permit holders acting in an improper manner by refusing to comply with visitation or on-site requirements, refusing to produce their entry permits on request, or engaging in threatening or intimidating behaviour. In two notable cases relating to Queensland road upgrades, an individual CFMEU official was fined a total of $45,000 for 11 breaches of legislation.

The Watson Report validates actions immediately taken by the Crisafulli Government upon coming into office to address the violent, intimidating and menacing culture of the Queensland CFMEU, including:

- pausing the use of the Best Practice Industry Conditions for Industrial Relations on new government funded projects
- reinstating a 24-hour notice period for work health and safety entry permit holders seeking to enter a workplace to investigate a suspected contravention
- repealing amendments before they commenced that had been intended to expressly allow work health and safety entry permit holders to take photos and videos at workplaces
- re-establishing the Queensland Productivity Commission, with its first order of business being an inquiry into construction sector productivity and to consider opportunities for reform.

Since reinstating a 24-hour notice period and the CFMEU being placed into administration, there has been a marked decrease in right of entry matters. From 29 November 2024 to 30 June 2025, WHSQ assisted with only three right of entry matters relating to suspected contraventions. Union requests for assistance for other matters also declined significantly during this period, with only 39 recorded. This compares with eight right of entry matters relating to suspected contraventions between 1 July 2024 and 28 November 2024, and 107 union-initiated requests for assistance for other matters.

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Crisafulli Government's delivery of work health and safety reforms on SDS page 5, can the Deputy Premier advise what reforms have been undertaken and why they have been necessary to protect Queensland workers?

ANSWER:
The Queensland Government is committed to supporting safe and productive workplaces and has delivered a number of changes to improve and streamline work health and safety (WHS) legislation.

Under the Brisbane Olympic and Paralympic Games Arrangements and Other Legislation Amendment Act 2024 (BOPGOLA Act), the Queensland Government removed the automatic right of entry for WHS permit holders except where there is a serious immediate or imminent risk to the health and safety of a worker. Reintroducing a 24-hour notice requirement ensures management, and their safety specialists, are available when WHS entry permit holders are on site to discuss work health and safety concerns.

Since this reinstatement of the 24-hour notice requirement on 29 November 2024, there has been a significant decline in right of entry (RoE) matters. The decrease also coincides with the CFMEU being placed into administration on 23 August 2024.

Workplace Health and Safety Queensland (WHSQ) assisted with eight right of entry matters between 1 July 2024 and 28 November 2024 relating to suspected contraventions, all involving the CFMEU. During that same period, WHSQ recorded 107 union-initiated requests for assistance that did not relate to RoE.

In contrast, in the following six-month period, from 29 November 2024 to 30 June 2025 WHSQ assisted with only three right of entry matters relating to suspected contraventions, again all involving the CFMEU. During this later period, union requests for assistance unrelated to RoE matters also declined significantly, with only 39 recorded.

Under the BOPGOLA Act, the Queensland Government also repealed amendments before their commencement that were intended to allow WHS entry permit holders and health and safety representatives to take photographs, videos, measurements and conduct tests. This change supports the Queensland Government's zero-tolerance approach to bullying, fear, and intimidation, providing better conditions for productive discussions and problem solving about WHS matters. Removing the right to take videos and photographs was a necessary measure in response to CFMEU officials engaging in this practice as a means to intimidate and harass independent WHSQ Inspectors, workers and employers.

Changes were also made to streamline cease work provisions by clarifying that health and safety representatives can issue cease work notices to workers, and not to employers.

Together, these reforms support productive workplaces while maintaining safety standards and help to address some of the coercive and intimidatory behaviours experienced on Queensland construction sites as identified in the recent report titled 'Violence in the Queensland CFMEU' (the Watson Report).

The Queensland Government continues to monitor the WHS legislative framework to ensure it is operating as intended and to identify further opportunities to support productivity while maintaining strong work health and safety protections for Queensland workers.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Games Independent Infrastructure and Coordination Authority (GIICA) on SDS page 26, can the Deputy Premier advise the Committee what consultation was undertaken by GIICA to inform the 100 Day Review and what groups of stakeholders made submissions to the review?

ANSWER:
After more than 1,340 days after Queensland won the Games bid but only 148 days since the Crisafulli Government was sworn in, the Government unveiled the 2032 Delivery Plan and delivered a clear roadmap towards the 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games and beyond.

To get the Games back on track, the Games Independent Infrastructure and Coordination Authority (GIICA) conducted the 100 Day Review (the Review) of Games infrastructure and planning that prioritised key infrastructure, assessed connectivity, and ensured integration across venues, transport projects and athlete villages.

The Terms of Reference required GIICA to achieve the following seven objectives during the Review:

- assess infrastructure demand alignment
- assess connectivity and integration
- evaluate affordability
- evaluate deliverability
- identify priority projects
- maximise long-term benefits
- assess Games governance.

The Review's Terms of Reference ensured it evaluated demand, affordability, deliverability, and overall impact to maximise social, economic, and environmental outcomes, as well as providing an opportunity for Queenslanders to have their say on the Games.

5,862 submissions were received by GIICA during a public submission process that ran from Tuesday 10 December 2024 to Friday 10 January 2025. From these 5,862 submissions, 5,469 were made by individuals, with the majority of these submissions made by Queenslanders. The remaining 393 were made on behalf of an organisation.

GIICA heard from a diverse range of sectors and specialist bodies including:

- sporting bodies
- grassroots club and regional sporting organisations
- professional sporting clubs
- industry bodies
- government departments, agencies, authorities, bodies and local councils
- professional bodies
- design and architecture firms
- planning and specialist infrastructure consulting firms
- community advocacy groups
- environmental groups
- non-profit organisations
- educational institutions
- governing bodies
- construction contractors.

In addition to the public consultation process, GIICA conducted targeted consultation and sought relevant advice from more than 150 stakeholders including, among others:

- First Nations representatives
- sporting bodies
- venue users
- architecture and design representatives
- Games Delivery Partners
- community groups
- environmental groups.

GIICA adopted an evidence-based, data-driven approach, which also considered detailed analysis of thousands of pages of technical inputs and leveraged the significant body of work already undertaken, including already-completed project plans, cost assessments, business cases and Project Validation Reports.

The GIICA Board provided its Final Report to Government on 8 March 2025, and the Government announced its reply on 25 March 2025 through release of the 2032 Delivery Plan.

The Government's focus on maximising the legacy benefits and delivering generational infrastructure across all of Queensland is underpinned by a strong partnership with local governments and rural and regional communities.

GIICA's 100 Day Review Report made 86 recommendations designed to deliver legacy benefits across Queensland for decades to come. The Crisafulli Government accepted more than 90 per cent of GIICA's recommendations at the core of its 2032 Delivery Plan, which GIICA is now getting on with the job of delivering.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the refocusing of Economic Development Queensland on SDS page 18, can the Deputy Premier advise the Committee on what measures have been introduced by EDQ to support the Crisafulli Government's objectives across housing, commercial and industrial development?

ANSWER:
Economic Development Queensland (EDQ), as the Queensland Government's land development agency is well positioned to support the Crisafulli Government's objectives for housing, commercial and industrial development.

EDQ's 2025-2029 Strategic Plan (the Plan) aligns with the Government's commitment to refocus EDQ to assist industry to unlock housing and deliver industrial and commercial development opportunities at scale and pace across Queensland. The Plan outlines EDQ's strategic priorities of:

- Housing Supply – facilitate and deliver land for housing supply at scale and pace across the State
- Economic Prosperity – champion and secure investment for industry-led economic growth and job creation
- Liveable Places – plan, develop and invest in infrastructure to facilitate growth

EDQ will also focus on delivering a new development assessment operating model that is consistent, customer-centric and supports excellence in service delivery. To improve transparency, EDQ will release monthly data on performance against Key Performance Indicators for development assessment. Performance data will be released monthly with the July 2025 data released in mid-August 2025.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to SDS page 2 key deliverable to empower regional communities through the new renewables planning pathway, can the Deputy Premier advise the Committee how this new planning pathway provides long lasting, tangible benefits to regional Queenslanders in comparison to the regulatory framework that was previously in place?

ANSWER:
During the 2024 State election, the Crisafulli Government committed to amending laws requiring all renewable energy projects to be impact assessable and subject to the same rigorous approval processes as other resource projects.

The Crisafulli Government has delivered on its election commitment, with the new impact assessment level applying to wind farms from 3 February 2025 and large scale solar farms from 18 July 2025.

Up until the October 2024 election, the level of assessment for wind farms in Queensland was code-assessable. This didn't require public notification, nor did it afford residents third party appeal rights. Solar farms were assessed by local governments under individual planning schemes which determined the level of assessment, resulting in inconsistent approval processes across the state.

Impact assessment means that the public must be notified of the proposed wind or large-scale solar farm development, and submitter appeal rights apply. These changes ensure local communities are informed and have an opportunity to be heard.

On 18 July 2025, a new community benefit system commenced under the Planning Act 2016 applying to wind and large-scale solar farm development across Queensland. Under the new community benefit system, proponents will undertake a social impact assessment and enter into a community benefit agreement prior to lodging a development application, ensuring that social licence is built with communities.

These reforms empower local governments, on behalf of their communities, to consider social impacts and negotiate community benefits, recognising that renewable energy development often impacts regional communities with limited community infrastructure and accommodation. These reforms recognise that building social licence is best practice for renewable energy projects in Queensland.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to SDS page 3 budget highlight of delivering immediate actions to address impacts of the erosion and breakthrough events at Bribie Island, will the Deputy Premier advise what work had been undertaken to address these impacts prior to this budget measure?

ANSWER:
Before October 2024, the former Department of Environment, Science and Innovation undertook water quality monitoring and commissioned a study in 2023, however did nothing to remediate the breakthrough.

Following severe weather caused by Tropical Cyclone Alfred in March 2025, the Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning commissioned a report from independent coastal engineering experts RPS AAP Consulting Pty Ltd (RPS) in partnership with International Coastal Management (ICM). This review was tasked to investigate immediate and long-term options to mitigate the impacts caused by years of erosion.

A first round of consultation to inform the review received almost 1200 submissions from local community members, businesses and other organisations. An information session will be held on 31 July 2025 to provide an update on planning for immediate works to occur in the second half of 2025 and allow the community to have input into potential long-term options.

The first and second stages of the review report included desktop analysis and recommendations for immediate actions and are available online.

The 2025-26 Budget allocated $20 million of funding for the rapid deployment of immediate and urgent works focused on restoring the impacts of erosion and breakthrough events on the island as recommended by the expert review. The $20 million will be used to close recent breakthroughs, buffer the island and create a temporary channel, including dredging work and sand nourishment around the island and passage to mitigate the impacts of erosion. The Government is undertaking a fast-tracked procurement process to appoint a dredging contractor to design and undertake the dredging works prior to the next storm season in November 2025.

The experts' reviewers are now focusing on long-term actions for future years to protect the coastline, which will inform future government consideration and planning for potential long-term actions.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to the Crisafulli Government's key deliverables on SDS page 2, will the Deputy Premier advise the Committee what actions are being undertaken to promote capability and attract new business opportunities across Queensland in the defence, biomedical and biofuel industries?

ANSWER:
The Crisafulli Government has made a deliberate choice to simplify the approach to industry development, after the former government's inconsistent and ineffective focus on industries like hydrogen. The Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning (the Department) will now focus on the priority industries of defence, biomedical and biofuels.

The Department is delivering the Crisafulli Government's commitments in these strategic industries, by building sovereign capability, drawing on the State's traditional strengths and growing regional communities.

Stakeholder engagement and participation in industry roundtables have been beneficial in the development of the Crisafulli Government's new Sovereign Industry Development Fund. The $180.55 million Sovereign Industry Development Fund will focus on accelerating the growth of these priority industries, seeking strategy and catalytic investment partnerships with industry.

Work is already underway to promote Queensland's industry capabilities and attract investment and opportunities. For instance, while visiting the United States of America in June, I reaffirmed our relationship with Boeing and met with Lockheed Martin, highlighting Queensland's focus on the defence sector and our interest in increasing inbound investment into Queensland.

During that visit, I also led 114 Queensland delegates to the BIO International Convention in Boston to encourage new partnerships in our biomedical sector. Early reporting from delegates indicates an estimated $63.5 million in potential contracts, with contracts worth more than $7 million already signed.

In biofuels, the department is working with a small pipeline of industry proponents to facilitate viable biorefinery projects and identify opportunities to increase the availability of feedstocks.

The Crisafulli Government is open for business and will continue to consult with industry stakeholders on the challenges and opportunities they face, so Queensland once more becomes the natural home to do business.

QUESTION:
With reference to the SDS, including page 2, will the Deputy Premier provide a delivery update on the previously announced $7.4 million in funding over four years for the Office of the Coordinator-General for an enhanced role in facilitating key energy projects, including a breakdown of funding?

ANSWER:
The Coordinator-General has received $7.4 million funding to supplement staff with eight additional full-time employees for a four year period for an enhanced role in facilitating key energy projects.

These staff are enhancing the Coordinator-General's role in advancing key energy projects that include, complex pumped hydro energy storage (PHES) projects, energy transmission projects and energy generation projects.

The Coordinator-General has declared four PHES projects as 'Coordinated Projects' for which an Environmental Impact Statement is required, where the Coordinator-General is leading a whole of Government coordination, evaluation, assessment and facilitation of the Borumba exploratory works, Mt Rawdon, Capricornia and Big T PHES projects. These are complex projects that are undergoing assessment under the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 via the bilateral agreement between the State and Commonwealth Governments. In addition, the Coordinator-General is currently assessing a request from a proponent for another Coordinated Project declaration of a new PHES project.

The Coordinator-General is also facilitating the delivery of the CopperString project via its prescribed project declaration, including construction of workforce accommodation at Hughenden, the commencement of on-the-ground works for the $225 million Hughenden Hub, site accommodation across the Eastern Link, the development of Social Impact Management Plans, and ensuring community legacy opportunities are achieved in regions where the project impacts.

Additionally, the Coordinator-General is also facilitating energy opportunities with proponents of new gas transmission, gas peaking power station developments, and other industrial electrification projects identifying approval pathways and mapping the best way forward for these projects to support timely assessment and delivery.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to page 1 of the SDS and the delivery of 13 new Regional Plans for Queensland over the next four years, and noting that in June 2025 the statutory minimum consultation periods for draft regional plans was reduced (from 60 to 30 business days for new plans, and from 30 to 20 business days for amended plans)-
Will the Deputy Premier provide for each of the forthcoming 13 Regional Plans:

a. the local government areas included in each regional plan;
b. the scheduled month and year for the commencement of public consultation and for finalisation (making) of the plan; and
c. the planned duration of each public consultation period, including whether the Government will apply only the reduced statutory minimum, or a longer consultation period consistent with previous practice?

ANSWER:
The Queensland Government is committed to reviewing all 13 regional plans which cover every corner of the State, in conjunction with infrastructure plans that protect the lifestyle of our communities and appropriately cater for growth. With some plans over 20 years old, regional plans are required to be updated to address the lack of work done over the last ten years.

a. The local government areas included in each regional plan are publicly available at https://www.planning.qld.gov.au/planning-framework/plan-making/regional-planning.

b. To deliver on the Queensland Government's commitment, regional planning processes are required to be tailored to each region and to work in genuine partnership with local stakeholders. Timing for public consultation of each regional plan will be dependent on the priorities and outcomes from early consultation with these stakeholders.

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations (HON J BLEIJIE) –

QUESTION:
With reference to page 1 of the SDS and the prescribed amounts set out in Schedule 16 of the Planning Regulation 2017, which cap the maximum adopted charges that a local government may levy for trunk infrastructure, will the Minister advise whether the Crisafulli Government intends to review or update the maximum adopted charge rates under Schedule 16 within the next four years, and if so, what the scope and indicative timing of that review will be?

ANSWER:
In recognition of the importance of infrastructure planning and funding, round one of the Crisafulli Government's landmark $2 billion Residential Activation Fund is delivering up to $1 billion for the construction of critical trunk infrastructure. This has been doubled from the original $500 million, in response to the overwhelming support and availability of shovel-ready projects. The Residential Activation Fund is supporting the delivery of trunk infrastructure across Queensland.

The maximum adopted charge is updated annually in line with indexation, being the 3-yearly moving average quarterly percentage increase in the Producer Price Index.

Estimates Pre-Hearing Question on Notice

No. 1

Asked on Tuesday, 15 July 2025

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to page 1 of the SDS and the government's commitment to "build 10,000 new community houses on church and charity-owned land, in partnership with the Community Housing Sector, with 500 homes built within two years"—
Will the Minister advise:

a) How many community housing homes have been built under changes of regulation by the Crisafulli LNP Government without any state government investment;
b) How much funding has been specifically allocated to deliver the first 500 homes within the initial two-year period from November 2024, broken down by funding program and year the funding was approved and contracted;
c) How much funding has been specifically allocated to deliver the total 10,000 homes by 2044;
d) What funding sources or programs will be used to deliver this commitment;
e) How many new community houses have been built on church and charity owned land since November 2024;
f) How many homes are expected to be built each year from 2025 to 2044 to meet the 10,000 home target?

ANSWER:

a) On 20 December 2024, the State's planning framework was amended to enable faith-based organisations and registered charities to seek planning decisions for the delivery of social and/or affordable housing on church and charity-owned land. Matters related to this improved planning process should be referred to the Deputy Premier in his capacity as Planning Minister.

b) The 2025-26 State Budget includes a record investment by the Crisafulli Government of $5.6 billion over four years to deliver more social and community housing as part of Queensland's Housing Investment Pipeline. As we were elected on 26 October 2024, this has been our first Budget to allocate funding.

c) In addition to the record investment of $5.6 billion over four years, the 2025-26 Budget includes $500 million each year ongoing from 2029-30 to deliver 53,500 social and community homes by 2044, including 10,000 community homes on church and charity-owned land.

   This decision of the Crisafulli Government to lock in ongoing, perpetual funding is not only a Queensland first but an Australian first; there has never been a Queensland Government or a government of any other Australian state or territory that has provided recurring baseline funding for the delivery of social and community housing.

d) In addition to the funding provided under the 2025-26 State Budget, the Crisafulli Government continues to advocate to the Australian Government and Housing Australia to ensure Queensland receives its fair share of funding towards social and community housing, including through the Housing Australia Future Fund (HAFF) with only around 10% of that funding secured by the former Labor government.

   While the Crisafulli Government has secured 20% of funding as part of HAFF Round 2, the previous government was unable to secure Queensland's fair share as part of HAFF Round 1.

   HAFF is currently supporting 2,194 social and affordable homes in Queensland across Round 1 and Round 2, representing just under 12% of the 18,650 dwellings supported by HAFF across Australia. When considering the funding through the HAFF through Round 1 and Round 2, Queensland sits at just 12.9% of all allocated funding.

   With approximately 20% of Australia's population residing in Queensland, along with the significant housing pressures experienced in Queensland and a challenging construction sector in the face of significant infrastructure demand, this total allocation so far is significantly below what could be considered Queensland's fair share.

   Ensuring Queensland gets its fair share is important as HAFF and other Commonwealth funding is essential to the delivery of 53,500 social and community homes by 2044, as well as the target to deliver 10,000 community homes on church and charity-owned land.

e) Since 1 November 2024, as at 30 June 2025, 219 social and affordable homes have been delivered on church and charity-owned land. Since 1 November 2024, 1,321 social and affordable homes have been contracted to be built on church and charity-owned land, all in partnership with community housing providers.

f) Under the former government, just 509 social and community homes were delivered on average per year between 2015-16 and 2023-24. The Crisafulli Government's first Budget sets a clear target to ramp up delivery to over 2,000 social and community homes per year by the end of our first term, including the delivery of community homes on church and charity-owned land.

To meet the target of 10,000 community homes on church and charity owned land, an average of 500 homes would be delivered each year on church and charity-owned land, noting actual delivery may vary year to year.

b) The number of individuals or households assisted through Flexible Assistance Packages in 2024–25;
c) The total budget allocated for Flexible Assistance Packages across the forward estimates from 2025–26 to 2028–29; and
d) Whether the Flexible Assistance Package program is ongoing, and if this program has been discontinued or financial support has been reduced or not offered to customers at any stage in the last 6 months?

ANSWER:

Flexible Assistance Packages assist women and their families experiencing domestic, family and sexual violence with costs of essential goods and services needed immediately to access or sustain safe housing. This includes brokerage to assist with relocation, such as removalists and transport, essential white goods and furniture to replace what was left behind when they fled violent relationships, or items to improve home safety such as security cameras.

a) In 2024-25, $1.4M in brokerage assistance for essential goods and services was provided under Flexible Assistance Packages.

b) In 2024-25, 738 households were assisted through Flexible Assistance Packages.

c) Funding of $1.2M per annum was allocated to the Flexible Assistance Package from 2021-2025. Prior to the 2025-26 budget process, there was no budget for the Flexible Assistance Package beyond June 2025.

   The Crisafulli Government has allocated $1.6M in 2025-26, which is an increase from the $1.2M provided in 2024-25.

d) The program is ongoing. From 1 January 2025 to 30 June 2025, the Department of Housing and Public Works has continued to provide this essential support to 283 households.

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to SDS page 1 regarding working constructively with the Australian Government and advocating for Queensland, can the Minister outline how the Crisafulli Government has secured our state's fair share of funding for housing?

ANSWER:

The Crisafulli Government has worked constructively with the Australian Government through a range of forums and advocated on Queensland's behalf to ensure our state receives its adequate share of federal funding to support improved housing and homelessness outcomes for Queenslanders.

Since November 2024, Queensland has secured $133.8 million (over two years) in Australian Government funding to support new and upgraded housing, noting this does not include further funding provided through arrangements subject to confidentiality provisions.

The Housing Australia Future Fund (HAFF) Round 1 result secured by the previous Labor government was just half of Queensland's per capita share of the allocated funding.

Since its election, the Crisafulli Government has advocated strongly to the Commonwealth for changes to HAFF funding settings to optimise funding outcomes for Queensland and better enable participation by community housing providers.

This advocacy has led to HAFF Round 2 supporting Queensland's per capita share of social housing dwellings of 1,005 social homes. The Queensland Government has now entered into agreements with Housing Australia that secures HAFF funding support to help deliver these social homes.

Under the National Housing Infrastructure Facility Crisis and Transitional program, the Queensland Government continues to work constructively with the Australian Government to secure our notional allocation of $199.2 million, including $139.4 million in grants and $59.8 million in concessional loans.

On 27 November 2024, I also wrote to the Commonwealth Housing Minister to advocate for the shared equity Help to Buy Scheme settings in the draft Program Directions to be revised to align with current Queensland market conditions and living costs to ensure that more Queenslanders would be able to access the Scheme. The Government was pleased to see the Australian Government's subsequent announcement as part of its 2025-26 Budget of increased property price caps, up from $700,000 to $1,000,000 in Brisbane, the Gold Coast and Sunshine Coast, and up from $550,000 to $700,000 in other parts of Queensland, with income eligibility thresholds also raised. These changes will make the scheme more accessible to more Queensland home buyers.

On 21 February 2025, Queensland signed the HAFF Acute Housing Measure: Repairs, maintenance and improvements of housing in remote Indigenous communities, delivering the first $25 million of a total $50 million allocation to Queensland to improve housing in remote Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

On 6 March 2025, Queensland signed the Housing Support Program schedule delivering $108.8 million for Queensland projects, out of the total $500 million available, to improve planning capacity and deliver community enabling housing infrastructure.

Queensland continues to work constructively with the Australian Government to secure Queensland's fair share of funding across a range of federal commitments, including commitments to deliver 100,000 Homes for First Home Buyers, to increase delivery of prefabricated and modular construction, and expand social housing thermal comfort and energy upgrades.

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to the Service Standard for the average wait time for allocation to public housing for clients in the very high or high need categories, on SDS page 3, can the Minister outline the challenges that have been left by the previous government?

ANSWER:

The average wait time to allocation on the Social Housing Register (as at 31 March 2025) is 21.7 months. This has more than quadrupled from 7.1 months in 2015-16.

The Service Delivery Statement (SDS) outlines key performance indicators for housing allocation, highlighting prolonged average wait times for clients classified as very high or high need. These extended wait times reflect a range of longstanding challenges left by the former Labor government that continue to impact the provision of social housing allocations.

Unfortunately, under Labor, the number of new households assisted with a social housing tenancy continued to reduce since 2016-17. During the same period, the Social Housing Register grew by over 80% from 15,499 households to 28,485 households as at 31 March 2025.

Housing supply has failed to keep up with population growth over the last decade, with just 509 social homes delivered on average each year. This has resulted in low vacancy rates and increased rental and house sale prices, contributing to rising costs of living pressures, and ultimately longer wait times for social housing.

In addition, the previous government's suspension of public housing rent reviews and ongoing eligibility assessments has resulted in outdated household and income information and limited the department's ability to identify households that are no longer eligible for ongoing public housing assistance. This has impacted the turnover of stock and allocation of public housing to those most in need.

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to the additional $1.8 million in 2025-26 to support effective regulatory action and support for community housing providers, disability accommodation, retirement villages and residential services, on SDS page 2, can the Minister outline why this is necessary?

ANSWER:

The additional funding provided by the Crisafulli Government through the 2025-26 Budget recognises the need to ensure regulatory action and support can be delivered to protect vulnerable Queenslanders, retirees and seniors by improving access to appropriate accommodation and housing options.

This funding responds to calls from early 2024 made by the sector for more funding for effective regulation. Q Shelter's Chief Executive Officer, Fiona Caniglia has noted, "It is great to see this uplift for such an important function. The Regulator plays a critical role in building the capacity of the community housing sector and helping organisations to achieve and maintain registration under the National Regulatory System... making sure Queensland has the capacity for the Regulator to play an optimal role in the growth of housing supply is vitally important."

The Department of Housing and Public Works administers Queensland's community housing, manufactured homes, residential services and retirement villages regulatory schemes. This is achieved through the registration of regulated service providers, the accreditation of residential services, monitoring industry compliance, investigating consumer complaints and prosecuting non-compliant providers.
In administering these regulatory schemes, the department is responsible for regulating 895 providers and delivering consumer protections for the approximately 110,000 Queenslanders that live in regulated housing and accommodation.

The department is also moving to ensure all applicable disability service providers are registered under the Residential Services (Accreditation) Act 2002 to cover vital fire safety and emergency management requirements.

The Crisafulli Government is committed to supercharging the community housing sector in Queensland to support the delivery of 53,500 social and community homes by 2044 and to ensure fairness and safety in regulated housing and accommodation services.

QUESTION:

With reference to the additional $3.3 million the Department of Housing and Public Works is delivering as part of the Crisafulli Government's Supporting Our Local Communities Program, per Budget Measures page 23, can the Minister outline the projects this will support?

ANSWER:

The Crisafulli Government is committed to delivering on its local community-based election commitments, which includes $3.3 million over four years within my portfolio as part of the $62.7 million Supporting Our Local Communities Program.

Comprised within the $3.3 million are the following initiatives committed by the hardworking LNP candidates (and now Members) for Caloundra and Mackay and the Member for Glasshouse:

- $2 million (over four years) for Roofs to Recovery to buy land and build six one-bedroom homes for people needing transitional housing around Caloundra.
- $1 million for Australian Street Aid Project (Chances House) for homeless support services in Mackay, noting Chances House operates a homelessness drop-in centre in Mackay linking people with formal and informal supports.
- $250,000 to protect and enhance Maleny's 'Dark Sky' status by fast tracking lighting replacement on all state-owned buildings in Maleny.

QUESTION:

With reference to the Service Standard for the government's office accommodation portfolio, on SDS page 5, can the Minister outline how the Crisafulli Government has minimised vacancy to 0.88%?

ANSWER:

The Crisafulli Government, through the Department of Housing and Public Works, continues to strategically manage the government's office portfolio by minimising vacancy through centralised lease management and relocating agencies from expiring leases into vacancy where possible.

Through active management, the department has decreased government office accommodation vacancy rates from 2.45% in 2021.

Since publication, the department has also confirmed an actual vacancy rate of 0.69% was achieved as at 30 June 2025, even lower than the estimated actual of 0.88% reported in the SDS. This reflects the department's continued focus on ensuring the government office portfolio is efficient, high performing, and delivering value for money though minimising vacancy.

This vacancy rate of 0.69% is well below the maximum 3.5% Service Delivery Statement vacancy target and the Brisbane CBD average of 10.2% as reported by the Property Council of Australia in January 2025.

As part of the strategic planning framework, the department develops regional portfolio plans and implements accommodation strategies across Queensland to ensure government office demand and supply is closely aligned and overall vacancy and office accommodation are minimised.

In addition to minimising vacancy, the department is continuing to modernise its office portfolio to replace aging and inefficient workspaces with modern offices which support modern ways of working and improve agency service delivery across Queensland.

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to the Service Standard for Government Employee Housing, on SDS page 5, can the Minister outline how the Crisafulli Government has minimised vacancy to 0.81%?

ANSWER:

The department works closely with agencies to ensure government employee housing supply aligns with demand in a continual cycle of asset construction, upgrade, and replacement.

Vacancies arise when agencies do not require additional staff in a particular location, or when available housing does not align with the needs of the agency.

As part of a best-practice approach to managing the government employee housing portfolio, properties that are either under-utilised or no longer economic to maintain or unfit for purpose are offered for sale to the public.

Government employee housing vacancy rates have decreased from 2.8% in 2021 to 0.72% in 2025, which is well below the 4% Service Delivery Statement vacancy target. The decrease can be attributed to the department's asset renewal program where agencies are relocated to properties deemed to be of a higher amenity, standard and condition, while properties that are not suitable due to excessive maintenance liability, age, poor amenity and/or location are divested.

All properties identified for sale are first considered for social housing purposes prior to being made available on the private market.

Funds from divested properties are reinvested in upgrading existing housing and providing additional housing in rural and remote areas of the state where the market is non-existent or unable to provide suitable housing for frontline workers.

Furthermore, all housing demand from agencies is centrally coordinated and assessed against the portfolio's vacant properties. This approach has delivered significant cost savings by allocating available residences to agencies and prioritising new construction in other areas of the state where it's needed most.

QUESTION:

With reference to the additional funding of $59.5 million the Crisafulli Government is providing to the Queensland Building and Construction Commission (QBCC), per Budget Measures page 21, can the Minister outline how this is supporting a more customer-friendly QBCC?

ANSWER:

The Government is committed to ensuring the QBCC is customer-focused and is taking action to improve customer experience for our licensees and consumers.

To support the QBCC to transform into a more customer-focussed organisation, new leadership has been appointed to drive a renewed focus service transparency. Mr Greg Chemello, one of Australia's most respected governance experts and change agents, was appointed Chair of the Queensland Building and Construction (QBC) Board, and Mr Angelo Lambrinos was appointed CEO and Commissioner. A chartered engineer with extensive experience in construction, Mr Lambrinos has worked for more than 25 years across the industry leading large-scale transformation and reform across major infrastructure, corporate and operational portfolios bringing a rare combination of technical depth, financial acumen and trusted leadership to the role.

Work to improve customer experience includes (but is not limited to) the delivery of the Mediation and Conciliation Pilot Service to improve dispute resolution services for alleged defective building work, improved Queensland Home Warranty Scheme (QHWS) claims processing through initiation of the Claims Management Improvement Project, and a 55 per cent reduction in the wait time for a QBCC building inspection as a result of improvements delivered through the Building Inspection Wait Time Reduction Program.

The Crisafulli Government's 'Building Reg Reno' package of reforms are supporting a more productive, efficient and well-functioning building and construction industry. Through four tranches, the reforms aim to reduce regulatory burden, provide a stable yet contemporary regulatory environment, and support a more user-friendly and effective regulator.

Tranche 3, to be delivered through the Bill currently being considered by the Parliament, intends to make day-to-day interactions with the QBCC easier by enabling digital services. This work includes enabling access to QBCC licences from a mobile device, support for electronic licence applications and replacement of outdated legacy infrastructure. The QBCC is also working toward the delivery of a new customer portal platform in 2026 that is more user-friendly and promotes more personalised interactions, ease of navigation and improved ability to locate relevant information.

Tranche 4 will continue to ensure the QBCC is customer-focused in its everyday work by seeking to improve the QBCC's internal review and dispute resolution processes so they are streamlined, efficient and clear.

QUESTION:

In relation to the Stronger Homes Grant program, can the Minister outline how this is supporting North and Far North Queenslanders to build back stronger for future weather events?

ANSWER:

On 26 February 2025, the Crisafulli Government announced the $11.2M Stronger Homes Grant (SHG) to help Queenslanders across 40 local government areas whose homes were flood impacted by the North and Far North Queensland Tropical Low event.

The SHG program addresses the gap between like-for-like repair and long-term flood resilience. This program directly assists impacted, eligible homeowners to take practical proactive steps to reduce damage, rebuild with confidence, and break the cycle of repeated recovery costs.

Eligible homeowners can receive grant funding of up to $10,000 to raise essential services such as electrical switchboards, air conditioning units and hot water systems, or to install flood-resilient floors and wall linings which enables residents to return home sooner following a flood event.

To promote the program, the department has delivered webinars and town hall meetings to engage industry and support eligible homeowners to apply. Further webinars are scheduled.

Positive feedback has been received from those that have accessed the SHG program, with the following comments provided by Townsville participants:

- "In a time of disaster this grant was a big relief. Thank you" (hot water system, air-conditioner, switchboards and electrical services raised).
- "The grants team was extremely responsive and attentive and made the process much easier" (hot water system and laundry appliances raised).

QUESTION:

With reference to SDS page 5 regarding the delivery of major government building and construction projects, what is the status of the Bundaberg East Levee project and what action is the Crisafulli Government taking to deliver projects on time and on budget?

ANSWER:

Improving the flood resilience of the Bundaberg community is a priority of the Crisafulli Government.

The Queensland Government acknowledges the divergent views of stakeholders from across the Bundaberg community about the best approach to safeguard this city against the impacts of extreme flooding.

The Department of Housing and Public Works has responsibility to deliver the Bundaberg East Levee project and is committed to listening to the perspectives of the Bundaberg community. The department continues to complete preliminary design work, including assessing funding requirements for the project and the ongoing asset ownership, operation and maintenance responsibilities of the levee.

A Ministerial Infrastructure Designation (MID) submission is under assessment by the Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning.

Funding is preserved pending the outcomes of this planning process, but estimates indicate a significant budget shortfall has been inherited from the former Labor government.

The department will continue its work with the Australian Government, the Bundaberg Regional Council, the Bundaberg community and other stakeholders to help make Bundaberg more resilient to future natural disasters.

Asked on Tuesday, 15 July 2025

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND WORKS COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING AND PUBLIC WORKS AND MINSTER FOR YOUTH (HON S O'CONNOR)—

QUESTION:

With reference to the Department of Housing and Public Works staffing, on SDS page 10, can the Minister outline how the Crisafulli Government is supporting better government through a stronger public service within his portfolio?

ANSWER:

The Crisafulli Government is committed to leading an exemplar Department of Housing and Public Works underpinned by a strong and dedicated public service and a culture of integrity, wellbeing, learning and inclusion where employees are empowered to deliver solutions and continuously improve.

With a service presence in every corner of the state across 90 locations, I have experienced firsthand the committed and dedicated people working in the department to improve outcomes for Queenslanders.

Commencing with a visit to the Gold Coast Housing Service Centre (HSC) in November 2024 through to my recent travels to the Gladstone and Maryborough HSCs, I have met with staff in QBuild depots from Cairns to Caboolture, our QFleet team in Brisbane, many more HSCs, joined our Housing Outreach officers as they engage with the most vulnerable Queenslanders, and our corporate staff enabling the frontline in the Brisbane CBD.

The high performing culture in the department delivers services to meet the evolving needs of the Queensland community and ensure government services are delivered efficiently, fairly and with lasting impact, in line with Queenslanders' expectations and the Government's priorities.

The Government is strengthening the public service within my portfolio by investing in frontline services and support functions that are critical to delivering better outcomes for Queenslanders, with my department committing new FTE to support these outcomes. These efforts are aligned with the Government's commitment to giving people a better lifestyle through a stronger economy.

Through housing, homelessness and youth services the Government is helping Queenslanders access secure, safe and stable housing, with a commitment to deliver 53,500 additional social and community homes by 2044.

This is supported by expanding homelessness responses, strengthening tenancy management, better regulation and investing in services for young people. These efforts are focused on relieving housing pressure, supporting people doing it tough and building stronger Queensland communities.

Through procurement policy and enabling services, we lead whole-of-government procurement reform to drive value for money and support Queensland's economic, social and environmental priorities. This includes backing local businesses, embedding ethical supply chain practices and driving better value for money.

Through building and government accommodation services we deliver safe, accessible and fit-for-purpose government buildings and workplaces. This supports the delivery of frontline services and provides safer, more productive environments for public servants across Queensland.

QBuild, a commercialised business unit, is the Government's in-house builder. It delivers essential maintenance, construction and disaster recovery services across the state. This includes maintaining governments assets, responding rapidly to natural disasters and delivery of critical infrastructure in regional and remote communities. Additionally, QBuild is also growing Queensland's future construction workforce by expanding its apprenticeship program and building regional capability, including in the lead-up to Brisbane 2032.

QFleet, also a commercialised business unit, provides whole-of-government fleet management services. It supports agencies to operate their fleet of vehicles safely, efficiently and sustainably. This includes transitioning to a low-emissions fleet and providing operational vehicles that help frontline staff do their jobs.

The development of the new QFleet Emissions Reduction Strategy 2025-2030 is supporting public servants across the State, including in regional and rural communities, to reduce vehicle emissions and transition with confidence to more energy efficient vehicles. Previously, with the mandate to purchase zero emissions vehicles, frontline public servants expressed frustration, feeling that their service delivery needs were not being supported.

Consequently, these agencies were seeking exemptions, switching to light commercial vehicles or retaining their vehicles beyond their recommended service period.
To address these concerns, the Crisafulli Government is supporting the deployment of a fleet that delivers tangible and more genuinely measured emissions reduction through balanced vehicle choices so that public servants can travel the state through reliable, energy efficient transportation.

The department also plays a central role in supporting communities impacted by natural disasters. This includes provisioning emergency housing assistance, coordinating rapid assessment of damaged properties and delivering rebuilding work through QBuild. This coordinated, whole-of-department response ensures that people can return to their homes safely and quickly and ensures the continuity of essential government services.

These government services and the talented and committed public servantsin the Department of Housing and Public Works are central to delivering for Queensland through housing, building and service innovation.

Key features of this new program include:

- $200 per voucher to help with participation costs.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 10

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS, in particular pages 1 to 4, can the Minister advise how he is prioritising the visibility of women and parasports across Queensland in the leadup to the Olympic and Paralympic Games. Specifically, which specialist stakeholders the Minister has met with, which specialist funding programs the Minister has established or explored and any activities implemented that would specifically increase participation in these areas?

ANSWER:

A new 10-year Sport Strategy (the Strategy) is set to be released in late 2025. Development of the Strategy is informed by community and industry consultation, which was open between 8 May and 15 June 2025, where Queenslanders were asked 'What does 2032 mean for you?' The Strategy will guide Queensland's sporting future, leveraging the opportunities presented by hosting the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Brisbane 2032), including a focus on increasing opportunities for women and girls and people with disability to participate in sport and active recreation.

The new Play On! sport voucher program is launching soon to help Queensland kids stay active. From 4 August 2025, families across Queensland can apply for a $200 Play On! voucher per child aged 5 to 17, to help cover the cost of sport. Delivered in two rounds each year to align with summer or winter sports, Play On! aims to get more kids involved, regardless of where they live or their ability. Key features of this new program include:

- $200 per voucher to help with participation costs.
- A dedicated allocation for regional and country communities.
- A strong focus on inclusive sport, so children of all abilities can take part.
- Ongoing investment of $62.5 million per year to support families.

The establishment of the Queensland Academy of Sport (QAS) Para Sport Unit in February 2025 directly addresses visibility and participation in Para-sports, with a focus on reducing barriers for participation and talent identification and enhancing performance pathways. The $4.395 million investment in the Para Sport Unit (Queensland Government, Australian Government and Paralympics Australia) is a clear example of specialist funding to support Para-sports.

Additionally, through the Empower Legacy Research Project, the Jamieson Trauma Institute will analyse opportunities to increase physical activity participation for people with disabilities in Queensland, enabled by $1 million funding support from the Queensland Government over two years.

This early legacy initiative of the Brisbane 2032 will focus on breaking down barriers to sports participation for people with disabilities in Queensland, leaving a lasting impact on access and inclusion in sports.

I have met with and continue to meet with various stakeholders to ensure I remain aware of current participation challenges and opportunities for women and girls and Queenslanders with disability including:

- Dane Cross, Chief Operating Officer, Sporting Wheelies
- Robyn Smith OAM, Chief Executive Officer, Sport Inclusion Australia
- Christine McLoughlin AM, Chair of Suncorp and Minerva Network
- Kate Davies, Chief Executive Officer, Netball Queensland
- Ross Symonds, Chief Executive Officer, Softball Queensland
- Sarah Loh, Chief Executive Officer, Softball Australia
- Timothy Taylor, President, Goalball Australia
- Libby Cook-Black, Founder, The Female Co.
- Michelle Moss, Chief Executive Officer, Queenslanders with a Disability Network
- Professor Michael Scheutz, Director, Jamieson Trauma Institute
- Cameron Sullivan, Vice President, Queensland Wheelchair Rugby League
- Ian Chesterman AM, President, Australian Olympic Committee
- Matt Carroll, Chief Executive Officer, Australian Olympic Committee
- Sue Hunt, Chief Executive Officer, Australian Sports Foundation
- Grant Mizens, President, Paralympics Australia
- Cameron Carr, Australian Paralympian
- Andrew Parsons, President, International Paralympic Committee.

Further, by attending events, like the ones listed below, I am able to learn from experts and benefit by connecting with people who have lived experience:

- Asian Football Confederation Women's Asian Cup 2026 Announcement
- Paralympian of the Year Awards 2024
- Paralympics Australia and Queensland Academy of Sport Imagine Schools Program Launch
- Opening of Ash Barty Playground
- Wheelchair Rugby National League – Brisbane Bash

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 11

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

Queenslanders are passionate about sport, racing, and the incredible opportunity of the 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games. Can the Minister elaborate on the core principles and vision guiding your department's work to ensure a vibrant and sustainable future for these sectors across our state?

ANSWER:

The Department of Sport, Racing and Olympic and Paralympic Games (DSROPG) vision is for 'sport to be at the heart of an active, healthy, and connected Queensland'. This vision supports my objectives of:

- making Queensland the undeniable home of Australian sport;
- delivering an Olympic and Paralympic Games that Queensland deserves; and
- ensuring the long-term viability of all three codes of racing.

In support of this, DSROPG has four strategic objectives of:

- More Queenslanders are active and healthy
- Support our sector to do what they do best
- Making places and spaces more inclusive
- A thriving workforce.

Key to the vision is the development of the new Sport Strategy which aims to shape the next decade of sport and position Queensland as Australia's sporting powerhouse, not only for the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Brisbane 2032), but for generations to come.

The Games On! Grassroots Infrastructure Program (Games On!) is a key initiative of the Queensland Government being delivered by DSROPG. Games On! supports local clubs and organisations to upgrade and expand community sporting facilities. Games On! ensures the opportunity of Brisbane 2032 translates into real, tangible benefits at the grassroots level, giving more Queenslanders access to quality facilities and the chance to participate in sport.

Through the Play On! Voucher Program (Play On!) the Queensland Government is delivering cost of living relief for Queensland families and helping keep kids active. From 4 August 2025, families across Queensland can apply for a $200 Play On! voucher per child aged 5 to 17, to help cover the cost of sport. Delivered in two rounds each year to align with summer or winter sports, Play On! aims to get more kids involved, regardless of where they live or their ability. Key features of this new program include:

- $200 per voucher to help with participation costs.
- A dedicated allocation for regional and country communities.
- A strong focus on inclusive sport, so children of all abilities can take part.
- Ongoing investment of $62.5 million per year to support families.

DSROPG is leading the co-ordination of responsibilities to facilitate delivery of Brisbane 2032. Brisbane 2032 Games provide an opportunity to leverage Games benefits, make change and leave a positive and enduring legacy for Queenslanders in the decades that follow.

The Queensland Government has commissioned an independent review of Queensland's racing industry, which will guide financial sustainability of the sector while improving animal welfare and integrity standards. This work will ensure Queensland has modern, fit-for-purpose infrastructure and supports country racing events, which are vital to regional communities and the broader racing sector.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 12

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The "Play On!" Sport Vouchers program, offering $200 per child, is a significant investment in getting more Queensland kids active. Can the Minister outline the positive impacts you're already seeing from this program and how it's addressing cost-of-living pressures for families while boosting participation in junior sport, especially in regional and remote areas as well as for children with disabilities?

ANSWER:

The new Play On! Voucher Program (Play On!) is a fantastic initiative aimed at encouraging more Queensland kids to get involved in sport and physical activity. From 4 August 2025, families across Queensland can apply for a $200 Play On! voucher per child aged 5 to 17, to help cover the cost of sport. Delivered in two rounds each year to align with summer or winter sports, Play On! aims to get more kids involved, regardless of where they live or their ability. Key features of this new program include:

- $200 per voucher to help with participation costs.
- A dedicated allocation for regional and country communities.
- A strong focus on inclusive sport, so children of all abilities can take part.
- Ongoing investment of $62.5 million per year to support families.

With the rising costs of living pressures, many families have struggled to afford fees for sports programs. Play On! will help to ease this burden, ensuring that children can stay active without placing additional financial strain on families.

By making sport more affordable, Play On! fosters community connections and provides opportunities for kids to participate in healthy, structured activities.

Some local clubs are already leveraging Play On! by aligning their summer sign-on events with the 4 August 2025 launch, ensuring families can maximise the benefits of their voucher. With two rounds of vouchers offered each year, another round opening in January 2026 will provide the same leverage opportunity for winter sports, helping clubs boost participation. These clubs will also benefit from increased membership, helping to sustain their operations and support the growth of grassroots sport.

Play On! is also focused on ensuring children in regional and remote Queensland do not miss out. Recognising the unique challenges in these areas, such as fewer opportunities and higher participation costs, Play On! includes a targeted regional allocation to support families. Additionally, Play On! parameters are flexible in remote areas to accommodate the lack of traditional club sport opportunities, ensuring all children can benefit from the ability to participate in sport.

Play On! also recognises the need to improve support for children with disabilities, ensuring they have access to more inclusive and suitable sporting opportunities. By incorporating a broader range of activity providers offering tailored programming, the program ensures children with a disability have every opportunity to participate.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 13

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The "Games On! Grassroots Infrastructure Program" is dedicating $250 million to upgrade over 100 community club facilities. Can the Minister advise how this investment will directly enhance the capacity of local clubs, provide better facilities for our aspiring athletes, and truly leave a tangible legacy of improved sporting infrastructure across Queensland ahead of 2032?

ANSWER:

The $250 million Games On! Grassroots Infrastructure Program (Games On!) investment is part of the Queensland Government's 2032 Delivery Plan, aiming to ensure sustainable grassroots sporting infrastructure is delivered across every region of the State. These facilities will continue benefiting communities long after the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Brisbane 2032), serving as permanent local sport assets.

Games On! will directly enhance local clubs and leave a tangible sports legacy across Queensland in several key ways ahead of Brisbane 2032:

- Upgrading and developing over 100 facilities including clubhouses, canteens, changerooms and training sheds to increase capacity and improve equal access, especially for women and girls, young people, and para-athletes.
- Investing in new or upgraded fields, courts, pitches, and floodlighting, delivering enhanced training conditions and extended playing hours. Clubs will benefit from modern infrastructure that supports skill development and competition preparedness, vital for nurturing future Olympians and Paralympians.
- Upgrades are designed to encourage wider participation in physical activity, fostering healthier, more connected communities. Enhanced venues will allow clubs to attract new members, host events, and deliver community programs beyond competition.

Games On! is much more than an investment in bricks and mortar. It's about empowering local clubs to grow membership, foster athlete talent, host community events, and build a lasting sporting legacy across every corner of Queensland, well before the Olympic flame arrives in 2032.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 14

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The YouFor2032 talent search program is a fantastic initiative to identify and nurture future Olympic and Paralympic champions. Can the Minister elaborate on the success of this program, particularly its regional tours and recently released online platform, and how it's providing opportunities for young Queenslanders to pursue their sporting dreams, regardless of their location?

ANSWER:

The YouFor2032 talent search program highlights the Queensland Academy of Sport's (QAS) commitment to identifying and nurturing the next generation of Olympic and Paralympic champions. YouFor2032 is not only the largest talent search initiative in Queensland but also an example of how innovation and inclusivity can work together to provide opportunities for young Queenslanders to pursue their sporting dreams, regardless of their location.

Pathways to Success

The YouFor2032 program provides a structured pathway for athletes to progress from identification to elite performance:

- Those who demonstrate potential are taken through a three-month Talent Confirmation Phase, with selected athletes progressing to the 12-month Talent Development Program, where they gain access to expert coaching, daily performance environments, education, equipment, and world class facilities.
- To date, 383 athletes have progressed to the Talent Development Program, with 40 athletes advancing to further state or national programs.
- To increase the opportunities for Para-athletes across the state, the QAS recently launched a Para Sport Unit that aims to more than double the pipeline of Para-athletes in the lead up to the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games.
- YouFor2032 also includes specialised initiatives such as the Daredevils program, which focuses on early specialisation sports like BMX freestyle, diving, and skateboarding.

Regional Engagement and Talent Discovery

Regional Queensland has long been a source for sporting talent, producing iconic athletes such as Cathy Freeman, Mark Knowles, and Natalie Cook. Recognising this, the QAS has made regional engagement a focus of YouFor2032. To date:

- YouFor2032 has visited 26 regional towns, covering vast distances across the state, from Warwick to Mt Isa and Yarrabah to the Gold Coast. This ensures that young athletes in even the most remote areas are given the opportunity to showcase their potential.
- Out of the 6004 athletes tested in the program, 2045 were from regional areas, representing 34 per cent of all participants. This demonstrates the QAS commitment to ensuring regional athletes remain are on the radar.
- 198 regional athletes have progressed to the three-month Talent Confirmation phase, with 59 regional athletes advancing to the 12-month Talent Development program. Additionally, 64 regional athletes have been invited to attend talent development camps at the QAS headquarters in Brisbane.
- YouFor2032 has also delivered High-Performance Parent Education sessions to the parents of 2045 regional athletes, ensuring families are equipped to support their children's sporting journeys.
- Coaching support has been extended to regional areas, with two Regional Coach Development workshops delivered over the past year, further strengthening the high-performance support being delivered in these communities.

YouFor2032 App

The launch of the YouFor2032 App (the App) in April 2025, in partnership with RACQ and Queensland AI startup FOME.ai, has revolutionised the talent identification process. The App is designed to reduce barriers for regional athletes, providing opportunities to participate in testing and ensure no talent goes unnoticed. Key features include:

- Allowing aspiring athletes to test their abilities remotely, capturing data on speed, agility, endurance, and other key performance metrics. This ensures that athletes in remote areas can participate without the need for extensive travel.
- QAS talent staff review the results submitted through the App, with top performers invited to face-to-face testing sessions to verify their potential. This targeted approach ensures resources are focused on athletes with the highest potential.
- Since its launch, the App has already facilitated a series of face-to-face testing sessions in regional centres such as Cairns, Townsville, Mackay, Rockhampton, Gladstone, and Hervey Bay.

Impact and Vision

The success of YouFor2032 lies not only in the numbers but also in its ability to inspire and empower young Queenslanders. By leveraging cutting-edge technology, extensive regional outreach, and a commitment to inclusivity, the program ensures that every aspiring athlete, regardless of their location, has the opportunity to pursue their sporting dreams. This initiative is not just about winning medals; it is about building a legacy of excellence, equity, and opportunity for Queensland's sporting future.

YouFor2032 is a great example of the QAS vision and innovation. Its regional tours and online platform have broken down barriers, ensuring that talent from every corner of Queensland is identified and supported. As we look ahead to the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games, YouFor2032 will undoubtedly play a pivotal role in shaping Queensland's next generation of champions.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 15

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

Beyond the physical infrastructure, what progress has been made in developing the human capital and operational readiness for the 2032 Games, and how has recent budget investment contributed to planning and coordination?

ANSWER:

The Queensland Government has budgeted significant capital funds across the forward estimates to ensure the infrastructure required both for the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Games) and the State's growing population is delivered on time. The Queensland Government is also investing in human capital to ensure the success of the Games.

The State Budget includes an additional $55.6 million over four years for the Department of Sport, Racing and Olympic and Paralympic Games (DSROPG) to coordinate all Games planning and delivery, manage the Queensland Government's Games budget, and deliver the Games Legacy program.

A further additional $101.9 million over four years will be held by DSROPG for other Queensland Government agencies to deliver required Games responsibilities, including:

- the Department of Transport and Main Roads developing a Games transport and mobility strategy and leading delivery of the Transport Operations Program for the Games;
- the Department of Primary Industries developing and implementing a biosecurity strategy to safeguard Queensland's critical natural assets and reputation for safety, animal welfare and environmental responsibility; and
- Queensland Police Service leading the safety and security program and managing key risks surrounding protection and threat levels.

While they are still in foundational stages, each of these agencies will play a critical role in delivering a Games that all Queenslanders deserve.

The outgoing President of the IOC, Mr Thomas Bach, at the recent visit by the International Olympic Committee Co-ordination Commission confirmed that while there was much yet to do, we were "on the right track to deliver an Olympic Games with long-lasting benefits for local communities".

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 16

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The Queensland Academy of Sport (QAS) is transitioning to a statutory body with significant funding, allowing it to continue its crucial work. How will this transition empower the QAS to even better identify, develop, and support Queensland's elite athletes, ensuring they have the best chance to reach their full potential on national and international stages?

ANSWER:

The establishment of the Queensland Academy of Sport (QAS) to a statutory body under the Queensland Academy of Sport Act 2025 will allow QAS to better identify, develop, and support Queensland's elite athletes to help them succeed on national and international stages.

Operational Independence and Agility

As a statutory body, the QAS has gained operational independence, including control of its funds, allowing it to act with agility and responsiveness. This autonomy will enable the QAS to make timely decisions and adapt quickly to the dynamic and competitive nature of high-performance sports.

By removing the structural and administrative requirements of being part of a department, the QAS is able to streamline its systems and processes. This will ensure that resources are allocated efficiently and effectively to athletes, programs, and initiatives.

Enhanced Governance and Strategic Oversight

The establishment of an independent governing board (the Board) with expertise in Olympic sport or Paralympic sport, high-performance sports, business, governance, and law will strengthen the governance and accountability of the QAS. The Board will oversee the QAS operations, including deciding what sports QAS supports and to what extent they are supported, ensuring it performs its functions effectively and aligns with its strategic objectives.

The QAS has undertaken an enormous amount of work over the past several years to strengthen practices in Sports Integrity, including the establishment of policies, guidelines, reporting tools and education courses. Legislating alignment with sports integrity standards as a function of the Board will ensure this focus continues, maintaining a safe, fair and healthy sporting environment for athletes and other persons involved in QAS supported programs.

Fit-for-Purpose Systems and Processes

The QAS has the flexibility to implement fit-for-purpose systems and adopt emerging technologies that directly support high-performance outcomes. This could include advanced sports science tools, data analytics platforms, and athlete monitoring systems, providing Queensland athletes with a competitive edge.

Streamlined processes for travel, sponsorships, and procurement has enabled the QAS to focus on its core mission of athlete development while responding quickly to the evolving needs of athletes and coaches.

The QAS has the ability to design and implement IT systems specifically tailored to the needs of high-performance sports to better support athletes and staff.

Strengthened Partnerships and Collaboration

The QAS has greater flexibility to engage with commercial and philanthropic partners as a statutory body, enabling new ways to support athletes and programs.

Long-Term Stability and Focus

By operating as a statutory body, the QAS will be less affected by Machinery of Government changes, ensuring continuity and stability in its operations. This long-term focus will allow QAS to plan and execute strategies that deliver sustained success for Queensland athletes.

The enhanced operational independence and resources of the QAS will make it an attractive destination for world class talent.

QUESTION ON NOTICE NO. 17

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The recent "What Does 2032 Mean for You?" discussion paper has been a fantastic initiative for engaging Queenslanders. How will the valuable feedback received from over 1,900 survey responses and 95 written submissions shape the upcoming comprehensive 10-year sport strategy, ensuring a lasting legacy from Brisbane 2032 for all communities?

ANSWER:

The Department of Sport, Racing and Olympic and Paralympic Games (DSROPG) has received valuable feedback on the 'What Does 2032 Mean For You' discussion paper from a variety of stakeholders and community members.

Feedback included the need to ensure places and spaces are accessible and inclusive, the need to have access to more affordable and flexible participation opportunities that meet a variety of needs, as well as taking measures to improve collaboration across private and public sectors to leverage legacy benefits of the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Brisbane 2032).

DSROPG has undertaken comprehensive analysis of feedback received during the consultation process, with findings to inform the new 10-year sport strategy (the Strategy) vision and overarching direction, as well as potential actions or initiatives to support its implementation.

DSROPG will continue to engage across government and industry, in addition to key stakeholders, to ensure the Strategy reflects the diverse needs and aspirations of all Queenslanders – particularly in the lead up to and beyond Brisbane 2032.

The Queensland Government is working towards releasing the Strategy by the end of 2025.

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The latest data indicates Queensland's racing industry now contributes close to $2.5 billion to the state's economy. Beyond the economic benefits of racing, how is the government working to uphold high animal welfare and integrity standards across the racing industry, and what steps have been taken in this crucial area?

ANSWER:

The Queensland Racing Integrity Commission (QRIC) is committed to upholding high animal welfare and integrity standards in the racing industry.

QRIC operates under the Racing Integrity Act 2016 as an independent statutory authority and employs a proactive, evidence-based approach through science-driven policies, industry collaboration, and a whole-of-life management framework for racing animals.

Key QRIC initiatives include:

- Developing the 2025–2028 Racing Animal Welfare Strategy, focusing on enhanced welfare, career opportunities, and responsible life-cycle management.
- Creating Equine and Greyhound Welfare Standards and Guidelines, supported by welfare assessment tools for consistent implementation.
- Conducting race day and non-race day inspections, prohibited substance testing, and track condition monitoring.
- Providing on-track veterinarians for pre- and post-race animal assessments, with mandatory injury standdown periods enforced by Stewards.
- Reviewing serious injuries to inform prevention strategies and leveraging emerging technologies to reduce risks.
- Maintaining the "Report Something" platform for confidential reporting of welfare breaches, with triaged investigations and referrals to relevant agencies as needed.

QRIC aims to position Queensland as a national leader in racing animal welfare through these initiatives.

THE COMMITTEE ASKED THE MINISTER FOR SPORT AND RACING AND MINISTER FOR THE OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES (HON T MANDER) —

QUESTION:

The current comprehensive Racing Review is a significant undertaking for the industry. Can the Minister provide an update on its progress, how the government is ensuring industry stability during the review, and how the government anticipates the review's recommendations will support all three racing codes in Queensland?

ANSWER:

The independent Queensland Racing Review 2025 (the Review) is the most substantial review of its kind into Queensland racing in more than 25 years and aims to ensure the long-term sustainability of Thoroughbred, Harness and Greyhound racing in the State.

The Review has been tasked with further strengthening integrity and animal welfare standards, recommending the necessary steps to deliver modern infrastructure, and safeguarding the ongoing success of country racing.

On 1 March 2025, the Queensland Government launched the On Track: Ensuring a sustainable and vibrant future for Queensland's racing sector discussion paper and announced former Chairman of the Australian Turf Club, Mr Matthew McGrath, to spearhead the racing industry review.

At the close of the discussion paper consultation period on 7 April 2025, 821 survey responses had been completed and 402 email submissions were received. The survey responses and submissions have been reviewed by Mr McGrath, who is currently conducting extensive stakeholder consultation throughout Queensland.

The discussion paper sought perspective, experience and insight from stakeholders across the Thoroughbred, Harness and Greyhound codes. The Review's recommendations are expected to enable Queensland to have the most vibrant racing industry in the country.

QUESTION:

How is the government ensuring that the benefits and legacy of the 2032 Games extend beyond Southeast Queensland to regional areas, providing opportunities and engagement for communities across the entire state?

ANSWER:

The Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games (Games) are a golden platform to deliver what is needed for Queensland's future, and we are committed to ensuring the Games benefit the greatest number of Queenslanders as possible, in particular regional Queenslanders.

On 25 March 2025, the Queensland Government's 2032 Delivery Plan was released, securing a legacy of generational infrastructure, transport connectivity, tourism and sporting facilities for Queensland to 2032 and beyond.

The Games will see key events held across our regions, including: Football and indoor sports in Cairns; Sailing and football in Townsville; Sailing in the Whitsundays; Rowing and Canoe in Rockhampton; Archery in Maryborough; Equestrian in Toowoomba; and Cricket in Mackay.

There will be significant infrastructure works in the regions including upgrades to Barlow Park, new rowing facilities and athlete accommodation in Rockhampton and Bruce Highway upgrades and other major road projects in Cairns and Townsville.

Other benefits and opportunities for the regions include: increasing sports participation through the $250 million Games On! Grassroots Infrastructure Program for grassroots sporting infrastructure; regional tourism underpinned by the Destination 2045: Queensland's Tourism Future Strategy; regional business procurement and employment; pre-Games training and events; schools programs; and regional arts and culture in the Games program.

There will also be a range of opportunities and engagement for the regions in the lead up to and during the Games, including through the torch relay, volunteering and live sites.

The Queensland Government remains committed to maximising the benefits and legacy of the Games for Queensland's regions and will continue to partner with regional communities to progress these opportunities.

Question on Notice

Question No. 1

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Will the Minister provide an update on how the Crisafulli Government is working to deliver transport infrastructure projects on time and within their allocated budget?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government is committed to delivering transport infrastructure projects that meet the needs of Queenslanders while ensuring they are completed on time and within their allocated budgets. This commitment is central to our focus on improving connectivity, supporting economic growth, and enhancing liveability across the state.

While the cost of building infrastructure is rising due to increasing material prices, labour costs, and supply chain challenges, my department is committed to delivering value-for-money for the taxpayer and sought independent expert advice to tackle these challenges.

Following an independent review by infrastructure expert Mr Rodd Staples, several changes have been made to improve how my department plans and delivers significant infrastructure projects. The review recommended changes to how the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) is presented, focusing on a more strategic approach and providing cost ranges for projects that are not yet contracted.

QTRIP is the Crisafulli Government's $41.7 billion investment that provides a responsible and sustainable program of work to deliver greater road and transport connectivity and safety for all Queenslanders, as well as reflecting our Government’s dedication to building resilient infrastructure that meets the needs of our growing population.

The overhauled QTRIP provides industry, funding partners, and the community with insights into the program. The review emphasises that QTRIP’s success depends on strong partnerships with industry—including consultants, contractors, and suppliers—to foster innovation, commercial maturity, and value-for-money outcomes.

It distinguishes between projects in development and delivery to avoid premature costings and foster genuine market competition. My department will prioritise upfront project planning, with tenders issued after detailed planning is complete. Project costs may be shared after contracts are awarded and upon final completion.

The review encouraged consistency in contract packaging and commercial models, and better risk management frameworks to help ensure more robust and cost-effective delivery in the future.

My department is preparing an implementation plan to address the review's recommendations, ensuring coordinated action and alignment with other departmental reviews. The plan will focus on delivering a transparent, efficient, and value-driven infrastructure program that meets Queensland's growing needs and supports the 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The implementation plan will include a range of initiatives which improve cost certainty and ensure timely delivery. These initiatives include:

- improving design quality and correctness
- targeted earlier investigations to manage risk exposure through design and delivery
- improving business case and pre-tender estimates including conducting independent reviews to ensure accuracy and reliability
- addressing uncertainty with appropriate estimate allowances and contingency to manage risks effectively
- value engineering projects to ensure whole of life benefits are maximised and 'nice to have' scope elements are identified without compromising whole of life operational costs
- early industry and partner engagement, fostering collaborative risk management, improved decisions on risk sharing and contract choice.

All these changes will be embedded in guidelines, training, governance and procedures to ensure consistent application and practice across all projects.

By implementing these recommendations, my department can enhance cost certainty, improve delivery performance, and meet the growing demands of Queensland's transport network, including the legacy of the 2032 Brisbane Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Question No. 2

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on the early works package for the Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

Strong progress has been made in delivering the $300 million early start package for the $9 billion Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program, jointly funded by the Australian and Queensland governments on an 80:20 basis.

As part of this initial work package, $200 million is fast-tracking the construction of 16 priority projects to deliver critical safety improvements to sections of the highway north of Gympie with a high safety risk.

As of 28 July 2025:

- one priority project has already been completed – this project delivered pavement strengthening to a priority section of the highway between Townsville and Ingham
- six projects are currently in construction – this includes a number of important safety upgrades at Bauple, north of Gympie, and at nearby Curra to establish a new all-vehicle rest area. Works are also underway to install wide centre line treatment between Bowen and Ayr, along with additional pavement strengthening underway between Townsville and Ingham
- three further projects are scheduled to commence construction by the end of August – this includes pavement strengthening between Ayr and Townsville, Ingham and Innisfail, and Innisfail and Cairns.

More fast-tracked works will commence later this year to continue delivering high-impact safety treatments to help reduce the severity and frequency of crashes impacting our communities and industry.

Supporting this fast-tracked construction effort is $100 million in funding to enable preconstruction and design activities for safety upgrades across five priority links. This includes between Maryborough and Gin Gin, Rockhampton and St Lawrence, Mackay and Proserpine, Ayr and Townsville and Ingham and Innisfail. These works are also advancing with various design contracts awarded and procurement progressing for a number of items.

The early start package is providing the rapid response needed to address safety deficiencies at priority locations while building towards the development and delivery of the overall pipeline of works.

Question No. 3

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister advise how the Crisafulli Government is delivering generational infrastructure for the residents of the Sunshine Coast?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government is committed to delivering generational infrastructure that supports the growing population of the Sunshine Coast, enhancing liveability, and driving economic growth. Several transformative projects are progressing, and the Crisafulli Government is getting on with the job of delivering the infrastructure the Sunshine Coast needs — not only to meet current demands but also to prepare for the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games and leave a lasting legacy for future generations.

The Wave is an innovative public transport system designed to transform the way Sunshine Coast residents and visitors travel. This initiative will provide a modern, efficient, and sustainable transport option, reducing reliance on private vehicles and supporting the region's transition to a low-emissions future.

The Wave includes a heavy passenger rail from Beerwah through to Birtinya, seamlessly connecting with a metro-style service through to the Sunshine Coast Airport via Mountain Creek and the Maroochydore CBD. The Wave will integrate seamlessly with existing transport networks, improving connectivity and accessibility across the Sunshine Coast.

Work is already underway on projects that will facilitate delivery of The Wave before 2032. Preliminary works and procurement activities are progressing for Stage 1 (Beerwah to Caloundra) with construction for major works expected to start in late 2026. Additional funding was allocated in the recent budget to support project readiness—enabling procurement to commence and for the reference design to be completed for Stage 2 (Caloundra to Birtinya) as well as procurement to progress major advisory contracts for Stage 3 (Birtinya to the Sunshine Coast Airport) —which will assist in undertaking the work to identify a preferred corridor.

The Beerburrum to Nambour Rail Upgrade Stage 1 project will increase the capacity and improve reliability of the north coast line and enhance passenger and freight services. The project is jointly funded by the Australian and Queensland governments and contributes to the delivery of an integrated transport network for Sunshine Coast residents. Main works designs are being finalised and enabling works are underway to relocate existing rail signalling systems and other utilities, with clearing to begin in August 2025.

The Stage 1 major rail works for Beerburrum to Nambour Rail Upgrade Stage 1 will duplicate the section of rail track between Beerburrum and Beerwah, address three level crossings on the alignment, expand the park 'n' ride facility in Beerburrum and undertake associated road works, improving safety and network efficiency for Sunshine Coast residents and visitors.

The Mooloolah River Interchange Upgrade is a critical infrastructure project aimed at improving traffic flow, reducing congestion, and enhancing safety for motorists. This project will address long-standing bottlenecks and provide a more efficient connection between key areas, including the Sunshine Motorway and Kawana Way. The upgrade will also support future growth. Pending environmental approvals, early works are due to start in the coming months with main construction expected to start in late 2026.

The Caloundra Congestion Busting Plan encompasses five targeted projects designed to improve traffic flow and safety in and around Caloundra. These projects will address key congestion points, enhance road capacity, and improve travel times for residents and visitors. By investing in these upgrades, the Crisafulli Government is ensuring Caloundra remains a highly liveable and accessible destination.

Site investigations are currently underway on the Caloundra Road, Nicklin Way and Pelican Waters Boulevard intersection to inform planning activities. Planning is also underway for the Caloundra Road and Bellvista Boulevard intersection, as well as the proposed new link between Aura Boulevard and Pelican Waters Boulevard. The end of the year will see a design consultant engaged for the Caloundra Road, Kawana Way Link Road and Bells Creek Arterial Road interchange and, pending environmental approvals, works to start on the ground for the Caloundra Transport Corridor Upgrade.

Recognising the importance of the Sunshine Motorway as a vital transport corridor, the Crisafulli Government is progressing planning for future upgrades. These upgrades will focus on improving capacity, safety and connectivity, ensuring the motorway can meet the demands of a growing population and support the region’s economic development.

Additionally, a range of transport projects are in planning for upcoming procurement, and asset maintenance projects are programmed to provide a pipeline of ongoing improvements.

These projects reflect the Crisafulli Government’s commitment to delivering infrastructure that meets the needs of the Sunshine Coast community now and into the future. By investing in these initiatives, we are not only addressing current challenges but also laying the foundation for sustainable growth and prosperity across the region.

Question No. 4

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on the Crisafulli Government's work to deliver road projects in Central Queensland?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The state-controlled road network in Central Queensland is over 9036 kilometres long and plays an integral role connecting the regional and rural communities in the west of the State with the key population centres and markets in the east, to facilitate movement of agricultural produce, livestock, mining and resource industry outputs to domestic and international markets, driving economic growth to ensure Queensland remains competitive.

The Crisafulli Government is building a future-proof transport network for Queensland that is safe, reliable, resilient, accessible, and sustainable to support our growing State. With a $41.7 billion investment over four years, my department is delivering road and transport infrastructure across local, state, and national networks, supporting an average of 25,000 jobs, reflecting the Queensland Government's commitment to improving safety, efficiency, and connectivity for all Queenslanders. In Central Queensland alone that investment is $3.596 billion.

Work is already underway on Central Queensland projects in the $9 billion Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program, jointly funded by the Australian and Queensland governments, which will deliver wide centre line treatments, intersection upgrades, improved rest areas, and overtaking lanes on priority sections of the highway. Widening of the Bruce Highway to introduce wide centre line treatment at Bootooloo, north of Proserpine commenced in July 2025. Procurement is underway for projects south of Gladstone, including safety improvements at Three Mile Creek and upgrade of the Granite Creek rest area, and for a wide centre line treatment north of Rockhampton between Little Neerim Creek and Deep Creek.

Key projects under construction that will transform the driver experience on the Bruce Highway include the Rockhampton Ring Road project with 17.4 kilometres of new roadway, a critical third crossing of the Fitzroy River, and additional access points into the city.

Procurement for construction of Bruce Highway overtaking lanes at Goorganga Plains will go to market before the end of the year, and planning for the O'Connell River to Proserpine (Goorganga Plains) flood immunity upgrade is underway.

Procurement for construction of four Safer Roads Sooner projects in the Mackay area will get underway before the end of the year, and another at Bajool south of Rockhampton. Design is also underway for construction of an overtaking lane on the Peak Downs Highway between Millenium and Carborough Downs Coal Mines, and planning is in progress for an additional overtaking lane on the same road link, fulfilling a government commitment.

Planning for the upgrade of Mackay–Bucasia Road and Golf Links Road intersection is also underway, to improve capacity and travel times on this key commuter link between Mackay and the Northern Beaches, fulfilling another government commitment.

Initiatives such as Country Roads Connect, Queensland Beef Corridors and the Outback Way will continue the program of paving and sealing important transport links in regional and rural areas, improving network resilience and ensuring rural and regional communities remain connected.

Multiple projects to improve beef corridor access to markets will get underway in 2025–26, with construction to pave and seal sections of Clermont–Alpha Road already underway north of Alpha and commencing south of Clermont in early 2026. Construction on Fitzroy Developmental Road between Bauhinia and Duaringa will get underway in early 2026, followed by the May Downs Road and Alpha–Tambo Road projects in mid-2026. Upgrades on Dawson Developmental Road between Springsure and Tambo are also being progressively undertaken to improve connectivity for the community and heavy vehicles.

Safe, reliable, and resilient infrastructure is the backbone of Queensland's communities, driving industry growth and connecting people to essential services and opportunities. The Crisafulli Government's investments are designed to get people, families and industry to where they want to go safer, sooner, efficiently and reliably.

Question No. 5

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on how the Crisafulli Government is delivering generational road infrastructure in the far north of Queensland?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government is progressing a range of generational road infrastructure projects across Far North Queensland to improve safety, connectivity and resilience for regional communities.

The state-controlled road network in Far North Queensland is nearly 3000 kilometres long and plays an integral role connecting the regional and rural communities from the vast Far North region with the key population centres and markets along the coast and to the south. This facilitates delivery of key agricultural, livestock and mining resources for domestic and international markets, while supporting a thriving tourism industry, driving economic growth to ensure Queensland remains competitive.

The Crisafulli Government is building a future-proof transport network for Queensland that is safe, reliable, resilient, accessible, and sustainable to support our growing State. With a $41.7 billion investment over four years, my department is delivering road and transport infrastructure across local, state, and national networks, supporting an average of 25,000 jobs, reflecting the Queensland Government's commitment to improving safety, efficiency, and connectivity for all Queenslanders. In Far North Queensland alone that investment is $1.9 billion.

A new Barron River Bridge at Kuranda has been secured, providing a vital link between Cairns and the Tablelands. This project will enhance transport reliability and access between Cairns and the Tablelands. The new bridge will include wider traffic lanes, a separated pedestrian and cycling path, and a turnaround facility on the Kennedy Highway.

Resilience upgrades on the Kuranda Range Road will be delivered in line with the Cairns to Northern Tablelands Access Strategy. My department is looking at a wide range of measures from protective barriers and guardrails and shoulder widening, to intelligent transport systems and ways to better manage vegetation to reduce closures from fallen trees.

My department is prioritising the recovery works, jointly funded by the Queensland and Australian governments through the Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements, with an emphasis on restoring the Kuranda Range Road to two-lane operation. Following completion of the Cyclone Jasper works, my department will progress the safety and resilience upgrades.

The duplication of the Cairns Western Arterial Road (CWAR) is a key infrastructure commitment supporting regional growth and aligning with broader transport planning for the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games. This upgrade will improve traffic flow and network capacity.

My department is also progressing the CWAR Upgrade Strategy, a vital planning initiative that will guide future investment in one of the region's most important transport corridors.

This study will assess the entire corridor from Captain Cook Highway to Mulgrave Road, including the proposed Earlville Bypass connection to the Bruce Highway in the south, and identify short-, medium-, and long-term solutions to improve safety, reliability, and efficiency.

Planning for upgrades at the intersection of the Bruce Highway and Foster Road, as part of the Bruce Highway Upgrade Program, is also progressing to support local connectivity and improve access to essential services in southern Cairns.

The Kennedy Developmental Road between Hughenden and The Lynd continues to receive targeted investment to strengthen freight routes and support regional development, particularly for communities reliant on this corridor.

In Cape York, the Queensland Government is delivering the Cape York Region Package, enhancing access and resilience for remote communities and supporting economic growth.

As part of the 2024 Queensland State Election, we committed to developing a business case for upgrading the Gilbert River bridge — a critical link on the Gulf Developmental Road and the Savannah Way. The bridge, located approximately 75 kilometres west of Georgetown, is a single-lane, low-level structure with poor flood immunity, frequently isolating Gulf communities during the wet season.

The Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program is delivering critical safety treatments across the Far North District. These include wide centre line treatments, pavement strengthening, overtaking lanes, rest areas, and intersection improvements. These works are part of a broader program to improve safety outcomes along the Bruce Highway.

These projects reflect the Crisafulli Government's commitment to delivering infrastructure that supports regional communities, enhances safety, and builds long-term resilience across Far North Queensland.

Question No. 6

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on the impact of industrial activities on transport infrastructure projects, and the benefit of the pause of Best Practice Industry Conditions (BPICs)?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The management of industrial relations on civil construction projects is a matter for contractors in accordance with applicable contractual provisions, management plans, the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth), and the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 as it relates to site entry.

Generally, when a union official attends a project site, they require an applicable and valid entry notice and right of entry permit. My department has seen an improvement in compliance with union right of entry requirements on Department of Transport and Main Roads' infrastructure projects following the CFMEU being placed into administration on 23 August 2024 (for a period of up to 5 years) and the suspension of the BPIC on 14 November 2024.

Following the high-court's decision that rejected Mr Michael Ravbar's and Mr Jade Ingham's challenge of the constitutional validity of the CFMEU administration scheme, there were some rallies and protests, with some limited industrial disruption on the Queensland Train Manufacturing Program, Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 3 and Coomera Connector – Central project.

However, apart from this brief spike, industrial disruption has eased on my department's projects following the commencement of the administration and BPIC suspension. This is consistent with the Violence in the Queensland CFMEU report by Mr Geoffrey Watson SC. Mr Watson noted several witnesses he interviewed said that, since the commencement of the administration, the southeast Queensland construction sector has been relatively peaceful.

Today's conditions are in stark contrast to the conduct of CFMEU on my department's Centenary Bridge Upgrade project, which included the blocking of critical concrete pours in May last year.

The contractor for this project implemented security and access measures and took legal action to manage extraordinary and unauthorised CFMEU activity. In my media release of Monday 14 July 2025, I highlighted the direct cost of the CFMEU activity on this project, which includes delaying site access for deliveries and workers, as well as additional security to keep the site safe. The anticipated cost is at least $22 million, with millions in additional indirect costs flowing on due to the delays caused by the CFMEU action.

Improvements in industrial disruption has occurred following the pausing of BPIC. According to the Australian Bureau of Statistics, in Queensland the number working days lost due to industrial disputes dropped from 9,400 in the March 2024 quarter to 4,200 in the March 2025 quarter – a 55 per cent decrease.

With respect to benefits directly related to the Best Practice Industry Conditions (BPIC) suspension, it is important to note BPIC was an added requirement for contractors when tendering and delivering major public funded transport infrastructure projects. Within my department, project variations relating to BPIC and information in tender submissions for major projects broadly support Queensland Treasury's independent modelling that found BPICs are likely to increase project costs.

Preliminary findings show there have been cost reductions on my department's rail and road projects where the BPIC suspension applied. This has largely related to principal contractors being able to work with sub-contractors that are not bound to BPIC, supporting cost certainty on our projects and making it easier for small and regional business to work on TMR infrastructure projects.

Whilst not a BPIC project, Cross River Rail has been impacted by prolonged industrial disruptions dating back as far as mid-2023, culminating in the loss of 148 days due to protected industrial action.

During the period of protected action, multiple reports of intimidation were received, continuing to impact site productivity despite multiple injunctions issued against the union. The industrial action, including picketing and blockades at site entries, significantly disrupted critical activities such as concrete pours, material deliveries, and workforce continuity.

These disruptions contributed to a substantial decline in productivity, leading to consequential delays across the project program.

Most recently, CFMEU-led protests have again impacted the project and disrupted delivery, with CFMEU-aligned subcontractors leaving site after the 18 June 2025 High Court decision to uphold the CFMEU being placed under administration.

Question No. 7

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on the Crisafulli Government's 50 cent fares being made permanent?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

As at 30 June 2025, since the Crisafulli Government made 50 cent fares permanent in February 2025, more than 77 million trips have been taken on Translink public transport services in South East Queensland.

Patronage on the South East Queensland network from 10 February 2025 to 30 June 2025 increased 15.3 per cent compared to the same period last year – this is a great result given the significant disruption to services caused by Tropical Cyclone Alfred earlier this year.

This has delivered savings for customers in South East Queensland of more than $159 million compared to the previous fare structure. Under the previous Labor Government, 50 Cent Fares would have ended in February 2025 as they did not allocate any funding beyond the six-month trial.

Support for 50 cent fares has grown to 92 per cent since being made permanent, with 43 per cent of South East Queenslanders saying their public transport experience has improved.

Bus patronage in regional Queensland networks has also increased from 10 February 2025 to 31 May 2025 by more than 39 per cent – including growth of 43 per cent in Cairns, 96 per cent in Townsville, 37 per cent in Whitsundays, 21 per cent in North Stradbroke Island, and 7 per cent in Sunshine Coast Hinterland.

Question No. 8

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on the Crisafulli Government's commitment to the Bruce Highway Advisory Council.

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

Within two months of forming government, the Crisafulli Government delivered on its commitment to re-establish the Bruce Highway Advisory Council (BHAC), reversing the decision of the previous government to dismantle the council.

The BHAC will support the Queensland Government in determining investment priorities along the Bruce Highway.

The BHAC brings together key stakeholders, senior government officials and industry, with six regional representatives spanning from the Sunshine Coast to Far North Queensland playing a vital role in informing priority investment locations. Industry experts and peak bodies include the RACQ, Queensland Trucking Association, Queensland Farmers' Federation, Queensland Tourism Industry Council and the Local Government Association of Queensland.

Since its re-establishment, the BHAC has met three times, starting in December 2024, and since then has helped deliver positive impacts for the Bruce Highway, including the commitment of the new $9 billion Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program in early 2025, jointly funded by the Australian Government ($7.2 billion) and Queensland Government ($1.8 billion) on an 80:20 basis.

The second BHAC meeting took place on 19 March 2025 in Rockhampton and focused on proposed investment priorities as part of the committed $9 billion Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program.

The third meeting of the BHAC took place on 23 July 2025 in Gin Gin. The BHAC was provided an update on the progress of the $300 million early start package under the Bruce Highway Targeted Safety Program and how the Council's previous feedback has informed proposed priorities for the broader program. The program priorities, delivery strategy and management approach have since been finalised and submitted to the Australian Government for consideration and approval. The program approach ensures flexibility to respond to emerging needs, market conditions and weather events, and will see works progressively rolled out in the coming years.

The recent BHAC meeting also focused on the approach to developing Bruce Highway fatigue management strategy, as well as broader strategies for public engagement and education.

Question No. 9

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on how the Crisafulli Government is continuing to fund the School Transport Infrastructure Program (STIP), and is the Minister aware of any alternative approaches?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government recognises the importance of the School Transport Infrastructure Program (STIP) and has committed $27.5 million in the 2025–26 State Budget over four years to continue improving the safety and operation of Queensland schools.

The Crisafulli Government has funded $2.3 million this year to deliver 21 new STIP projects to enhance safety and improve access for our most vulnerable community members — our school children.

Typical projects that are funded under the STIP include upgrades to carparks, construction of stop, drop and go facilities, bus stops and footpaths.

STIP complements other existing school-related road safety initiatives, such as the Flashing School Zone Signs Program, School Crossing Supervisors Scheme and Community Road Safety Grants.

STIP projects are prioritised based on a number of factors that are scored and then used in a calculation that provides an overall ranking for consideration in prioritisation. Some factors included in prioritisation and technical assessments are the number of school students, improved active transport, improved safety and security of staff, students and parents, improved traffic performance and the overall cost of the nomination.

This program is critical in ensuring funding is available for much needed investments to deliver road and transport infrastructure in and around schools across the State.

Question No. 10

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

Can the Minister provide an update on how the Crisafulli Government's Keeping Our Waterways Safe program will ensure that Queenslanders can safely enjoy our marine environment?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government is committed to ensuring Queenslanders can safely enjoy our marine environment through the Keeping Our Waterways Safe program. This initiative, which has been allocated $15 million over three years in the government's first Budget, improves on the previous government's 'War on Wrecks' program. It focuses on action and outcomes through removing derelict and abandoned vessels from Queensland waterways, enhancing vessel owner accountability, and promoting responsible boat ownership. The expanded program will deliver key legislative reforms to ensure that Maritime Safety Queensland (MSQ) has all of the powers needed to hold owners accountable, and to take early action to remove unsafe and deteriorating vessels.

The removal of derelict vessels not only improves safety for recreational and commercial users but also protects Queensland's unique marine ecosystems. Since MSQ commenced removal of derelict vessels from our waterways, to 30 June 2025, there are 1746 fewer in our waterways. The Keeping Our Waterways Safe program goes beyond vessel removal — it includes reforms led by MSQ to strengthen vessel registration, hull identification, and compliance activities.

These measures aim to address the root causes of vessel abandonment and ensure owners are held accountable for the maintenance and disposal of their vessels. Where owners fail to act, MSQ uses its regulatory powers to remove hazards, recover costs, and prosecute owners as necessary. These reforms will ensure the legislation contains all the provisions necessary to achieve these goals.

The Crisafulli Government is also investing in education and community engagement, so boat owners are clear about their responsibilities on Queensland's waterways. MSQ will work with local communities to promote safe and sustainable marine practices. By prioritising boat owner accountability and improving legislation to include proactive measures, the program ensures that Queensland's waterways remain clean, safe, and navigable for future generations.

The Crisafulli Government is proud to deliver the Keeping Our Waterways Safe program, ensuring that Queenslanders can continue to enjoy our pristine waterways safely and responsibly.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the media release of 11 December 2024, in which the Minister for Transport and Main Roads stated that "The Crisafulli Government has uncovered the true cost of the [Cross River Rail] is likely to exceed $17 billion and may not be complete until 2029", and the SDS including pages 2 and 36-

Can the Minister provide a detailed breakdown of the total itemised costs for Cross River Rail?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

Components of the $17 billion include:

- more than $10.5 billion to build and maintain the tunnel
- $5 billion to fund integration works to connect the tunnel with the existing rail network, stabling to park the trains, a new signalling system, buses to carry passengers while stations and tracks are being built, and additional maintenance equipment
- at least another $1.5 billion due to the project running late and contractor claims.

As noted on page 7 of Budget Paper 3 – Capital Statement 2025–26, "due to project delays, industrial action and contractor claims, the cost of Cross River Rail is expected to exceed $17 billion, with negotiations ongoing to finalise the overall project budget. The funding allocated in this budget ensures that the project can be delivered in a responsible and measured way."

With reference to the previous Labor commencing construction of new Gold Coast train stations in Hope Island, Pimpama and Merrimac, with their openings to coincide with the completion of the Cross River Rail in 2026, and the SDS including pages 2 and 36 –

Can the Minister confirm that these stations are on target for their scheduled completion date, and provide the indicative operational date for each of the three stations?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The three new Gold Coast railway stations will improve access to rail journeys for communities in key growth areas on the Gold Coast, provide more reliable journey times compared to private vehicle travel, and offer greater connectivity to the broader public transport network, including Gold Coast Light Rail.

I can advise that information in relation to station opening times contained in the response to Estimates Question on Notice 18 to the Clean Economy Jobs, Resources and Transport Committee asked on 15 July 2024 remains current.

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including page 1 and the department's strategic objectives, can the Minister advise why the Government's proposed buy-back of the Airtrain contract has not been factored into the budget papers?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The assertion of the question is wrong. It was the previous Labor Government who proposed the buy-back of the Airtrain contract but was unable to negotiate a deal.

Prior to the election, the LNP committed to look for "long-term structural reform to deal with the issue". Since then, 50 cent fares have been made permanent, providing a cheaper alternative for travel to Brisbane Airport Skygate and onto the terminals using the free airport shuttle bus.

The Crisafulli Government will continue to work with our partners on options to improve services to the airport precinct, such as the metro expansion business case which is currently underway.

As all discussions between my department and Airtrain under the Brisbane Airport Rail Link Deed and related documents are confidential, I am unable to provide any further comment.

Question No. 14

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including pages 1, 2 and 11 and the Bruce Highway Advisory Council re-established in 2024, can the Minister outline the selection criteria and process followed for appointing members of this Advisory Council?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Bruce Highway Advisory Council (BHAC) includes representatives from peak industry bodies, senior government officials and regional representatives from across Queensland.

Industry members

The BHAC membership includes ex-officio representatives from RACQ, Queensland Farmers' Federation, Queensland Trucking Association, the Local Government Association of Queensland and Tourism Queensland Industry Council.

Representatives from these five organisations were members of the former Bruce Highway Trust Advisory Council, and were invited again to join the re-established BHAC in December 2024.

Regional members

The BHAC includes selected regional representatives, such as business owner operators and road safety advocates, who are providing advice as key stakeholders spanning the length of the Bruce Highway.

On 21 November 2024, I released a media statement calling for regional representation on the BHAC through an Expression of Interest. The BHAC webpage provided relevant information, including an Expression of Interest application form.

Nominees for regional representation were asked to submit a curriculum vitae of no more than two pages and a short summary of why they were a suitable BHAC regional representative, including their experience as a road user on the Bruce Highway. The Expression of Interest closed on 29 November 2024.

My department established an internal panel of senior officials to assess applications. The panel shortlisted suitable candidates that had provided evidence they could:

- identify priority Bruce Highway locations for investment
- have strong community links
- provide local knowledge to priority locations as well as a statewide view.

Based on the above, the panel provided a list of suitable candidates from each of six regions for my consideration. As Chair of the BHAC, I extended an invitation to one suitable representative from each region on 10 December 2024. Each of these invited applicants accepted my invitation to become members.

Membership of the BHAC is for a 12-month period and will be reviewed annually.

Senior government officials

The Australian Government is represented by the Deputy Secretary, Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, Communications, Sports and the Arts. The Department of Transport and Main Roads is represented by the General Manager (Portfolio Investment and Programming).

Question No. 15

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including page 1 and the department's strategic objectives, can the Minister:

a. Confirm if the government is committed to delivering the full scope of the Cairns Common User Facility at a cost of $826 million, per the Minister's 4 December 2024 media release;
b. What is the time frame for delivery of the project; and
c. Outline whether discussions have been had with the federal government about an increase to their contribution to this project?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Crisafulli Government is committed to a productive marine industry in Far North Queensland and understands how important the industry is to the region's employment and economic growth.

A full investigation and analysis in relation to the Cairns Common User Facility has been required due to the mismanagement of the project by the former Labor State Government. The former government was aware the project could not be delivered within the allocated funding, but continued to promote the misleading project value, grossly misrepresenting the project feasibility. Ports North is now undertaking a methodical process to determine the true costs of the project and to determine a way forward to deliver a viable and cost-effective project.

The Queensland Government continues to engage with partners, including the Federal Government.

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025–26 to 2028–29 is a publicly available document on the Department of Transport and Main Roads' website, along with the prior years' QTRIP publications, to ensure industry and funding partners—and the wider community—have the insight they need into the program, including the ability to view how the program is different from any previous year.

I refer the Committee to these abovementioned resources which lists new and previous investments in a table format with investment ID, project name and allocated budget.

l. Cannon Hill Shopping Centre, upgrade bus station (Investment ID 1582984)
m. Booral Road and Boundary Road (Urangan), upgrade intersection (Investment ID 2182485)
n. Upper Mount Gravatt Busway Station, upgrade accessibility (Investment ID 1583698)
o. Veloway 1 (V1) Cycleway, Birdwood Road cycle bridge and approaches, construction (Investment ID 3181839)?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Queensland Government is committed to progressing all projects listed in the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025–26 to 2028–29.

As outlined in my foreword to the QTRIP 2025–26 to 2028–29, where prior QTRIP publications have displayed budgets for all projects, an approach which influences the market's response to projects, this year, the new QTRIP layout categorises investments by 'Planned Investments' or 'Contractually Committed Investments', with budgets only displayed for investments that have achieved contract award.

This is in response to the recommendations from an independent review of QTRIP by respected infrastructure expert Mr Rodd Staples.

In his review, Mr Staples noted my department's ability to deliver on its infrastructure program is challenged by a range of strategic risks, including cost escalation and funding pressures; environment and sustainability (including extreme weather events); population growth; market factors and the time pressure of delivery in time for the 2032 Brisbane Olympic and Paralympic Games.

This new format continues to provide useful information to support the industry, maintains transparency for all users of the document, and delivers improved competition and value for money by not publishing project budgets for Planned Investments.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including pages 2 and 3 and the Safer Roads, Better Transport Initiative within the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025-26, 25 projects appear in QTRIP 2025-26 under this initiative without any funding allocation listed-

Will the Minister provide the total funding allocation for this program, broken down by cost per financial year for each project attributed to this program?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

My Ministerial Charter Letter clearly states I am responsible for driving delivery of the Safer Roads, Better Transport plan, a responsibility I take seriously. In the 2025–26 State Budget and detailed on page 2 of the Transport and Main Roads Service Delivery Statement, the Crisafulli Government has allocated $1.07 billion over five years for the Safer Roads, Better Transport Plan. The aim of the initiative is to provide greater transport connectivity for all Queenslanders and to get Queenslanders home sooner and safer.

Budget Paper 4 provides a breakdown of the funding over the five-year period 2024–25 to 2028–29 and is summarised below:

2024–25 $'million	2025–26 $'million	2026–27 $'million	2027–28 $'million	2028–29 $'million
136	302	251	287	94

As outlined in my foreword to the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025–26 to 2028–29, where prior QTRIP publications have displayed budgets for all projects, an approach which influences the market's response to projects, this year, the new QTRIP layout categorises investments by 'Planned Investments' or 'Contractually Committed Investments', with budgets only displayed for investments that have achieved contract award.

This new format continues to provide useful information to support the industry, maintains transparency for all users of the document, and delivers improved competition and value-for-money by not publishing project budgets for Planned Investments.

Once the Safer Roads, Better Transport plan investments are contractually committed, the project budgets will be reported in the next release of the QTRIP publication. This approach restores respect for taxpayers' money by preventing premature costings and encouraging genuine market competition.

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including page 3 and to the 'Cairns Western Arterial Road, Redlynch Connector Road to Captain Cook Highway, funding allocation' (Investment ID 1810618) in the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025-26, will the Minister advise why the $240,327,000 in funding previously allocated onwards from 2026 in QTRIP 2024-25 has been removed from this project, as per QTRIP 2025-26?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

My department is progressing a project to duplicate the Cairns Western Arterial Road (CWAR) between Redlynch Connector Road and the Captain Cook Highway. The project is jointly funded by the Australian and Queensland governments. Preparation works for Section 1 (Lake Placid to Captain Cook Highway) commenced in August 2024 and are expected to be complete in late 2025.

In December 2023, the project was returned to planning due to the federal Labor government's Infrastructure Investment Program Review outcomes and the 2023–24 Mid-Year Economic Fiscal Outlook.

My department is undertaking scoping activities to refresh the planning and business case details and construction milestones for the project considering the outcome, as requested by the federal Labor government.

Question No. 20

Asked on 15 July 2025

The State Development, Infrastructure and Works Committee asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (HON B MICKELBERG) —

QUESTION:

With reference to the SDS including page 3 and to the 'Kuranda Range Road, safety and resilience upgrades' (Investment ID 2713515) in the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program (QTRIP) 2025-26, this important project now faces a delayed construction timeline with the Crisafulli government pushing back construction to 2027. Will the Minister outline why these safety upgrades have been delayed?

ANSWER:

I thank the Committee for the question.

The Kuranda Range Road Safety and Resilience upgrades aim to reduce the number and length of unplanned closures of this road, which is the primary and preferred route for the thousands of residents, visitors and freight operators travelling between Cairns and Mareeba each day.

In December 2023, ex-Tropical Cyclone Jasper drenched the region with record-breaking rain. This had a significant impact on the Kuranda Range Road, with more than 30 landslip sites needing complex, geotechnical repairs within the environmentally sensitive Wet Tropics World Heritage Area.

My department is prioritising the recovery works, jointly funded by the Queensland and Australian governments through the Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements (DRFA), with an emphasis on restoring the Kuranda Range Road to two-lane operation.

The recovery works were initially programmed for completion in mid-2026, however, with support from the Australian Government, the scope has increased to not just repair the road but to 'build back better'.

As part of the Kuranda Range Road Safety and Resilience works, my department is looking at a wide range of measures from protective barriers and guardrails and shoulder widening, to intelligent transport systems and ways to better manage vegetation to reduce closures from fallen trees.

Under additional betterment funding, drainage upgrades will also be installed at key locations along more than half of the Kuranda Range Road.

These drainage betterment works will provide immediate improvements to reconstructed sites and reduce impacts of future severe weather on both current infrastructure and future infrastructure improvements.

Significant work has already been undertaken and the remaining works are being programmed to minimise impacts on the community. However, the additional works also require a considerable material supply, highly technical equipment, and favourable conditions for safe operations.

Consequently, the project is now expected to be finished in mid-2027, subject to weather and site conditions and contractor availability. Completing reconstruction by the previous funding deadline would have required increased traffic control, increased road closures and restrictions that are not compatible with the needs of the community or local economy.

Once the ex-Cyclone Jasper recovery works are completed, my department will be able to progress construction of the safety and resilience upgrades. Delivery of the safety and resilience works at the same time as the DRFA works would cause additional traffic disruption.

Plug pulled on battery plans

A peak industry group has slammed the state government's decision to mothball the Australian Battery Industrialisation Centre as a backward step and ultimately harms the progress of what is a critical industry.

The ABIC – a project that was to be jointly funded by the Queensland and Commonwealth governments – is a national-scale, open-access battery industrialisation facility designed to accelerate commercialisation of battery technology in Australia and provide much needed local battery testing and certification services directed to public safety.

Advanced Materials and Battery Council chief executive Quentin Hill (illustrated) says the project was critical for the future of the industry that the project in Queensland proceeds.

"Queensland is currently a leader in Australia's growing battery sector," he says.

"The industry needs this ABIC to fully realise our future potential in battery manufacturing. Industry growth will be constrained without this critical infrastructure. Our abundance of critical minerals, world-class material scientists and the electrification of everything means Australia has the potential to be a major global player in battery technology, but we need this technology infrastructure to grow the industry at this critical time."

The $105m state funding for the proposed Australian Battery Industrialisation Centre was pledged in 2022 by the former Labor Queensland government and was to be matched by federal Labor, through its National Battery Strategy.

However, a spokesman for Deputy Premier Jarrod Bleijie says the decision not to progress with the ABIC was made because of the "uncertainty" around the federal government's commitment. It also did not align with the Department of State Development focus of three priority industries – defence, biomedical and biofuels – which was in line with election commitments.

Hill says the AMBC is looking forward to continuing to work with government to make the ABIC a reality.

MEGA SITE

Trask Land has snapped up a 5.05ha development site in Brisbane's rapidly expanding northern corridor.

Earmarked for a residential subdivision, the site at 74-80 Nairn Rd, Morayfield, attracted strong interest from developers keen to secure scarce residential land.

It was sold by Colliers' Brendan Hogan and Adam Rubie, on behalf of a private landholder. Trask Land already controls adjoining land on both sides of the site, and the $8m purchase further strengthens the group's long-term position in the high-growth Morayfield precinct.

LOOKING GOOD

Brisbane Open House returns on the weekend with its largest program in five years.

Queensland Government

Deputy Premier, Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning and Minister for Industrial Relations
The Honourable Jarrod Bleijie

MEDIA STATEMENT: Fresh Start for Queensland: Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 4 community consultation launched

Fresh Start for Queensland: Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 4 community consultation launched

- Crisafulli Government delivers on its promise to review Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 4 project.
- Community consultation now open for six weeks, giving locals a voice.
- Potential impacts hidden by Labor include 235 properties at risk of resumption and the loss of half the local car parks.

The Crisafulli Government is delivering on its election commitment to properly consult local communities on the proposed Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 4 project.

Public consultation will be open for six weeks to support an independent project review by the Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning.

It has been revealed that the former Labor Government didn't disclose to Queenslanders that the extension puts 235 properties at risk of resumption and could result in the loss of 1,000 local carparks.

The departmental review will assess all the routes, public transport modes and connectivity options to develop a detailed profile of connectivity and transit needs that ensure future transport options serve the needs of the local community.

Findings from community consultation and the technical review will inform the recommendations for southern Gold Coast's transport plans.

Deputy Premier and Minister for State Development, Infrastructure and Planning Jarrod Bleijie encouraged southern Gold Coast residents to have their say.

"The Crisafulli Government is committed to ensuring residents are consulted, following the disdain shown to their community by the former Labor Government," Deputy Premier Bleijie said.

"Despite 235 properties being at risk of resumption and the loss of over 1,000 local carparks, the former Labor Government deliberately kept residents in the dark.

"Through this consultation process, we will ensure locals are informed of the proposed impacts on their community so they can have an informed say about the future of this project.

"Consultation begins today and will conclude on 2 May, with the aim to ensure future public transport options are affordable and serve the needs of the local community.

"I urge southern Gold Coasters to have their say, which will help shape an impactful outcome for the transport infrastructure in their region."

Member for Currumbin Laura Gerber said the former Labor Government railroaded the southern Gold Coast and failed to listen or consult with locals on Light Rail Stage 4.

"The Crisafulli Government is putting this decision back in the hands of the community like we promised, ensuring proper consultation is undertaken and the community gets the transport solutions that best meet the needs of the southern Gold Coast," Ms Gerber said.

Member for Burleigh Hermann Vorster said Labor had poisoned earlier consultations by limiting options and refusing to be transparent.

"Labor's sham consultations were stacked against our lifestyle and environment, and fatally flawed from the start," Mr Vorster said.

"Locals have no faith in the current plans because there was never an opportunity to suggest alternatives and questions were left unanswered.

"The Crisafulli Government will put the future of the southern Gold Coast back in locals' hands and protect what makes this area so special – our natural areas, community clubs, and access to the beach."

Findings from community consultation and the technical review will inform the recommendations for southern Gold Coast's transport plans.

Details on how to submit feedback are available on the Queensland Government website www.qld.gov.au/futuretransport (https://www.qld.gov.au/futuretransport).

Consultation closes on 2 May 2025.

5.4.2 Scope

5.4.2.1. Road Corridor Configuration

For the DBL Option, the following key design parameters shown in Table 63 were adopted for the general road corridor configuration.

Table 63 Key Road Design Parameters

	Applicable Design Standard	Comments
General Traffic Lanes	3.5m	Reduced to 3.3m for constrained areas and 3.1m EDD through Palm Beach
Footpath	2.0m nom	High pedestrian volumes 2.5m preferred width
Shared Path	3.0m	2.5m min
Active transport Path	3.0m	2.0m where one-way
On-Road Cycle Lane	1.5m	Through vehicle traffic speed = 60km/h

5.4.2.2. Design Elements Based on the LRT Design

The following design elements were incorporated into the DBL Option concept design based on the LRT Option concept design:

- Where road widening is required due to technical requirements of the DBL design, the design should widen to the side of the road in line with LRT Option, to support a future possible conversion to LRT
- The fauna bridge is to be included in the design due to similar impacts to Burleigh Hill
- Active Transport facilities will be similar to the LRT Option (i.e. off road cycleways and shared paths at Burleigh and Currumbin Hills) and will be included in the DBL design
- Similar provision for the Coolangatta Cycleway are to be included in the design
- Adopt a similar approach to the LRT design through the existing Lanham Park cutting by providing a separate section of two-way bus lanes.

The following items – which formed part of the LRT Option – are not required as part of the concept design for the DBL Option:

- Bus interchange at the Gold Coast Highway / Thrower Drive intersection as passengers on east-west bus routes are not required to interchange with a different transport mode to travel north-south along the Gold Coast Highway
- Reprioritisation the Gold Coast Highway at the Gold Coast Highway/Tugun Currumbin Road intersection
- Relocation of the Gold Coast Highway from Tugun to the Airport as the dedicated bus lanes can be accommodated on the highway by shoulder widening
- Additional interchange/ turn around areas within the Gold Coast Airport as there are already suitable bus facilities at this location.

5.4.2.3. Property requirements

Introduction of the DBL Option impacts some of the existing properties along the project corridor. Table 64 below highlights the number of full and partial property impacts.

Table 64 DBL Option – Property Impacts (excluding oceanway)

Segment	Full	Partial	Total
1 – Burleigh Heads	13	6	19
2 – Palm Beach	39	144	183
3 – Currumbin	19	15	34
4 – Tugun/Bilinga	2	1	3
5 – Coolangatta	5	2	7
Total	78	168	246

5.4.2.4. Car parking

Introduction of the DBL Option into the existing road corridor requires changes to the road configuration, resulting in impacts to on-street parking along the project corridor. A summary of the number of the existing parking bays impacted and required offsets is provided in Table 65. The responses to removal of car parking for Option 2 will be similar to that described above for Option 1.

Table 65 DBL Option – Car Parking Impacts

Segment	Existing	Residential	PWD	Commercial	Commercial loading zones	Recreational	Remaining
1 – Burleigh Heads	353	-107	-1	0	-2	-35	208
2 – Palm Beach	641	-354	0	-63	-6	-18	200
3 – Currumbin	122	-56	0	-54	0	0	12
4 – Tugun/Bilinga	250	-55	0	0	-1	0	194
5 – Coolangatta	708	-116	-8	-241	0	0	343
Total	2,074	-688	-9	-358	-9	-53	957

5.4.2.5. Stations / stops

Existing bus stop locations have generally been retained in their current location along the corridor, with some minor relocations closer to intersections or places of interest to increase patronage and reduce walking distances which generally have been accommodated in the design.

New bus stop facilities with a mix of indented bus bays at higher order stops (i.e. CBD areas or near key destinations such as schools) and in-line bus stops in other areas.

Burleigh MP Hermann Vorster hits back at light rail extension survey critics claiming it is biased Burleigh MP Hermann Vorster defends the state government's light rail survey after accusations southern bias and allowing multiple submissions made it 'worthless'.

Mr Vorster admits multiple submissions on the Burleigh-Gold Coast Airport light rail extension were allowed but a Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning spokesperson said submissions would face rigorous analysis to mitigate against duplicates.

The survey requires residents to enter an address but not name or identifiable information.

Deputy Premier Jarrod Bleijie previously said everyone could submit but southern Gold Coasters "will be taken into more consideration", prompting then-Deputy Mayor Donna Gates – councillor for the north – to argue all ratepayers contributed to light rail.

"It's totally ill-advised. This is a system for the city which already services northern Gold Coast at Helensvale and has the potential for east west connections and extension further north," said Cr Gates.

However, Mr Vorster said the survey was not a referendum, but seeking best southern Gold Coast future public transportation ideas.

"There is no prohibition to making multiple submissions, but if they are all the same duplicates would be deleted," he said.

"There's no reason multiple people from the same house can't make a submission. But I also could imagine where somebody has a great idea about a public transport mode and a few weeks later might encounter some other expert advice and want to add to their submission."

Mr Vorster said residents should consider the survey akin to a development application, where objectors or supporters could make multiple submissions or lodge an objection.

"It's about looking at the substance of the issues. It could be somebody has a really great idea, so this is a matter of quality, not quantity. They might uncover one great solution nobody else has on their third submission.

"Why should we not look at it?"

Mr Vorster said he was confident government processes would axe duplication.

"But again, the danger is people are focusing on being on one side or the other, rather than looking at the two questions: What are your concerns with the current proposal? And what's the best public transport for the southern Gold Coast?"

Mr Vorster said submissions from his constituents would be weighted more heavily but for good reason.

"Submissions are not equally weighted because we made a specific election commitment to the electorates of Burleigh and Currumbin that a community treated exceptionally poorly would finally be heard. The reality is the southern Gold Coast has never, ever been genuinely heard."

Labor's Gaven MP Meaghan Scanlon said: "Why do southern Gold Coasters matter more to the LNP? This is a sham survey designedto give the LNP the outcome they want - to oppose the light rail. People who live in my community at Pacific Pines who geton the light rail at Helensvale, they probably have a view. Bleijie is saying he's not interested."

Can Queensland workers count on the LNP's respect? This year they'll find out

Earlier this month, Premier David Crisafulli stood on stage before a room full of Queensland teachers.

He was addressing their union's biennial conference, hearing stories about the difficulties faced in the job. One question from the floor asked if he could be counted on to respect them.

"I'm here," he is said to have responded.

The question of respect is one that many in the public service are asking of the first-year government, as the LNP tries to shake-off the ghosts of the past and make good on its pre-election promises.
But with only a slim workplace platform beyond "nation-leading" pay for some, no job cuts for any, attacks on the CFMEU, and increased productivity, eyes are also open for clues of what else may come.

The Crisafulli government has risen to power with a swathe of workplace agreements to ink with nurses, teachers, police and beyond. The swift rejection of some early offers suggest a bumpy ride.

Initial pay offers put to workers – 3 per cent this year followed by 2.5 per cent annually across the two to follow – were rejected even before the June budget, which was built on their acceptance.

Without movement at the bargaining table, nurses began protected action to squeeze concessions. They are now in mediation with government in the industrial relations commission.

The state's nearly 50,000 teachers are weighing up whether to launch their own industrial action, with a ballot to close in little more than a week.

"That's enough time for the government to read the room and make sensible decisions," Queensland Teachers' Union president Cresta Richardson said this week.

"Teachers are growing tired of empty promises, platitudes and disrespect."

For their part, Crisafulli and his responsible ministers have been at pains to show diplomacy.

Unless you're in the CFMEU.

Another not-so-subtle clue about the government's industrial direction emerged last week, with the flagging of a powerful commission of inquiry into the construction union.

This had been sparked by an administrator-commissioned report into its use of violence, said to only have scratched the surface.

While its figurehead, timeframe and scope are yet to be revealed, Crisafulli said on Sunday he hoped it would be the end of the union's current business model.

But, after the fights the former Newman LNP government faced with unions, he insisted the bulk of the union movement were "people who want exactly what I want in the modern Queensland".

"That is good pay for workers [and] productivity – that balance that has to be found," Crisafulli said.

For the Industrial Relations Minister (and Deputy Premier) Jarrod Bleijie, the inquiry is not being viewed as a chance to deregister the union, which would leave it unregulated by government.

What's been described as a personal project of Bleijie's would instead seek to rein in the union's "militant" influence. He has accused former Labor ministers of enabling the union and enacting favourable laws, which the LNP was now combing over with an eye to change.

There are other quiet signs of activity from a man with a long and public sparring history with unions, too.

An April note from the offshoot Nurses Professional Association of Queensland, one of a series of unregistered groups under the LNP-linked Red Union banner, said its log of claims had been sent to the health department and minister "at the invitation of the Deputy Premier".

Bleijie's office, while declining to comment about the interaction on the record and referring questions to the department, disputed involvement. Comment was also sought from NPAQ.

This is not the first time Bleijie has weighed in on the question of broadening the range of unions open to Queensland workers to join.

Two years ago, as the then-Labor government pushed back on Red Union group efforts to represent workers, Bleijie floated a question about allowing a registered NPAQ to compete against the Queensland Nurses and Midwives' Union.

(At the time, Queensland Council of Unions' Jacqueline King said Bleijie was free to recommend a return to the "heydays" of strikes and demarcation disputes despised by employers.)

The topic was also broached in a veiled response to a parliamentary question on notice just this month.

Opposition leader Steven Miles had asked Bleijie if his government had plans to change the union encouragement policy, which lays out a proactive approach to allowing workers to organise.

"The Crisafulli government respects the fundamental protection of freedom of association and believes in choice for workers," Bleijie said.

"Workers should have the right to elect their representation in the workplace, including their choice of union."
"If the union encouragement policy requires updating, it will be to serve the best interests of Queensland public servants and the Queensland community."

Pushed for a more detailed response from this masthead, a spokesperson for Bleijie said only: "It's up to workers to choose who they want to represent them, not the government."

"NO SAY. NO SEAT. NO WAY." – WHY QUEENSLAND NURSES VOTE NO ON THE EB12 DEAL

NURSING & MIDWIFERY (HTTPS://NPAQ.REDUNION.COM.AU/NEWS/TAG/NURSING-MIDWIFERY)

The current EB12 proposal from Queensland Health isn't just a low-ball offer—it's a breaking point. It challenges the limits of how much nurses can endure before they feel compelled to take action.

We're being asked to accept:

- Just 8% over three years, despite inflation exceeding salary growth
- A "capped" inflation adjustment that guarantees real wage cuts
- No recovery of the financial ground we've already lost in EB11

The truth is stark: Queensland nurses are becoming the working poor.

We're hearing from our members that they are being forced to choose between groceries and fuel. We know of other members working overtime just to cover their rent. This is not the future any of us signed up for—and yet, this is the future being offered.

❌ What's Wrong With the Offer?

- It's a Pay Cut in Disguise: With inflation projected to exceed the offer, nurses will earn less in real terms every year.
- No Cost-of-Living Relief: The deal ignores the housing crisis, fuel prices, and basic financial stress affecting nurses across the state.
- No Seat at the Table: NPAQ and our new representative body, QN for over 12,000 nurses and midwives—have been locked out of ne

NPAQ now represents close to 20% of Queensland's nursing workforce, and the government requires 50% + 1 of all votes for EB12 to pass.

Hi there! Have a question or want to find out more about us? If you'd like to speak to one of our team please select an option below:

It's time to be heard. Your vote counts!

We submitted a detailed 25-page Log of Claims (https://8630368.fs1.hubspotusercontent-na1.net/hubfs/8630368/Final%20LOC.pdf) (Insert LOC)to the Director-General and the Health Minister at the invitation of the Deputy Premier.

⚖️ This Isn't Just a Bargaining Dispute – It's a Human Rights Fight

Since 2022, changes to the Industrial Relations Act have deliberately excluded new associations like QNCH from participating in negotiations. This strips nurses of their fundamental right to choose who represents them—a breach of international labour conventions.

It's beyond inequitable, It undermines basic democratic principles.

The monopoly on representation has blocked accountability, ignored member feedback, and left thousands of professionals silenced in the most crucial workforce decision of the decade.

💬 What We've Proposed

The NPAQ and QNCH Log of Claims puts forward practical, achievable reforms, including:

- Real wage increases that keep pace with inflation and restores our financial standing
- Retention, equity and incentives for rural and remote nursing and midwifery staff
- Safe staffing ratios based on acuity and fatigue management protection
- Recognition of our professional value—not political gamesmanship

We didn't just criticise—we led with solutions. But those solutions are not being heard!

✊ What We're Asking Now

We're not asking for luxury. We're asking for survival. For dignity. For fairness.For equality

We're calling on every Queensland nurse to Vote NO when this deal is put to ballot.

Your NO vote says:

✅ Nurses deserve real wage growth
✅ Representation should be by choice, not compulsion
✅ The healthcare system must value—not exploit—its nursing and midwifery workforce

🗳️ This Is Our Line in the Sand

📣 No more real wage cuts.
📣 No more being silenced.
📣 No more saying yes to less.

If you're a nurse in Queensland, this is your moment to be heard.
Vote NO to decline. Vote NO to working poverty. Vote NO to exclusion.

Press conference – Brisbane, Wednesday 5 March 2025

DAVID CRISAFULLI, PREMIER OF QUEENSLAND:

We've had a particular focus on nursing homes, aged care, health services, those sleeping rough, and we're doing all we can to make sure that we get those people out of harm's way as quickly as we can. There are some evacuations of some of those low lying nursing homes that are being planned and will be done during the course of the day. And in the case of those homeless, we continue to go and reach out and offer accommodation to anyone who is there and we will continue to make that offer to those in the hours ahead.

JOURNALIST: We know Moreton has a homelessness issue, have people been going around to those people?

PREMIER CRISAFULLI: Good question. Yes. The Department of Housing has gone around to all of the people, all the vulnerable people sleeping rough. All of them have been offered that short term accommodation and we'll continue to go back there and continue to make that offer for those who haven't accepted it.

JOURNALIST: How many people are still on the streets?

PREMIER CRISAFULLI: The answer is quite a few and that's why we have to keep going back and redoubling our efforts. And this morning at the disaster meeting we had the Housing Minister on, and I indicated to him to redouble his efforts to do that.

JOURNALIST: A number of charities have said there's still not enough accommodation for those sleepers that are sleeping rough. What can be done?

PREMIER CRISAFULLI: Well, I can tell you what can be done. We can build more housing, but that's a long-term play. In the short term we have to help vulnerable people, and the Minister has put steps in place to make sure that every person who is vulnerable, who is sleeping rough, will be able to have that short term accommodation. And then we redouble our efforts to do a few things and that is build an adequate supply of social housing, make sure that we have an adequate supply to get people into the market, and also attract the community housing sector to this state. And that's a long-term play. But in the short term, anyone who is vulnerable who accepts the offer will be looked after.

A registered lobbyist organised a meeting with his state Transport Minister brother-in-law for a client, a major engineering company vying to win a $5bn state government contract to build a new Sunshine Coast rail line.

The Australian can reveal that Counsel House lobbyist Pete Coulson invited Gamuda Engineering to an "intimate" budget-night fundraiser in aid of Queensland Transport and Main Roads Minister Brent Mickelberg, the brother of Mr Coulson's wife.

While Mr Coulson and Mr Mickelberg have received advice not to engage in lobbying with each other, the minister and the representative from Gamuda Engineering met and spoke at the Parliament House event.

Mr Coulson was not part of the conversation and was elsewhere in the room.

Gamuda has been preparing to bid for one of the biggest projects in Mr Mickelberg's portfolio – the Direct Sunshine Coast Rail Line, now called "the Wave" – since November, when it hired a Brisbane-based "bid manager" focused on tendering for the public transport link.

When finished, there will be rail from the existing train station at Beerwah (on the southern end of the coast) to Birtinya (part of Kawana), and then "metro" express buses from Birtinya to the Sunshine Coast airport via Maroochydore.

Before winning the October state election, the LNP promised to deliver a heavy rail line all the way to Maroochydore.

The Australian reported in June that Mr Coulson had organised the guest list for Mr Mickelberg's fundraiser, but the lobbyist said he wasn't at the event in a professional capacity and had never lobbied his brother-in-law as minister.

Mr Coulson's invitation to prospective guests spruiked Treasurer David Janetzki as the guest of honour, and described the event as a "rare opportunity for key stakeholders" and others to gain "insider access to budget insights and transport priorities".

Gamuda did not donate to the LNP to attend the event. In late May, the company tried to give the party $25,000 to sponsor the LNP's major post-budget lunch but the donation was returned.

It is understood the party wanted the company to seek a declaration from the Queensland electoral commission that they were not a prohibited donor, to make sure the LNP did not fall foul of the law banning property developer donations.

A spokesman for Mr Mickelberg's department said he could not say whether Gamuda was one of the project's proponents because the department was "currently in a procurement process for The Wave, which is subject to probity".

The departmental spokesman said there was "no requirement for a probity adviser to be present at all interactions involving a minister and industry representatives".

"The Minister for Transport and Main Roads has not been involved in any the procurement activities undertaken by (the Department of Transport and Main Roads) regarding The Wave," he said.

It comes as Counsel House added multinational transport giant Uber to its list of registered lobbying clients in Queensland in late June.

The Australian understands that when Mr Coulson cannot lobby his Transport Minister brother-in-law on behalf of clients, another registered lobbyist – Melbourne-based Drew Douglas – will step in.

Mr Douglas was a senior political and policy adviser to Victorian Labor Premier Jacinta Allen when she was the deputy premier and transport minister. Neither Mr Coulson nor Gamuda Australia responded to questions.

Malaysia-based Gamuda has won several huge government transport projects in NSW, including Sydney's Metro West underground metro rail, an extension of the M1 motorway, and the Coffs Harbour bypass.

In June, Mr Coulson – who worked for LNP leaders Deb Frecklington and Tim Nicholls in opposition – said he had supported the LNP for 20 years and would continue to do so.

"My relationship with Minister Mickelberg is properly declared, and I don't represent clients in matters under his portfolio," he said.

"I have never lobbied Minister Mickelberg in his ministerial capacity. Counsel House follows all lobbying laws and has backed stronger regulation in a recent submission to the integrity commissioner."

Introduction

A PLAN WITH PURPOSE FOR A WINNING LEGACY

In 2032 Queensland will host the Olympic and Paralympic Games in Brisbane and beyond.

This once-in-a-generation opportunity is not only a momentous chapter in Queensland's sporting history, it is also a golden platform to deliver what's needed for Queensland's future, with transport and infrastructure, tourism and grassroots sporting facilities.

It has been more than 1,300 days since Brisbane successfully won the bid for the Games, and following the 100 Day Review, expert-led assessments of infrastructure and transport, stakeholder consultation and community input – the 2032 Delivery Plan has been set. Queensland is on track to deliver a world-class Games and a golden future.

The 2032 Delivery Plan is not a sports allocation plan, but an infrastructure delivery plan. It identifies the infrastructure and venues required, demonstrating to the International Olympic Committee that the sports program can be accommodated. It is also a plan designed to benefit the greatest number of Queenslanders as possible, while delivering a successful Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The 2032 Delivery Plan includes a thriving new sports and entertainment precinct in the heart of Brisbane, where Victoria Park will become home to Brisbane Stadium, a world-class stadium to attract world-class events long after the Games.

Centenary Pool will be transformed into a new state-of-the-art National Aquatic Centre and major upgrades will be delivered at the Queensland Tennis Centre.

The Main Arena at the Brisbane Showgrounds will be upgraded and the precinct will become home to the Brisbane Athletes Village, and later transformed into permanent housing.

Regional Queensland will also be front and centre on the world stage. Major Games venues and hundreds of regional sporting facilities will be upgraded, strengthening the backbone of local communities and nurturing potential home-grown future-Olympians and Paralympians.

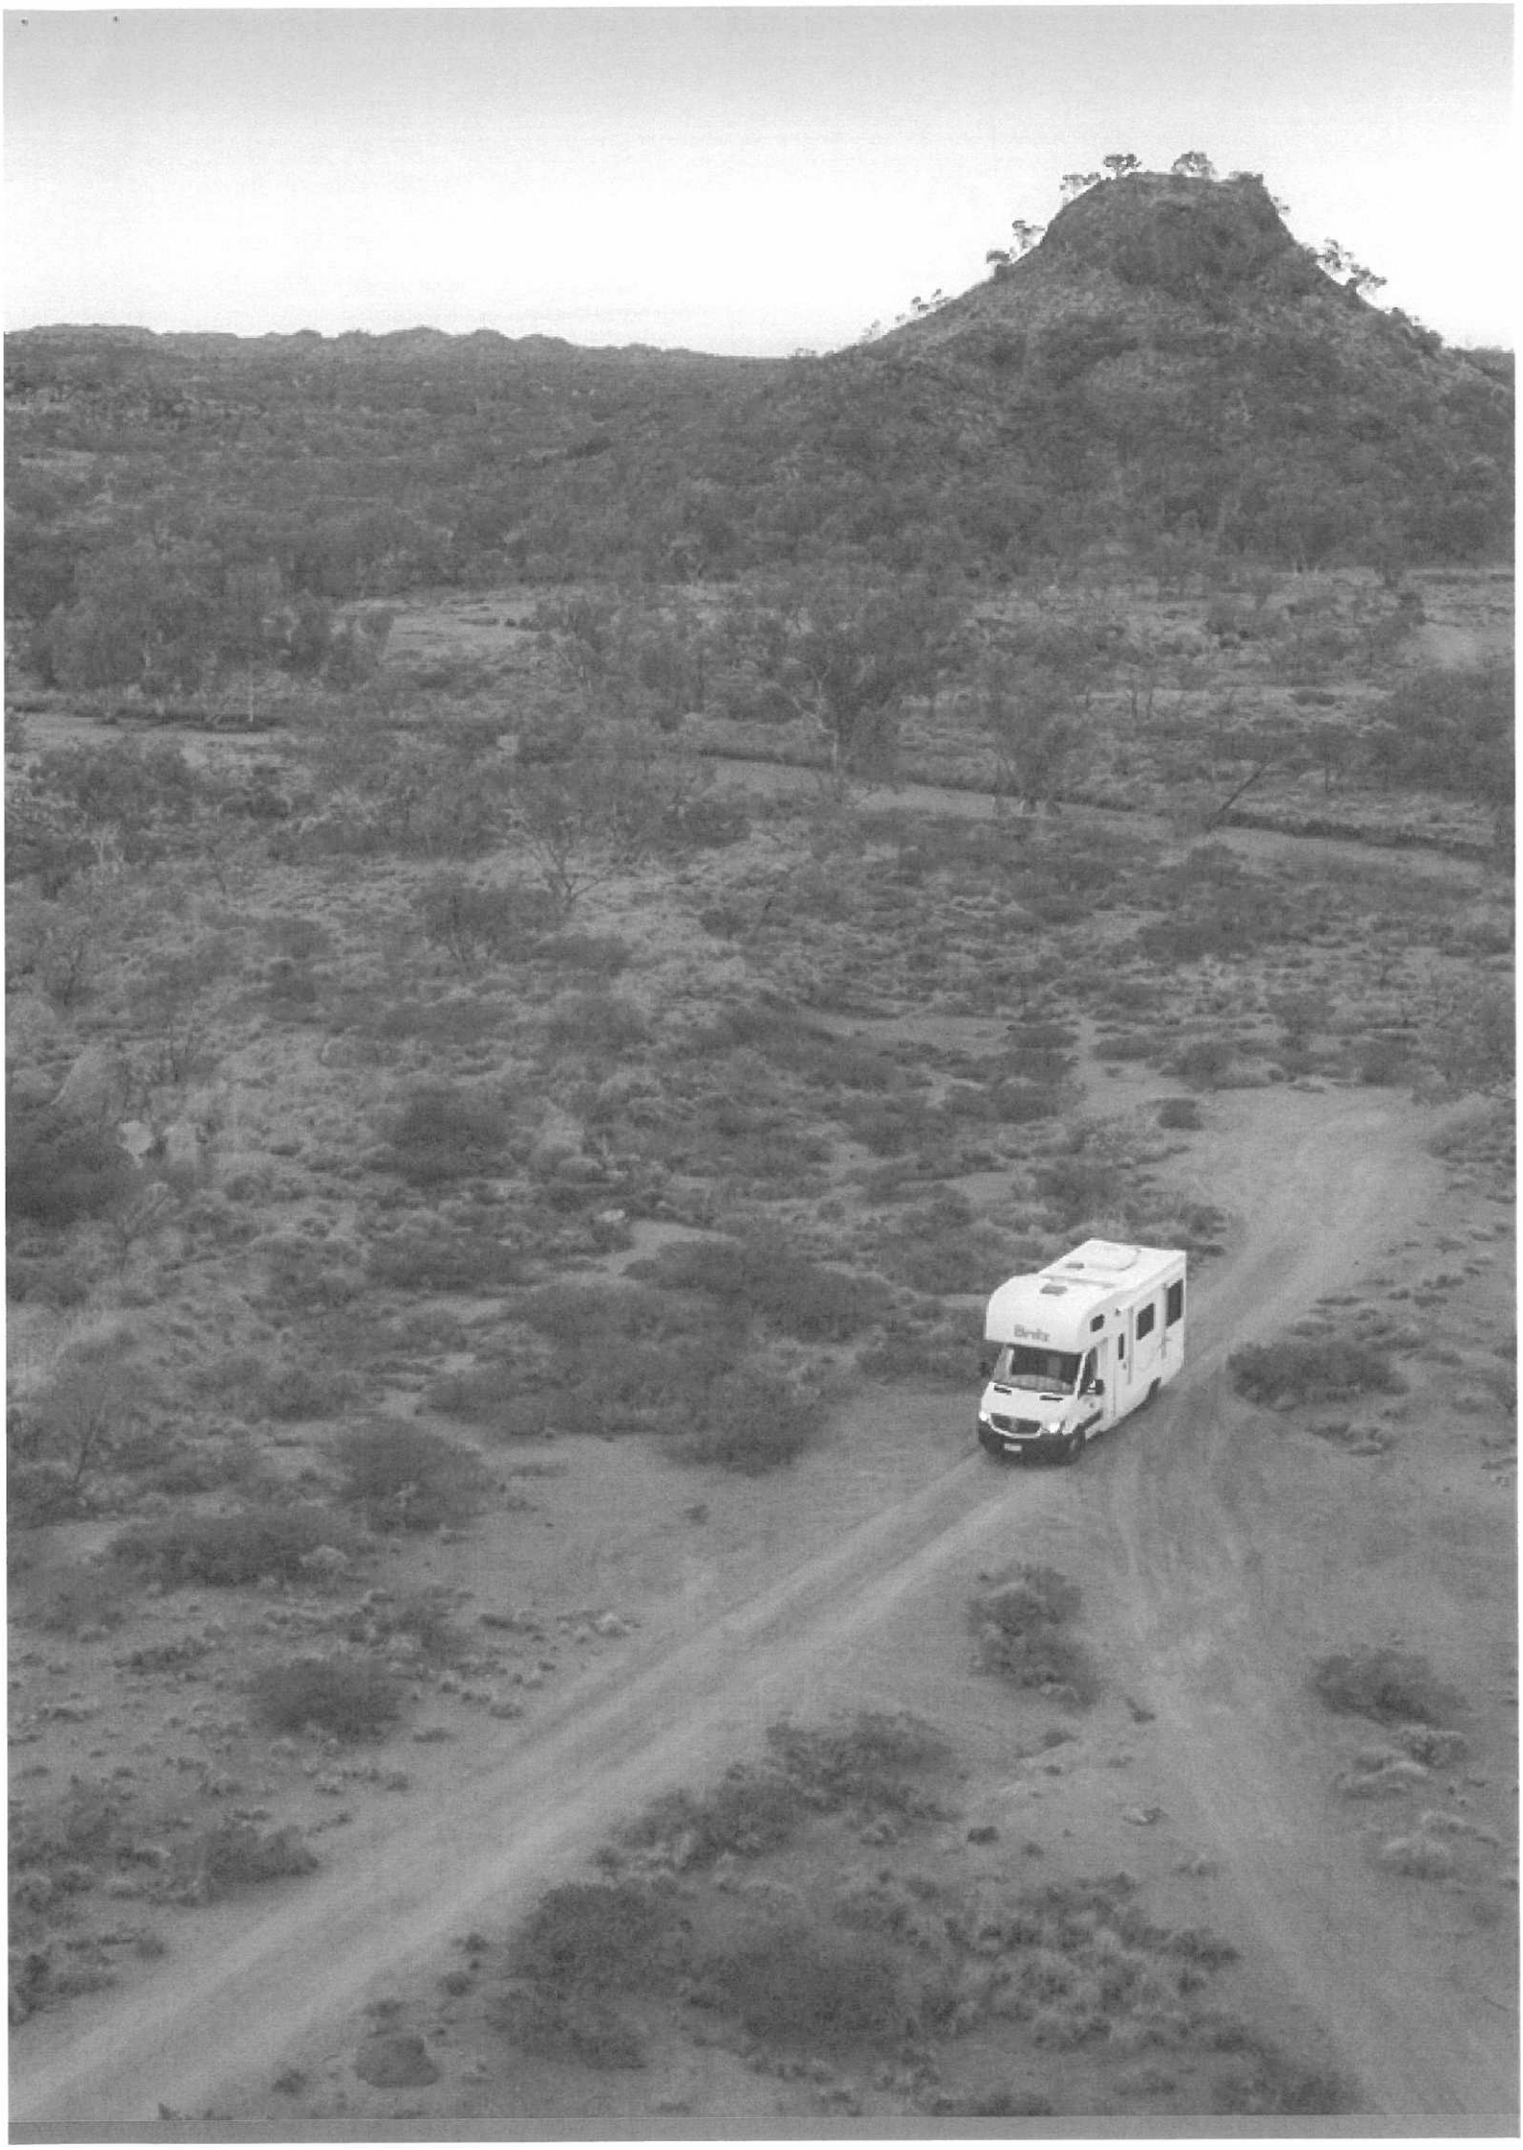
To keep our growing population moving, now and beyond 2032, the 2032 Delivery Plan includes major new public transport connections from the Sunshine Coast through to the Gold Coast, and a generational investment into road connections, including up the spine of our State with a better Bruce Highway.

Queensland tourism will be super-charged with a 20-year plan that takes advantage of Queensland's time on the world stage, with new tourism attractions like eco-tourism experiences and accommodation.

The 2032 Delivery Plan has put the Games back on track. This is a plan to build much more than what's needed for a few weeks of competition.

This is a plan that builds for Queensland's future. A future Queenslanders can be proud of as we're on the world stage.

So, let the Games begin!



FROM PROCESS TO PLAN TO PROGRESS

Rockhampton Rail Yards

On 21 July 2021, Australians everywhere celebrated the historic moment Brisbane was announced as host city for the 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Brisbane's estimated cost of venues was $7.1 billion, funded by the Australian and Queensland Governments under the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games Intergovernmental Agreement, signed in February 2023.

To ensure Queensland is on track to deliver a world-class Games, in November 2024 the new Queensland Government directed a comprehensive 100 Day Review be undertaken to ensure Queensland was delivering the right projects in the right places with the right governance.

Led by the newly created Games Independent Infrastructure and Coordination Authority, the review assessed the intricate network of critical infrastructure projects required to support the Games, ensuring projects aligned with long-term planning, fiscal and future legacy objectives. Key infrastructure, connectivity, and integration across venues, transport projects and athletes villages were considered as part of the review, under the lenses of deliverability, legacy impact, value for money, and alignment with long-term growth strategies.

The guiding principles of the review included:

- maximising the use of existing venues
- ensuring value is maximised within the agreed funding envelope
- leveraging investment
- bringing focus to legacy opportunities
- looking at integrated planning that delivers beyond the Games
- seeking out benefits for rural and regional Queensland.

As part of the Review, more than 5,800 submissions were received, alongside robust stakeholder consultation and independent assessments. A draft report was delivered to the new Queensland Government on 22 February 2025, ahead of a final report delivered on 8 March 2025, which was publicly released on 25 March 2025. The final report outlined a list of recommendations for the new Queensland Government to consider.

Alongside the review of the final report, the new Queensland Government consulted with the International Olympic Committee, the President of the Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee, the local government host city and the Australian Government, as part of the process for developing the 2032 Delivery Plan.

Armed with the 2032 Delivery Plan, the focus now shifts to implementing and delivering what is required for 2032 and beyond.

Infrastructure needs for a successful Games

VENUES

Delivery of venue infrastructure is a delicate balance between maximising use of existing spaces, while critically assessing what new venues are needed to truly deliver a world-class experience. Venue infrastructure will be funded within the $7.1 billion funding envelope, which covers new venues, such as a new Brisbane Stadium, and upgrades to existing venues. The 2032 Delivery Plan aims to maximise legacy benefits to Queenslanders from grassroots sports through to high-performance venues.

Existing venues

The International Olympic Committee's 'New Norm' includes more than 100 measures to help make Olympic and Paralympic Games more affordable, beneficial, and sustainable. This policy outlines hosts should use existing venues in the first instance and only propose new venues where no suitable existing option exists, a strong legacy can be demonstrated, and there is compelling community and economic justification for investment.

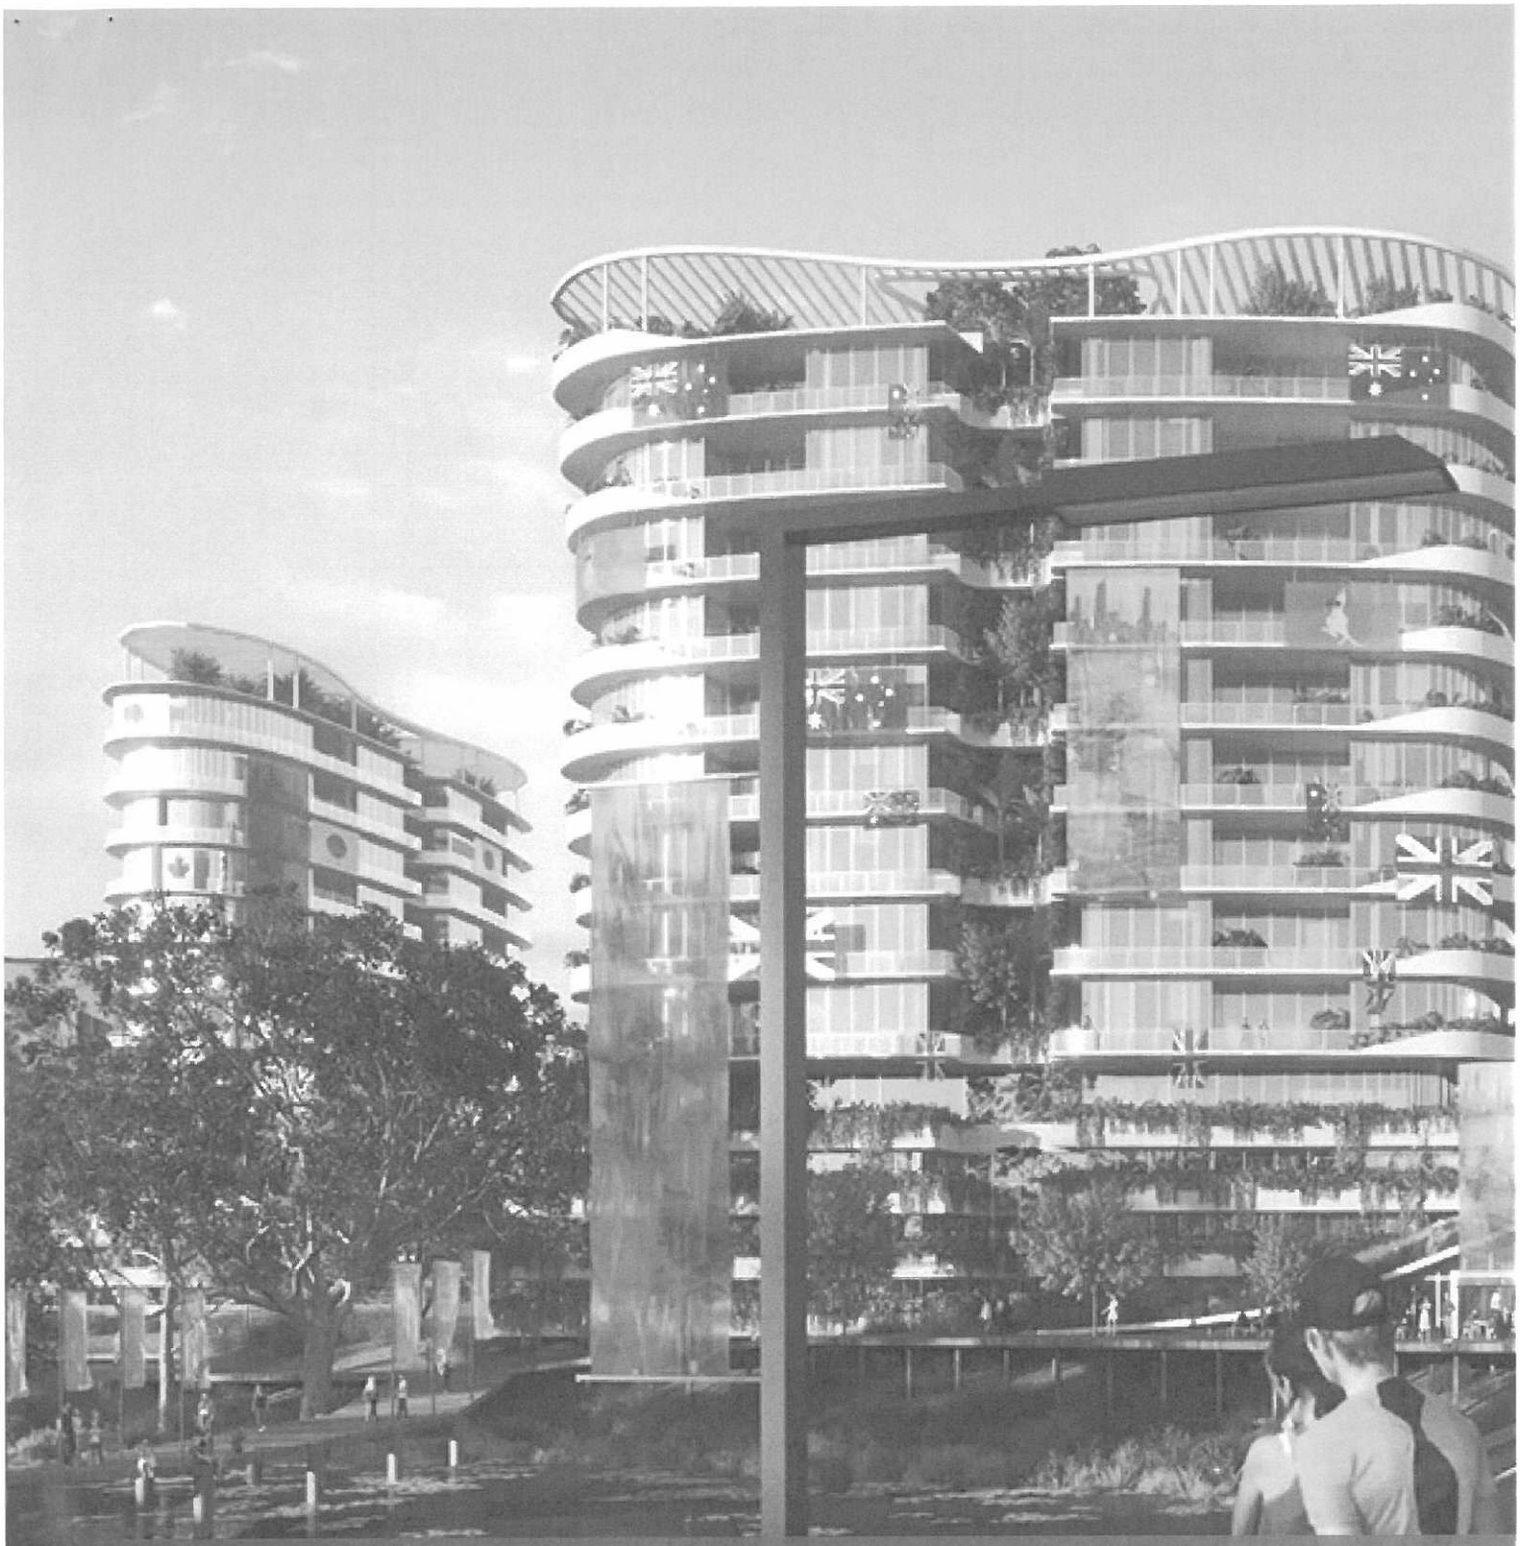
In response to this policy, the new Queensland Government assessed where events, subject to a final sports program, may be held at existing venues such as:

- Brisbane Entertainment Centre
- Brisbane Football Stadium (Suncorp Stadium)
- Cairns Convention Centre
- Carrara Stadium (People First Stadium)
- Coomera Indoor Sports Centre
- Gabba Cricket Ground
- Gold Coast Convention and Exhibition Centre
- Gold Coast Sports and Leisure Centre
- Gold Coast Stadium (CBUS Super Stadium)
- Harrup Park (Great Barrier Reef Arena)
- Ipswich Stadium (Brighton Homes Arena)
- North Queensland Stadium (Queensland Country Bank Stadium)
- Royal Queensland Golf Club
- State Netball Centre

Venues for Olympians and Paralympians to train at before and during the Games are pivotal for a successful event. Other existing venues are being determined to use for training purposes.

Temporary venues

Outside of new venues and upgrades, temporary venues will be critical and will offer another opportunity to showcase Queensland locations that would not support permanent venues, such as stunning coastline destinations like the Broadwater Parklands on the Gold Coast, or Alexandra Headland on the Sunshine Coast. Disassembled after the Games, temporary venues are often cheaper than a permanent build, ensuring funding is prioritised towards infrastructure that provides a lasting legacy, rather than purpose-built for the Games alone. These venues will be planned and delivered by the Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee in consultation with the International Olympic Committee and the International Paralympic Committee.



ATHLETE VILLAGES

The Games villages represent a central element of the Games planning and athletes' experiences. Three main villages will be located in Brisbane, on the Gold Coast and on the Sunshine Coast, providing accommodation for athletes and team officials. For sports held remotely, alternate accommodation will be used, maximising economic benefits beyond South East Queensland. In total, approximately 16,400 beds will be provided for athletes and team officials during the Games.

TRANSPORT

The new Queensland Government's vision for the Games is to deliver reliable, sustainable and inclusive transport services to Olympic and Paralympic stakeholders and spectators, while advancing the delivery of infrastructure and services to meet community transport needs before, during and after the Games.

Major upgrades to transport and connectivity are required not only for the Games itself, but for Queensland's growing population. More than two million daily trips between venues, accommodation and other destinations will be taken on transport systems, representing a major uplift to current network capacity.

Transport planning and delivery must balance Games-time transport demands and commitments including agreed levels of service and accessibility, while supporting the long-term transport network and service improvement needs.

Several major transport projects either in planning or delivery phases will be accelerated as part of the 2032 Delivery Plan, including The Wave all the way to the Sunshine Coast Airport, Logan to Gold Coast Faster Rail, Cross River Rail, Brisbane Metro expansion and critical road upgrade projects.

LIVE SITES

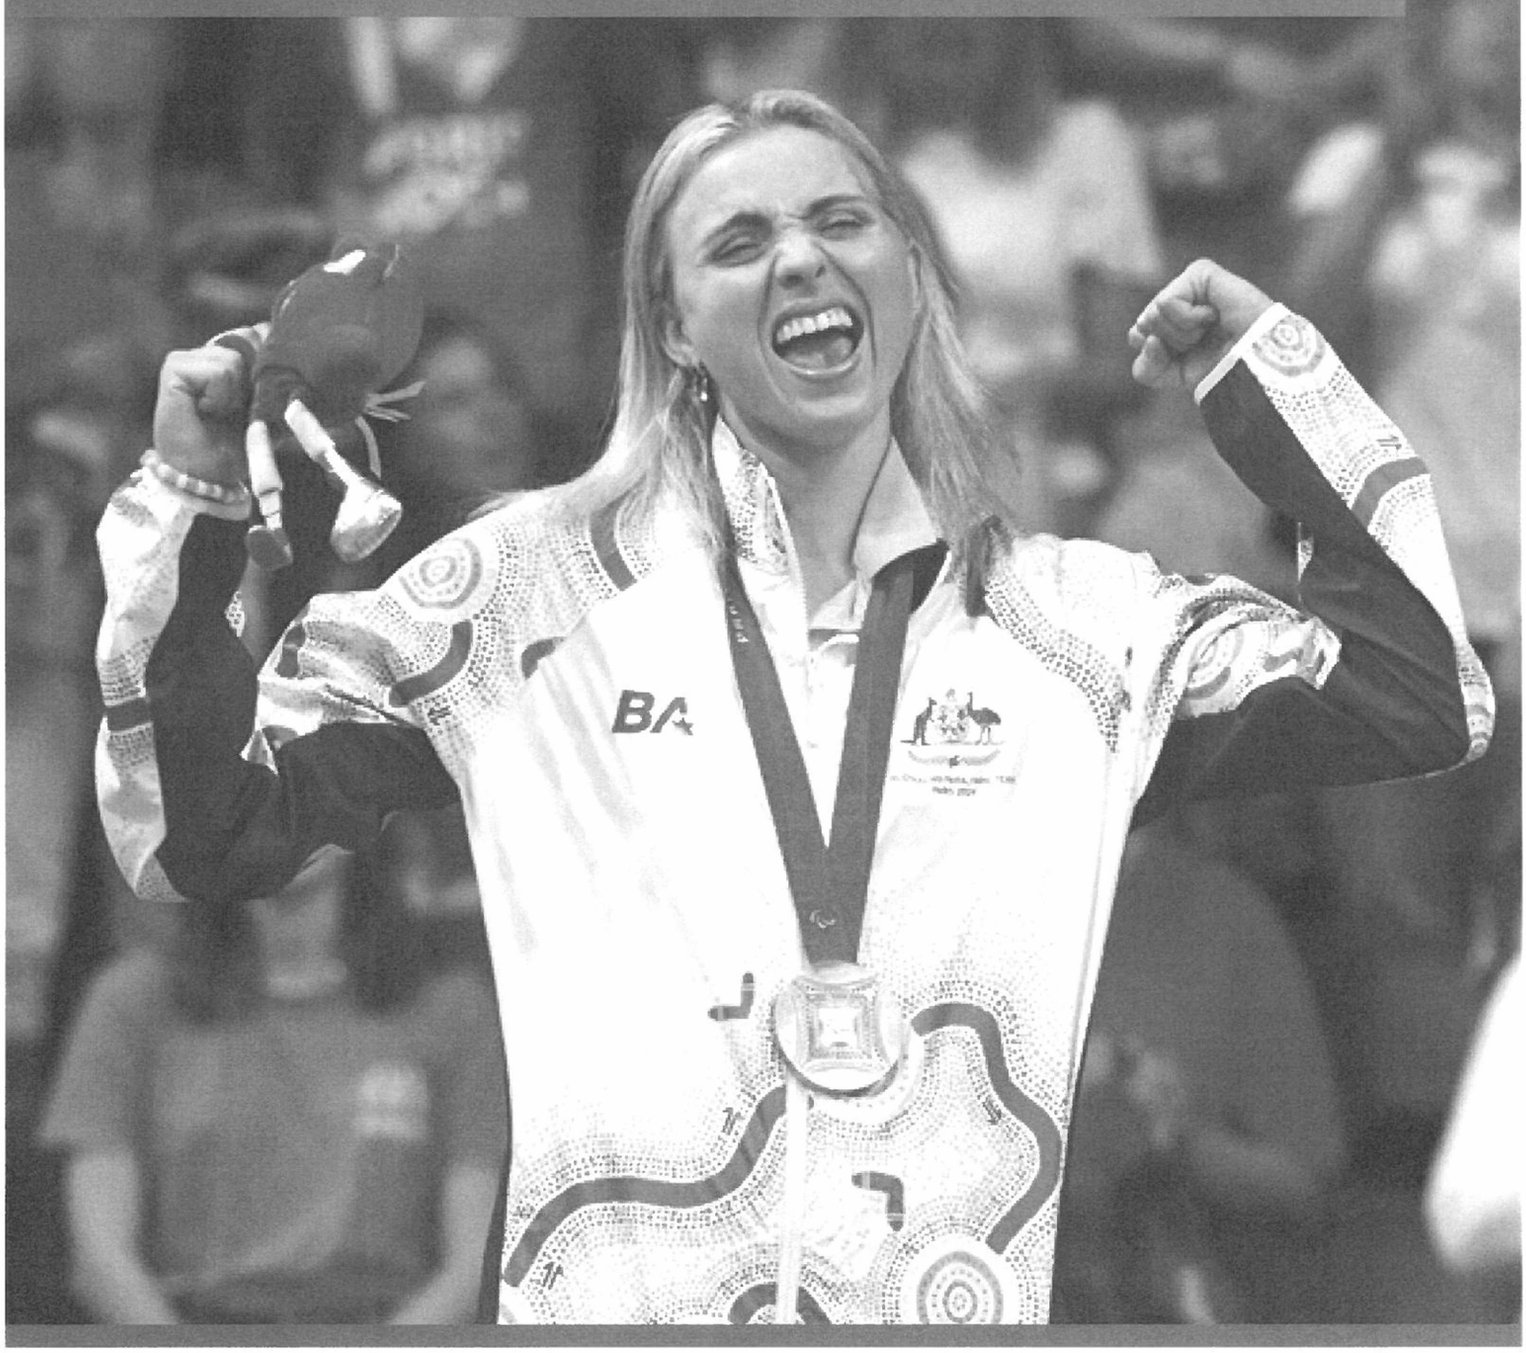
Live sites will provide communities with the opportunity to gather and watch the Games, throughout the State. These precincts will enable Queenslanders to watch events live, participate in activities and share the spirit of the Games together. Activated areas will be free to attend and allow the community to participate in the Games without having tickets to an event.

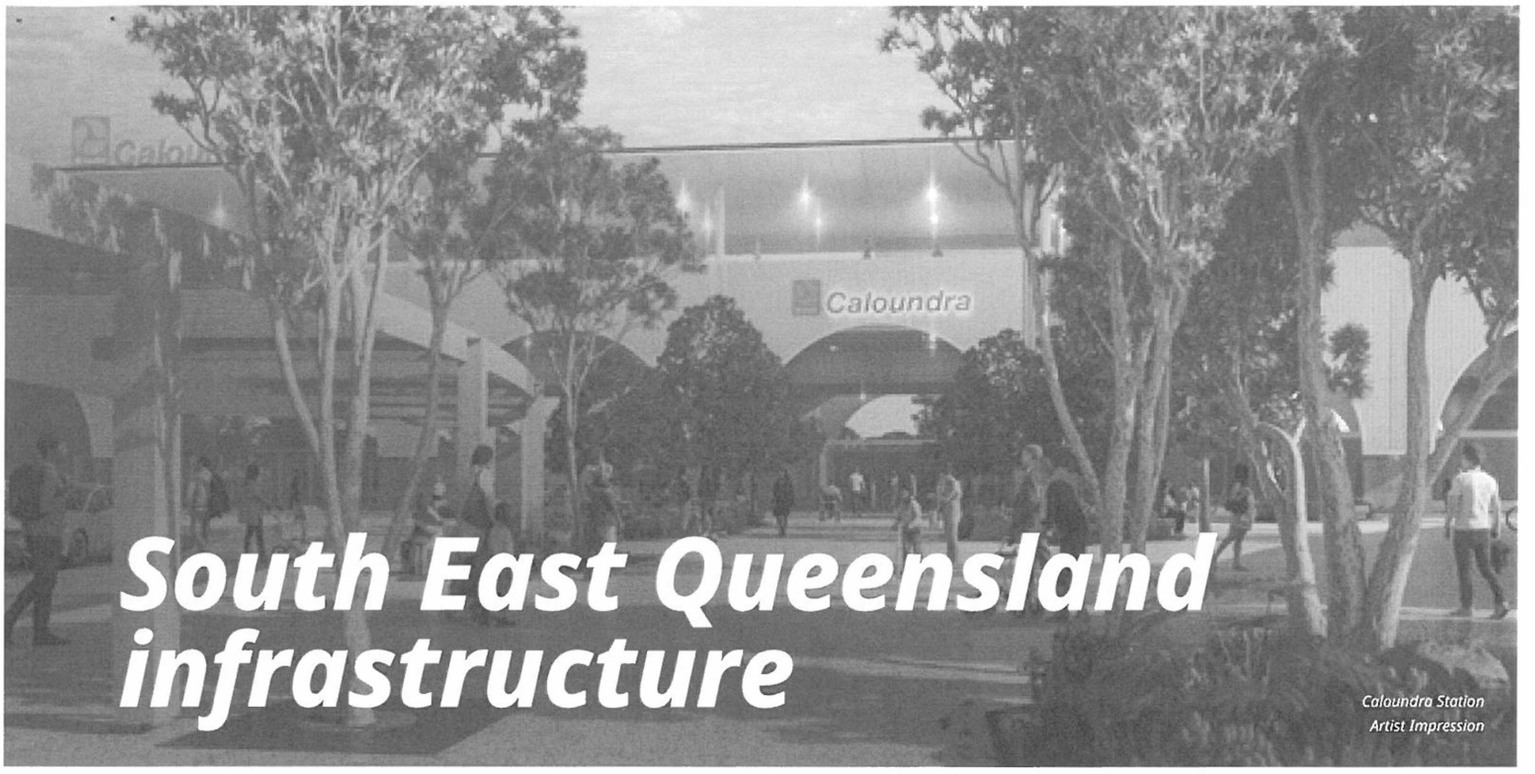
PARA-SPORT LEGACY

Supporting the commitment to maximise legacy opportunities for all Queenslanders, the existing Chandler Sporting Precinct will be upgraded to a dedicated para-sport community facility. Upgrades will include an accessibility overhaul to ensure community-based indoor para-sport can be supported in the lead up to and after the 2032 Games.

Providing a dedicated facility for community-based indoor para-sport activities will also contribute to the pathway for training high-performance para-athletes. This dedicated facility could also integrate allied health services, creating additional legacy benefits for the community.

As para-sport facilities are built, accessibility upgrades and connection to other venues and services will be a critical focus.





South East Queensland infrastructure

Caloundra Station
Artist Impression

With a growing population, South East Queensland needs development that will amplify sporting and event opportunities and get Queenslanders there, home and beyond, safer and sooner.

Victoria Park will become home to Brisbane Stadium, designed to attract world-class events, as part of an exciting new sports and entertainment precinct in the heart of Brisbane.

A new National Aquatic Centre will be developed at the site of the existing Centenary Pool in Spring Hill. Designed as a national hub for Australia's four peak aquatic sports, the Centre will feature a main and secondary stadium, each with large indoor pools to support elite training and competition. The venue will have capacity of more than 25,000 for the Games with a legacy capacity of 8,000.

The Brisbane Showgrounds will also be transformed. As well as housing the Brisbane Athletes Village, an upgrade to the 20,000 seat Main Arena will facilitate the growth of the precinct's key entertainment and events capability, and give the iconic Brisbane Ekka an even brighter future.

A major upgrade of the Queensland Tennis Centre will include a new 3000-seat show court arena and 12 new match courts which, in addition to Pat Rafter Arena, will attract even more world-class tournaments to Brisbane.

Across the city, existing venues will come alive. New indoor sports centres at Logan and Moreton Bay will be delivered, as well as a new whitewater rafting centre in the Redlands.

To get to these places, now and beyond 2032, Queensland will need a better connected and more accessible transport network. For Brisbane, there'll be new rail lines and stations, with new northern and eastern bus priority corridors, and road upgrades, which will get people around a growing city.

From Brisbane to the Gold Coast, faster rail with new stations will reduce commute times, while future upgrades to the Coomera Connector will connect growing cities.

The Gold Coast will host events across a mix of new and existing venues, including a new arena and an upgraded hockey centre to be funded and delivered by the City of Gold Coast, alongside its existing Convention Centre. The region will also be home to the Gold Coast Athletes' Village and will host the triathlon showcasing Queenslands golden beaches.

In Toowoomba, the famous showgrounds will be transformed into an Equestrian Centre of Excellence.

To the Sunshine Coast, Queenslanders will ride The Wave, a new direct rail line running from Beerwah to Birtinya, linking with a state-of-the-art metro hub that will connect to the Sunshine Coast Airport through Maroochydore. The Maroochydore CBD will be transformed with a new integrated athletes village, arena and cultural precinct.

NEW BRISBANE STADIUM

A new stadium with the ability to seat 63,000 spectators will be developed in Victoria Park.

Located centrally in Brisbane, Victoria Park offers a unique opportunity to develop a world-class stadium which will showcase Brisbane on the global stage. Its inner-city location, city views, and ability to integrate within a master-planned park make it an unparalleled choice for an iconic sporting and entertainment venue.

This stadium will be capable of hosting a range of events, such as AFL, test cricket and major entertainment events. Supporting Queensland sports, this venue will also be where future Brisbane Lions, the Brisbane Heat and the Queensland Bulls teams call home.

This new world-class venue will help put Brisbane and Queensland on the map for showcasing major events and talent, well beyond the delivery of the Games, and provides the opportunity to increase the economic and social prosperity of Queensland through increased major event tourism opportunities.

The location has enhanced flexibility for site configuration, which can ultimately balance stadium and park user needs through strategic planning.

QUEENSLAND TENNIS CENTRE UPGRADE

The Queensland Tennis Centre will undergo a major upgrade, delivering a new 3000-seat showcourt arena and 12 new match courts which, in addition to Pat Rafter Arena, will attract even more tournaments to Brisbane.

The Queensland Tennis Centre enhancement will provide significant legacy benefits by addressing growing community demand for tennis court access, and can be further utilised for future major events, including the Brisbane International.

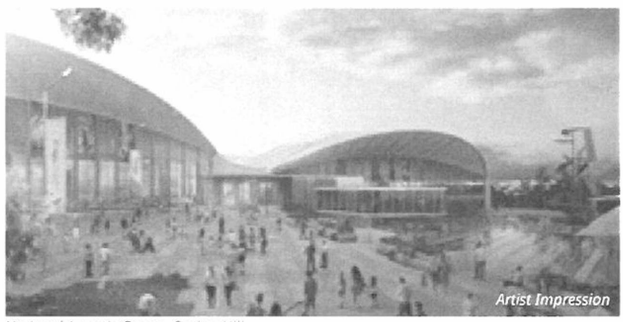
NEW NATIONAL AQUATIC CENTRE AND PRECINCT



National Aquatic Centre, Spring Hill

A new National Aquatic Centre will be developed at the existing Centenary Pool site in Spring Hill.

Designed as a national hub for Australia's four peak aquatic sports, the National Aquatic Centre will feature a main and secondary stadium, each with large indoor pools to support elite training and competition.

The venue will expand to a capacity of more than 25,000 for the Games using temporary seating, surpassing the capacity of La Defense Arena, the swimming venue for the Paris 2024 Games.

The National Aquatic Centre is planned to host the majority of aquatic sports in 2032, supported by the Brisbane Aquatic Centre (Chandler) which will undergo necessary upgrades.

Beyond the Games, the National Aquatic Centre will provide a world-class legacy facility with a permanent capacity of 8,000 seats, delivering long-term benefits for Australia's aquatic sports community.

NEW BRISBANE ATHLETE VILLAGE

Brisbane Athlete Village, Bowen Hills

Located in Bowen Hills, the Brisbane Showgrounds is synonymous with events, and is the landmark destination for the Brisbane Ekka each year.

Sitting within 1.5km from the Brisbane CBD and with close connection to public transport and major road arterials, the Brisbane Showgrounds will be transformed to host the main Athlete Village for the Games.

The Brisbane Athlete Village will house more than 10,000 athletes and team officials for the Olympics and more than 5,000 for the Paralympics.

With its proximity to the city, the Village will transform beyond the Games into permanent dwellings, to help meet the demand for housing in our State.

New life will be breathed into the Brisbane Showgrounds. As well as housing the Brisbane Athlete Village, an upgraded 20,000 seat arena will host key events, and give the Brisbane Ekka an even brighter future.

Infrastructure for growing regions

Barlow Park Stadium, Cairns

The new Queensland Government's vision for this Games has always been to maximise the Games for the whole State.

One of the primary objectives of the 100 Day Review was to maximise long-term benefits, ensuring infrastructure investment supports regional economic development and aligns with broader strategies, including tourism, and delivers lasting benefits for rural and regional Queensland.

The Olympic and Paralympic Games will reach beyond Brisbane, delivering generational infrastructure for the whole State, including a better Bruce Highway, and connections to the regions.

Cairns will be better connected with upgrades to the Western Arterial Road, while welcoming events at the Convention Centre, and an upgraded Barlow Park Stadium.

Townsville will see sailing come to its beautiful waterfront, and football to its world-class stadium, as well as key upgrades north and south on the Bruce Highway.

Rockhampton will host Rowing and Canoe Sprint on the mighty Fitzroy River, with a new athlete village being built at a revitalised rail yards precinct.

In Mackay Whitsundays, extensive upgrades to the Bruce Highway at Goorganga Plains will help a growing region stay connected and host cricket at an upgraded Harrup Park. The beautiful Whitsundays will also co-host sailing.

Maryborough will host Archery, and the Wide Bay will see major improvements including the Bruce Highway with the new Tiaro Bypass and upgrades at Walker Street.

BARLOW PARK STADIUM UPGRADES

Barlow Park is Cairns' premier football and athletics facility, made up of two rectangular fields, an IAAF-standard athletics track with grassed field, long jump pits, grandstand, and more.

The Barlow Park Stadium will receive major upgrades with increased seating capacity and spectator facilities, including a new grandstand with a permanent seating capacity of 5,000 seats.

These upgrades will deliver lasting legacy benefits to the growing Cairns region, putting Cairns in the box seat to attract major event hosting opportunities, such as the NRL, which will have flow-on impacts to the local tourism economy.

UPGRADING THE BRUCE HIGHWAY

The Bruce Highway is the State's transport spine and the lifeblood of regional Queensland, connecting communities between Brisbane in the south and Cairns in the north.

The Bruce Highway Upgrade and Targeted Safety Programs will see investment in excess of $9 billion that will improve safety, capacity and flood resilience.

Key regional Bruce Highway Upgrades include:

- Tiaro Bypass – a new four lane bypass to increase flood immunity, safety and efficiency.
- Rockhampton Ring Road – 17.4 kms of new roadway providing a western link of the Bruce Highway including a new crossing of the Fitzroy River. The project will improve connectivity to priority facilities, services and precincts in Rockhampton by increasing the number of access points to the city.
- Goorganga Plains - improve Bruce Highway flood immunity and improve safety at the Goorganga Plains and Myrtle Creek, near Proserpine.

Supporting grassroots sports

Sport is the heart of Queensland communities, keeping people connected and delivering benefits far beyond the game.

Queensland has a proud history of producing Olympians and Paralympians, many of whom hail from regional Queensland. The next generation of Queensland athletes need the opportunity to train and compete in high quality venues to grow their skills.

Grassroots sports facilities across the State will benefit from enhancements, including upgrades to Perry Park and a contribution to the home of football.

The new Queensland Government's Games On! program is a commitment to enhancing regional sporting and community facilities to give our next generation of athletes the best chance of success. Leading into 2032, Games On! will deliver new or upgraded fields and courts, changerooms or lighting, and clubhouse enhancements to hundreds of Queensland facilities across every corner of the State.

Super-charging home-grown tourism

Queensland is set to benefit from a $4.6 billion increase in tourism and trade, under the global spotlight of the Games. Half of all international visitors attending the Games are expected to holiday through regional Queensland during their stay, kickstarting a lasting tourism legacy.

By 2032, more visitors will fly directly into Queensland from around the world than ever before. Our home-grown tourism experiences like Australia Zoo and eco-tourism experiences including the Airlie Beach SkyWay in the Whitsundays, and Wangetti Trail spanning from Palm Cove to Port Douglas, will be major drawcards for international visitors.

In the run-up to the Games, there will be the opportunity to showcase Queensland on the global stage. Teams from around the world will come to Queensland to train and acclimatise. Cultural and arts programs will be delivered and the torch relay will showcase the many beautiful locations around Queensland. During the Games live sites around the state will enable communities to gather and celebrate together.

Beyond the Games, the private sector will help transform the Gabba precinct with a new arena and more housing for Queenslanders, ensuring Queensland maximises the tourism legacy opportunities. This entertainment precinct will open the door to bigger and better sports and entertainment beyond 2032.

DESTINATION 2045: THE 20-YEAR TOURISM PLAN

Before Queensland opens its doors to the world, we must ensure our backyard is ready with world-class tourism offerings.

Destination 2045: Queensland's Tourism Future is a 20-year plan under development, to harness our beautiful beaches, waterways, rainforests, bush, towns and more, as well as identify and deliver new tourism offerings across the State.

The plan will focus on:

- ecotourism
- 2032 legacy
- investment attraction
- tourism experience development
- access and connectivity
- events delivery.

With the eyes of the world on our State, the Games is a golden opportunity to boost Queensland's visitor economy for decades to come. Destination 2045 will ensure we can maximise this opportunity.

Putting the plan into action

With the 2032 Delivery Plan, Queensland is on track to deliver a world-class Games and a golden future.

The 2032 Delivery Plan is the result of a defined process, which has included the 100 Day Review, expert-led assessments of infrastructure and transport, government and stakeholder consultation, and community input.

This is a plan not only from here until 2032 to deliver the best Games for Queensland, but it is a plan to deliver benefits across the State far beyond 2032.

The Plan has been set for a Games like no other – a Queensland Games – that people across the State can celebrate for generations to come. Now, the Queensland Government commences delivering it.

GOVERNANCE

The Queensland Government will strengthen whole-of-Games governance by reconstituting existing leadership groups to support efficient and effective cross-partner decision-making and oversight.

A whole-of-Games governance structure designed to support the Games ecosystem will be established, allowing decision-making to occur across multiple entities while upholding, and not superseding, the corporate decision-making rights of each Games entity.

The Governance Structure will be modelled on the Future State Governance diagrams provided in the 100 Day Review Final Report, including the establishment of the Games Leadership Group, chaired by the Minister responsible for the Games and the Games Executive Group.

The Queensland Government will focus governance and accountabilities to oversee the Government's role in hosting a successful Olympic and Paralympic Games Brisbane 2032, and coordinate effort across Queensland Government agencies to facilitate clear, expedited decision-making on Games-related matters of importance to the State.

The Queensland Government will engage collaboratively with the Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee and other Games Delivery Partners on the development of the whole-of-Games vision, streamlining membership of the Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee's Board and enhancing its decision-making capability.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES
Queensland Government	Responsibility for other Games related matters to be retained by existing agencies of the Queensland Government and the Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee, including: • Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning – delivery of the Games Villages Program, infrastructure portfolio coordination, monitoring and reporting of the Games infrastructure program including venues, villages and transport programs. For the Venues program, the department also facilitates investment decisions, administers the Intergovernmental Agreement (IGA) and Federation Funding Agreement (FFA) with the Australian Government, and facilitates approval pathways to enable the Games Independent Infrastructure and Coordination Authority (GIICA) to deliver new and upgraded venues in line with government commitments. • Department of Sport, Racing and the Olympic and Paralympic Games – Games portfolio coordination for Queensland Government entities, preparation of a Games Coordination Plan, Chair and secretariat for senior Queensland Government and cross-partner Games Governance Groups, management of the Queensland Government's Games budget, and coordination of the Legacy program and associated funding. • Department of Transport and Main Roads – preparation of a Games transport and mobility strategy and delivery of the resultant Games transport and mobility programs, including coordination with Games Delivery Partners as required. • Queensland Police Service – lead the planning and delivery of the safety and security function for the Games in collaboration with other Games Delivery Partners. • Other Queensland Government agencies (e.g. Queensland Health, Queensland Ambulance Service, Queensland Fire Department, Department of Primary Industries, Trade and Investment Queensland and Arts Queensland) – prepare for and deliver Queensland Government services required to support the successful delivery of the Games. • Brisbane 2032 Organising Committee – coordination of the delivery of the Olympic and Paralympic Games Brisbane 2032, including aspects such as sponsorship, ticketing, broadcasting, ceremonies, temporary venues, and logistics. • Games Independent Infrastructure and Coordination Authority (GIICA) – delivery on behalf of Government of new and upgraded venues to be used during the 2032 Games.

Mr Newton: I thank the member for the (milestones—are part of commercial-in-confidence

Mr MINNIKIN: Mr Newton, this system tes...g was due to run for nine months based on a December 2026 final acceptance date. That would make the opening date approximately September 2027, would it not?

Mr Newton: I thank the member for the question. I think that is speculation. I do not understand the context of the question.

Mr MINNIKIN: No, it is called the Gregorian calendar. Would you like me to repeat the question?

CHAIR: Member for Chatsworth, I would like to end the day the way we started and ensure that we are respectful in the commentary that we use with our words.

Mr MINNIKIN: Thank you, Madam Chair. If I could just repeat the question. We are talking about a multibillion dollar project here—the single biggest project of this government, infrastructure wise. This system testing was due to run for nine months—not eight, not 10, nine months. Based on a December 2026 final acceptance date, that would make the opening date approximately September 2027, would it not?

Mr Newton: I thank the member for the question. The timeframes you are referring to there are out of context, so I would need to have a better understanding. What I can say is the system testing or the operationalisation of the rail system does require a whole range of different tests to be undertaken—trial runs, staff training, emergency procedures. Standard operating arrangements need to be put in place as well as final inspections, but really the arrangements that are being put in place are ones that are lessons learnt from overseas and from Sydney and Melbourne. We speak regularly to our colleagues down there, so the milestones and the amount of time allocated is consistent with those. What is probably relevant for the committee to hear is that in Sydney they are in the process of the very final throes of opening up Sydney Metro. It is an extension of an existing railway and that project is due to be open on 4 August. However, they only announced the opening date on the eighth, one month earlier.

Mr MINNIKIN: Point of order: relevance. With respect, the project that Queenslanders are interested in is Cross River Rail.

CHAIR: Actually, member for Chatsworth, I believe Mr Newton has been quite responsive in drawing on reasonable comparative projects. I am keen to keep hearing your response, Mr Newton, so if you would please continue.

Mr Newton: Thank you, Chair. I guess the context is that these milestones are brought from insights from other projects. They are brought from experience that has come onto the project from other projects. Also, we monitor and we speak closely with those other projects. We get insights as to what is required in those phases and that informs the time that needs to be allocated to each one of those projects.

Mr MINNIKIN: Mr Newton, how long have you been the CEO? How long have you held this position?

Mr Newton: I was appointed in 2017.

Mr MINNIKIN: There is absolutely no way that Cross River Rail will be open to the public in 2026, will it?

Mr Newton: On the program as we are working at the moment, the majority of the construction will be completed in 2025 with the plan for opening to passenger services in 2026. The precise date of the opening, as has been said several times publicly, will be known as we move closer to that date because of that experience from overseas. The world's best practice is one where you keep a span of time and as you move closer and the detail becomes more available then you hone in on a specific date.

Mr MINNIKIN: Madam Chair, I will take a leaf from your book in relation to allowing Mr Newton to comment on a project in New South Wales. It was quite astounding that he seemed to know more about the Gantt chart sequencing and project dates of that project. Again, the Queensland public need to know when Cross River Rail will be opened and they will be able to catch a train, not in Sydney—

CHAIR: Member for Chatsworth, you have put your question and I believe that Mr Newton has already answered it in response to the former question. Mr Newton, would you like to remind the member for Chatsworth again what you have just advised in your previous answer? That would be terrific.

Mr MINNIKIN: Welcome to estimates, Ms Stapleton. The existing EMU, Electric Multiple Unit, trains built between 1979 and 1986 were to be retired from 2025 to coincide with the new trains coming online. Could you please advise if the retirement of these trains will be delayed or will there be fewer trains in the Queensland Rail fleet between 2025 and 2027?

Ms Stapleton: I thank the honourable member for the question. The EMUs are part of the Queensland Rail fleet. We currently have 21 three-car sets, and it is Queensland Rail's intention to overhaul 12 of them and ensure they continue in operations.

Mr MINNIKIN: Minister, in relation to the SDS, page 59, key deliverables, I have some questions about the European Train Control System project. I want to go back to the business case and compare that to what we have now. Firstly, to the extent of the network covered, the proposed scope, according to the business case, was for the surface network between Northgate station and Milton station plus the entirety of the Shorncliffe line, which is defined as the pilot line. Excluding this station from Cross River Rail to Moorooka, which is a recent $554 million extension to the project's scope, could you please confirm that all of these network sectors will in fact have ETCS on completion of the project?

Mr MELLISH: I thank the member for the question. I am happy to correct the member at first in terms of the premise of his question. ETCS is not a specific project; it is a program of works. This is more than one project and this is about bringing digital train signalling to the South-East Queensland rail network progressively over the next decade and into the future. ETCS will increase network capacity by up to 20 per cent across the South-East, allowing more trains to run closer together more often. ETCS semi automates trains inside Cross River Rail tunnels, for example, helping speed up the pick-up and drop-off of passengers. It will also help reduce service disruptions through the digitisation of the network. For example, if there is a breakdown, the ETCS automatically calculates the best alternate route for impacted trains, eliminating or severely reducing delays.

ETCS is more than one specific project; it is a rolling program of works. It is like bundling up every road project in Queensland and saying that we are never going to be completed upgrading roads. ETCS will be going on for a number of years as we progressively roll it out and I am keen to continue the progressive rollout of this across various parts of the network. Of course, from time to time where that is going will change in terms of where the priorities are and where it is rolling out next, but the more it is rolled out on the network, the more trains we can run closer together, the more trains we can safely run, and the better it is for rail congestion, the better it is for road congestion in terms of boom gates at level crossings. We will never apologise for continuing to roll out European Train Control Systems right across the network.

Mr MINNIKIN: Minister, Channel 9 News has reported that the Exhibition station will not be ready for the Ekka this year due to the actions of the CFMEU. Is the CFMEU holding the Ekka hostage because this Labor government is refusing to hold this union to account?

CHAIR: Minister, I will give you some latitude in how you respond to that question.

Mr MELLISH: I thank the member for the question. I am as frustrated as anyone that it looks like people will not be able to catch trains to the Ekka using the Ekka station which was going to open temporarily for the length of the Ekka, and this is due to a range of factors, including industrial delays on the Cross River Rail project over the last fortnight in particular. As has happened in previous years, there are nearby rail stations and there are shuttle buses that can run. I will pass to my director-general to outline a bit more how that will operate, but I am disappointed and I am frustrated that people will not be able to catch trains to the Ekka.

Ms Stannard: Thank you, Minister, for the suggestion to outline the alternate transport scheme. It is important that we have a backup plan. It is in fact the plan that we used last year when the station was under construction and customers were able to use a number of locations around the Exhibition grounds. Fortitude Valley station is a key access point where customers will be able to arrive by train and access the Exhibition station. We provided a shuttle from there for people with mobility needs who needed transport closer to the facilities. In addition, the Herston busway station is also a short walk to the Exhibition grounds, so buses on the busway station will be key for access. We will talk more about that detail so that customers can plan ahead in the coming days as the confirmation comes through.

CHAIR: And I am sure they will be very pleased to be taking 50-cent fares to the Ekka.

Mr MINNIKIN: Minister, 11 of 15 possible work days have been lost in the second half of July alone. Minister, when will you take action against the thuggish behaviour of the CFMEU and put the interests of Queenslanders ahead of those Labor aligned to the CFMEU?

Updated Queensland Rail statement on asbestos present in an Electric Multiple Unit (EMU) train

Please attribute to Queensland Rail CEO Kat Stapleton:

Queensland Rail has reassured customers that the Electric Multiple Units (EMUs) trains are safe to return to service following the discovery of asbestos in a unit last week.

Over the weekend (23-24 March) an independent asbestos assessor progressively inspected the units and Queensland Rail's maintenance facility.

The asbestos was found in black bitumen paint in a sealed section on the ceiling and floor of the train, therefore when the shell of the EMU is covered there is negligible risk of exposure to asbestos amongst employees, contractors, and customers.

The independent assessor also carried out several further inspections within our maintenance facility reiterating the exposure risk to employees working in the facility is negligible.

To fully understand any potential impacts to employees who have undertaken work in the past, we will work with our Chief Medical Officer and a specialist hygienist in asbestos exposure and continue to provide advice and support to identified employees and contractors.

The safe working plan for the EMU overhaul and disposals program is being reviewed to ensure our employees and contractors are safe from exposure.

Subject: Bus Safety Forum

Dear [redacted]

I am writing to provide you with an update on the Bus Safety Forum.

The Forum was established to improve collaboration between stakeholders following an increase in violence towards bus drivers. It was the main consultative mechanism for the independent review of bus driver safety which led to initiatives such as the installation of driver barriers on buses.

While bus safety requires ongoing focus, the Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) now regularly engages with Forum members on bus safety in a variety of other ways. They include: TMR-funded network officers working on contracted bus services, quarterly forums held as part of the induction of new bus drivers which include presentations on safety issues by TMR and the relevant union, training on driver safety and de-escalation of customer aggression, and safety education targeted at schools.

Given the many other touchpoints on bus safety that now exist, regular Forum meetings are being discontinued. However, the Forum may be reconvened to discuss emerging bus safety issues if needed.

The Improving Student Behaviour on Buses Action Plan 2024 was an initiative stemming from the Forum in recent years. TMR continues to work through the actions, in particular responding to feedback received from the operator survey with regards to the Code of Conduct for School Students Travelling on Buses. Information on TMR's ongoing engagement with stakeholders on the Code will be provided shortly.

The only outstanding action item for the Forum was related to an initiative at Park Ridge State High School. TMR has written to the school and the Department of Education to acknowledge the commendable role the school played in ensuring the success of the initiative. TMR will include the trial in the list of behaviour management resources currently being compiled under the Action Plan.

Thank you for your commitment and contribution as a member of the Forum. TMR has greatly appreciated the collaborative approach taken and looks forward to continuing to work with you on improving bus safety through other avenues and your usual contacts in the agency.

PART 1 – Project Summary

1. Project summary

The Department of Transport and Main Roads and the City of Gold Coast have completed a Preliminary Evaluation of public transport options for the southern Gold Coast between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta. The Preliminary Evaluation is also referred to as the Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 4 Preliminary Business Case.

This Preliminary Evaluation has confirmed the need to improve the public transport network in the southern Gold Coast and identified Light Rail Transit as the preferred transport option. This option, along with Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades, will be investigated in the next stage of planning.

The Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project is part of a program of transport planning activities being undertaken by the Queensland and New South Wales Governments, the City of Gold Coast and Tweed Shire Council to address current and future transport problems and opportunities in the southern Gold Coast.

The program considers a multi-modal response that includes road upgrades, public transport enhancements and complementary active transport infrastructure projects.

Planning work to date has identified that a major investment in public transport could substantially boost accessibility, change the way people travel, and result in a range of economic, social and environmental benefits for the southern Gold Coast, northern Tweed and the broader region.

A strategic intervention is needed to improve public transport connectivity as part of a multi-modal response to transport problems in the southern Gold Coast.

Planning is underway to improve public transport in the southern Gold Coast and provide alternatives to car-based travel.

This is a summary report of the Preliminary Evaluation Report on the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project. It includes detailed analysis of the project options and explains the key outcomes.

2. Location

The Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project focuses on the coastal corridor between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta which is approximately 13km long. The proposed route for the public transport options is based on the route selection undertaken in the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies (2020 and 2022) and primarily follows the Gold Coast Highway. The preferred route from the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies is shown in the figure below.

The southern Gold Coast has an attractive lifestyle that will continue to support population, jobs and tourism growth into the future. It is also home to the Gold Coast Airport. At the very southern end of the corridor are the regionally important centres of Coolangatta and Tweed Heads, locally known as the Twin Towns, which straddle the Queensland and New South Wales border.

In the interest of establishing an integrated cross-border public transport system, Transport for New South Wales is also progressing planning that considers a corridor south of the border.

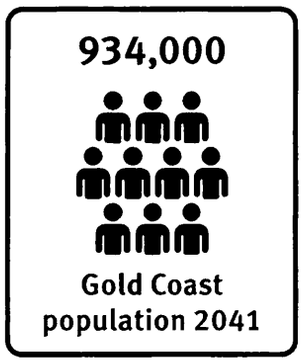
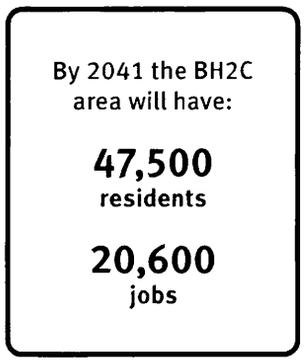
3. Background

3.1 Project context

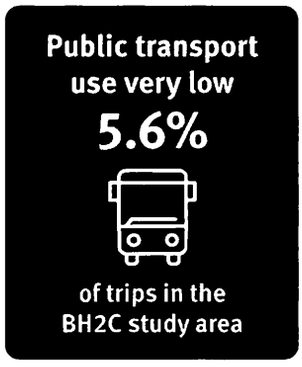
The Gold Coast is Australia's sixth largest city with a 2019 population of 615,000 residents. The population is expected to increase by 52% to reach 934,000 in 2041.

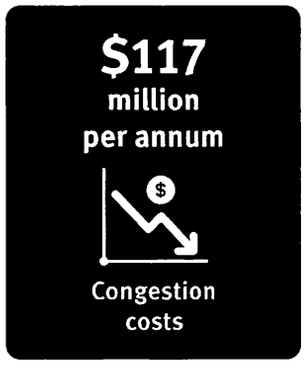
The southern Gold Coast between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta is also forecast to experience strong population growth from 34,220 residents to reach 47,500 persons (39% increase) by 2041.





This growth will bring significant transport challenges, and without major improvements to the public transport network in the southern Gold Coast, public transport usage would stagnate, and account for only 5.6%[2] of trips by 2041. The associated congestion in the study area in 2041 is forecast to represent an annual cost of $117 million[3] to the economy.





Tourism

The Gold Coast is one of Australia's premier tourism destinations and welcomes more than 12 million visitors per year[4]. In the year ending 30 June 2019, the tourism and hospitality industry generated a total economic output greater than $12 billion and added over $5.8 billion in value to the local economy. This represented 30% and 29.5% of the Queensland tourism and hospitality industry's economic output and value-added components respectively.

The southern Gold Coast is the home of the Gold Coast Airport which is the most important economic centre in the southern Gold Coast and is a major driver of the regional economy. In the year ending June 2019 (pre-COVID), it was one of Australia's fastest growing airports, welcoming over 6.5 million passengers, and directly employing an estimated 2,200 full-time equivalent employees.[5]

Gold Coast Airport passenger numbers are expected to grow to 16.6 million in 2037[6], which will place significant additional pressure on the transport network, unless there is a greater use of public transport to access the airport. The airport is expected to play a key role in welcoming visitors to Queensland during the 2032 Olympics.

PART 2 – Establishing the need for change

An event city

The Gold Coast has a well-earned international reputation as an events city, with the Gold Coast Airport supporting the growing number of major events hosted by the Gold Coast each year. An improved and seamless transport connection to accommodation and competition venues for the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games, would form an important part of the Games legacy.

Car dependency

The southern Gold Coast is highly car dependent and lacks a competitive public transport option. It is forecast that by 2041 the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta area will experience increasing congestion and declining travel reliability on all major traffic routes in peak times, including on the M1.

Without intervention, these problems will lead to declining amenity and liveability, restrict residential and employment growth, and fail to realise the opportunity for sustainable urban consolidation and future economic development of the southern Gold Coast.

3.2 The Project Assessment Framework

All major infrastructure projects follow Queensland Treasury's Project Assessment Framework[7]. This framework ensures a common and rigorous approach to assessing projects at critical stages in their lifecycle, from the initial assessment of the service required, through to delivery.

The Project has completed the first two stages of the Project Assessment Framework: Strategic Assessment of Service Requirement and Preliminary Evaluation.

This report summarises the outcomes of the Preliminary Evaluation.

While light rail is identified in previous planning documents, the Preliminary Evaluation evidences the need for investment in public transport in the southern Gold Coast, and that light rail is the best option to meet the need.

The next stage in the Project Assessment Framework is to develop a Business Case for the project.

PART 2 – Establishing the need for change

3.3 Previous investigations

Extension of light rail to Coolangatta via the Gold Coast Airport is part of a master plan for light rail that was established in the planning for Stage 1 in 2008.

The Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project Preliminary Evaluation builds on the Strategic Assessment of Service Requirements completed by the City of Gold Coast in 2021.

The Preliminary Evaluation is also aligned to corridor planning studies that the Department of Transport and Main Roads have completed. Transport for New South Wales are also in the process of completing a similar study.

Gold Coast Highway (Burleigh Heads to Tugun) Multi-modal Corridor Study (Department of Transport and Main Roads, 2020)

This study reviewed previous corridor planning to develop an updated transport strategy for a multi-modal transport corridor between Burleigh Heads and Tugun. The study included an assessment of five route options ranging from the M1 corridor to the Gold Coast Highway. It concluded that a public transport route along the Gold Coast Highway had the highest potential for mass transit to serve areas of greater development intensity and consolidation as envisaged in South East Queensland Regional Plan 2017 (also known as ShapingSEQ), since there is more development intensity along the coastal corridor. The study noted the Gold Coast Highway corridor could be transformed into a high amenity, community-focused boulevard with priority given to walking, bike riding and a world class light rail system that will enhance the liveability and character of the southern coastal suburbs.

Consultation on the corridor study outcomes for the Burleigh Heads to Tugun section was undertaken in 2020 and 2021.

Public transport needs in the southern Gold Coast and northern Tweed region Strategic Assessment (City of Gold Coast, 2021)

The Strategic Assessment identified cross-border problems and opportunities and suitable responses associated with travel demand growth in the southern Gold Coast and northern Tweed Shire area. It identified that there is a strong need for a major intervention to improve public transport in the southern Gold Coast and that there would be significant benefits of extending the public transport system into the northern region of Tweed Shire.

Gold Coast Highway (Tugun to Coolangatta) Multi-modal Corridor Study (Department of Transport and Main Roads, 2022) and Tweed Heads to Tweed Heads South Multi-modal Corridor Study (Transport for New South Wales, 2022)

The Department of Transport and Main Roads and Transport for New South Wales both embarked on similar corridor studies. These studies were to build on the Burleigh Heads to Tugun study completed in 2020 looking at the corridor south from Tugun into New South Wales.

The Gold Coast Highway Tugun to Coolangatta Multi-Modal Corridor Study was completed in 2022. It confirmed light rail as the preferred mode of public transport and investigated the potential route options between Tugun and Coolangatta. Consultation on the corridor study outcomes for the Tugun to Coolangatta section was undertaken in 2022.

The outcomes of the Tweed Heads to Tweed Heads South Multi-Modal Corridor Study are not yet known.

4. Strategic rationale

The purpose of the Preliminary Evaluation is to provide sufficient information to enable Government decision makers to make an informed decision on whether to proceed further with the project and invest in a Detailed Business Case. This process includes reconfirming the need for the project, developing and assessing potential options to address the need, and making recommendations to Government on the project options that should proceed to the business case based on the priority and affordability of the project options. This section confirms the need for investment in public transport in the southern Gold Coast by documenting the challenges and opportunities that the southern Gold Coast will face in the future.

4.1 Challenges and opportunities

To accommodate future population growth, the Gold Coast will require 158,900 new dwellings over the period from 2016 to 2041, with 80% of these dwellings to be provided through urban consolidation as outlined in ShapingSEQ[8]. This means that 127,120 new dwellings need to be provided in existing urban areas.

The Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project area forms part of a larger 'urban corridor' that is planned to accommodate a significant proportion of the Gold Coast's future population growth through urban consolidation. The urban corridor extends from Helensvale in the north to the Gold Coast central business district at Southport and along the coastline to the Gold Coast Airport and Coolangatta in the south. This corridor is a strategic priority for the Queensland Government and the City of Gold Coast.

The South East Queensland Regional Transport Plans 2021[9] and the Gold Coast City Transport Strategy 2031[10] both identify the strategic importance of the coastal 'urban corridor' by highlighting the need for improved public transport, including between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta.

The key challenges and opportunities identified that will be fully or partly addressed or enhanced by improved public transport between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta.

Increasing transport demand from an increasing population	Low public transport use and the need to get people out of their cars and on to improved public transport	Limited cross-border public transport connectivity
Transport congestion and safety issues	Lack of jobs in the area and limited connectivity between economic activity centres	Challenge to manage urban sprawl as the region grows

Part 2 – Establishing the need for change

Increased transport demand from an increasing population

Population, employment and visitor growth will substantially increase travel demand in the southern Gold Coast and place increasing pressure on the road network.

Travel demand in the southern Gold Coast and northern Tweed Shire area is forecast to increase by 32% by 2041, with an increase of 68,752 daily person trips.[11]

The Gold Coast Airport has forecast growth in passenger numbers of 146% over a similar period[12]. The resulting 16.6 million passenger movements each year will further increase travel demand in the study area and the surrounding parts of the Tweed.

Without a significant change in transport infrastructure like light rail, only 5.9% of airport-related trips are forecast to be made by public transport, resulting in an additional 32,207 daily private vehicle trips to or from the Gold Coast Airport in 2041.

Without intervention, forecast travel demand within and through the southern Gold Coast will place increasing pressure on the road network and will likely result in negative economic, social and environmental consequences.

Low public transport use and the need to get people out of their cars and onto improved public transport

If unchanged, existing car dependency and low public transport use will result in congestion issues and further constrain the transport network of the southern Gold Coast.

Public transport trips comprised only 4.9% of all trips in the southern Gold Coast in 2019. This low public transport use is the result of high car-dependency, the lack of competitive public transport options, and an abundance of free and low-cost car parking.

While bus services will be an important part of the future transport network for the area, existing bus services cannot meet the overall public transport task in the southern Gold Coast as the public transport and active transport options are not sufficiently appealing to compete with the convenience of car travel.

Without intervention, public transport mode share is projected to remain very low at only 5.8% in 2041[13]. This would have negative impacts including increased congestion, pressure to continuously expand roads and provide car parking, reduced road safety, worsening noise and air pollution and social inequity whereby people who cannot access car transport remain disadvantaged. There would also be significant negative economic impacts caused by the inefficiency of the broader transport system without an increase in public transport mode share.

Part 2 – Establishing the need for change

Limited cross border public transport connectivity

Existing public transport services do not adequately connect the population and employment locations either side of the Queensland and New South Wales border, discouraging cross-border public transport use and contributing to car dependency and congestion.

Cross border travel is currently only available using separate bus services on either side of the Queensland and New South Wales border, with separate fare, ticketing, and trip planning systems.

This creates barriers for cross-border public transport movement, contributes to road congestion and inconveniences travellers by the additional need to transfer between services, increasing travel times and cost.

An integrated cross-border public transport solution would remove these barriers.

Limited cross border public transport connectivity

High car dependency and low public transport use, coupled with a limited ability to expand the road network, will result in significant traffic congestion, reduced freight reliability, amenity, liveability and environmental impacts, and constrained economic growth.

The southern Gold Coast is forecast to experience significant traffic congestion, causing increased travel times, declining road safety, and declining reliability for private vehicles, public transport and freight. Congestion is forecast to result in significant economic costs as well as consequential impacts on the environment and residential amenity.

There is little space to build new road corridors or widen existing ones and the ability to further upgrade the sections of the M1 in the study area is limited by a highly constrained corridor. This suggests a clear need for alternative approaches to cater for forecast growth in travel demand.

By increasing the emphasis on transport investments to support public and active transport, the relevant governments can achieve improved quality of life in the local region, as well as supporting national, state and local imperatives to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and support the achievement of net zero emissions by 2050.

Part 2 – Establishing the need for change

Lack of jobs in the area and limited connectivity between major economic activity centres

Declining connectivity in the southern Gold Coast will restrict economic growth and will not realise the economic potential of the Gold Coast Airport or the broader Southern Gateway Regional Economic Cluster.

The southern Gold Coast has significantly more residents than jobs, despite the jobs created by the Gold Coast Airport. The area's largest centre, Coolangatta, has historically underperformed as an economic centre. In 2019, the limited employment in the area resulted in 79% of commuter trips being made to destinations outside the southern Gold Coast.

Existing public transport services restrict connectivity to economic activity centres, in particular between the Gold Coast Airport and key tourist destinations such as Surfers Paradise, Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta, resulting in approximately 94% of trips to and from the Gold Coast Airport being made by private vehicle.

These trends are forecast to continue and will contribute to congestion while negatively impacting the area's economic competitiveness, attractiveness to visitors and liveability.

Part of the Southern Gateway Regional Economic Cluster, the Gold Coast Airport and neighbouring Southern Cross University represent a major opportunity to develop an aviation industry cluster that could support an increase in the quantity of highly skilled jobs in the study area. A major intervention to improve transport accessibility in the study area would boost the economic competitiveness of the southern Gold Coast by providing better and more efficient access to the Gold Coast Airport, supporting the economic performance of Coolangatta, and increasing local employment.

Improved public transport access to the Gold Coast Airport would also support the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games by providing connectivity to accommodation and competition venues. More broadly than the Games, the Gold Coast is an event city with an events calendar that expands every year as the City's reputation for world class events grows. Major events include the Pacific Air Show Gold Coast, Magic Millions, Gold Coast 500, the Coolangatta Gold and Cooly Rocks On, and Blues on Broadbeach. High quality transit is essential to service and facilitate existing events and continue to promote the growth in visitation to the Gold Coast.

Without intervention, the southern Gold Coast may become a dormitory area for jobs in other parts of the Gold Coast, the South East Queensland region, and northern New South Wales, and the area could fail to realise its economic potential.

Lack of jobs in the area and limited connectivity between major economic activity centres

Increasing congestion and travel times will negatively impact local amenity, liveability and economic activity, and will not support the residential and employment growth needed to meet Government benchmarks for urban consolidation in the southern Gold Coast.

Without intervention, the area is forecast to experience declining amenity and liveability and will not adequately support the achievement of the 80% urban consolidation benchmark needed to meet future growth expectations for the Gold Coast and reduce urban sprawl as outlined in ShapingSEQ.

However, with intervention to enhance connectivity and accessibility of the southern Gold Coast, the area could play a greater role in achieving the 80% benchmark. Investment in a sustainable and connected transport system would protect and enhance the liveability of communities within the area and enable long-term sustainable development.

4.2 Project objectives

To overcome the identified challenges and leverage the opportunities, a number of objectives (or service requirements) have been developed for the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project to frame how the project progresses.

Objective	Description
Efficient, reliable, connected, accessible and safe integrated transport network	A multi-modal transport solution would provide an efficient transport network that meets the needs of various users and supports planned urban consolidation and the economic potential of the southern Gold Coast.
Enhanced public transport connectivity to essential services and key destinations (including across the border)	Improved public transport, as the primary means of moving more people more efficiently, is essential to managing forecast travel demand within and beyond the southern Gold Coast, reducing traffic congestion and associated environmental impacts, and increasing uptake in public transport services.
Supporting the delivery of reliable and efficient transport between key locations (the airport, venues, key event locations and accommodation) during major events	Improved public transport connectivity between the Gold Coast Airport and major destinations across the Gold Coast as part of the city-wide public transport network.
Maximised regional economic growth	Increased employment and economic activity within the southern Gold Coast, in particular at Coolangatta and the Gold Coast Airport precinct, as part of the Southern Gateway Regional Economic Cluster, would increase jobs while reducing demand for travel beyond the area.
Preserved and enhanced liveability and environmental quality	Improved transport connectivity would reduce car-dependency and congestion impacts, enhance community amenity and liveability and support greater demand to live and work in the area. Prioritising public and active transport can improve the quality of life in the region and support the achievement of national and state targets to achieve net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050.
Sustainable and attractive urban development	A strategic, city-shaping transport response would accelerate dwelling and employment growth, enabling the area to realise the opportunity for long-term, sustainable urban consolidation.

Part 3 – Options assessment

5. Options shortlisting

A core component of the Preliminary Evaluation is a comprehensive options analysis process. The purpose of the options analysis process is to generate and assess a range of project options to address the strategic need for transport improvements in the southern Gold Coast.

The options analysis process was developed in accordance with the Infrastructure Australia Assessment Framework, which applies a less costly method of analysis to a longlist of options before using more resource intensive methods to assess a shortlist of options.

A phased options analysis process was undertaken for the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project to determine the preferred options. The process involved four phases, as shown below. This section details phase 1, 2, and 3. Phase 4 is discussed in Section 6 of this report.

PHASE 1 – LONGLIST

PHASE 2 – SHORTLIST

PHASE 4 – DETAILED ANALYSIS

The primary tool used on the options analysis process is the multi-criteria analysis. This is an assessment methodology used to select a preferred option by evaluating the overall performance of options against a series of criteria. The multi-criteria analysis forms an integral part of the Department of Transport and Main Roads' project decision-making and investment process.

PHASE 1 – LONGLIST

5.1 Phase 1 - Longlist

Phase 1 reviewed and confirmed the options analysis from the Strategic Assessment of Service Requirement. The longlist included an assessment of 13 options such as improvements to existing road networks, augmentation of public transport services and infrastructure assets, road space reallocation, active transport, and improving connectivity to the heavy and light rail networks. This identified 11 infrastructure and non-infrastructure options that met the project objectives and were progressed to the next phase for further assessment.

One of the longlist options not progressed was the heavy rail extension of the Gold Coast Rail Line from Varsity Lakes to the Airport. Heavy rail is considered a complementary project for a mature transport network, not an alternative option.

Part 3 – Options assessment

PHASE 2 – SHORTLIST

5.2 Phase 2 – Shortlist

In Phase 2, a multi-criteria analysis was undertaken on the 11 remaining options.

The criteria considered strategic project objectives, including transport network and car dependency, urban development, lifestyle and amenity, cross-border integration, employment and community, and economic growth.

The longlist of 11 options was evaluated using a qualitative multi-criteria analysis involving subject matter experts from the Department of Transport and Main Roads, the City of Gold Coast, and industry to develop a shortlist of options to progress to further scope refinement. The shortlist of options and a brief description of each option was:

- Bus Service Enhancements – additional services throughout the day and additional service hours
- Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades – same as above with a few bus jumps, bus stop upgrades and upgraded walking and bike riding connections
- Bus Lanes with Bridge Widening – additional bus only lane in each direction following the same route as the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies (refer to Section 3.3 of this report) including widening of the existing bridges at Tallebudgera and Currumbin Creeks
- Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening – same as above but the existing bridges at Tallebudgera and Currumbin Creeks are maintained and not widened
- Road Upgrades to improve Traffic Capacity – additional general purpose traffic lane following the same route as the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies (refer to Section 3.3 of this report)
- Light Rail Transit – an extension of the existing Gold Coast Light Rail system following the same route as the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies (refer to Section 3.3 of this report)
- Bus Rapid Transit – same as above except the vehicle is a bus similar to the Brisbane Metro vehicle.

The bus-based options were all considered to meet Queensland's Zero Emission Vehicle Strategy which states "every new TransLink funded bus added to the fleet from 2025 in South East Queensland will be a zero-emission bus".

PHASE 3 – PREFERRED OPTION/S

5.3 Phase 3 – Preferred Options

In Phase 3, a more detailed options analysis was undertaken to identify a shortlist of options to progress to the detailed analysis in the Preliminary Evaluation. This assessment included a quantitative multi-criteria analysis and a rapid Cost Benefit Analysis.

5.3.1 Quantitative Multi-criteria Analysis

The quantitative multi-criteria analysis included more detailed analysis of the options using strategic transport modelling, cost estimates, concept designs, and land use analysis to inform the assessment.

The criteria for the quantitative multi-criteria analysis included:

- Transport outcomes – improving the performance of the public transport network and to reduce the impacts of congestion
- Land use outcomes – meeting the urban consolidation targets for the Gold Coast and helping to reduce urban sprawl
- Employment and economic activity – improving access to jobs by public transport and increasing the number of jobs in the southern Gold Coast
- Community acceptance – improving public amenity and stakeholder acceptance of the option
- Operational integration – the ease of integrating the project option with the existing Gold Coast transport network.

The list of options from best (1) to worst (7) performing following the multi-criteria analysis was:

1. Light Rail Transit
2. Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening
3. Bus Lanes with Bridge Widening
4. Bus Rapid Transit
5. Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrade
6. Road Upgrades to improve Traffic Capacity
7. Bus Service Enhancements.

5.3.2 Rapid Cost Benefit Analysis

A rapid Cost Benefit Analysis was undertaken following the quantitative multi-criteria analysis to confirm the preferred options for detailed analysis. The rapid Cost Benefit Analysis monetised the key benefits and compared these to the costs of delivering and operating each option.

The rapid Cost Benefit Analysis supported the rankings from the multi-criteria analysis process and provided additional information to confirm the three preferred options for more detailed analysis.

The outcomes of the rapid Cost Benefit Analysis are summarised below:

- Bus Rapid Transit and Light Rail Transit have similar economic costs and benefits. However, Bus Rapid Transit was not progressed as explained in section 5.4.
- Road Upgrades to improve Traffic Capacity scored the lowest in the quantitative multi-criteria analysis and had the least benefit in the rapid Cost Benefit Analysis. This option was not recommended to proceed.
- The Bus Service Enhancements represents a relatively low-cost option. The Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades gains additional benefits for a low cost and should be considered in the shortlisted options.
- Bus Lanes with and without Bridge Widening achieves very similar economic benefits. However there is little benefit to bus travel times by providing wider bridges across the creeks and the additional cost reduces the viability of this option.

The options with the highest benefit on the multi-criteria analysis and rapid Cost Benefit Anaylsis were progressed to Phase 4. These options were:

- Light Rail Transit
- Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades
- Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening

5.4 Bus Rapid Transit considerations

Bus Rapid Transit has evolved as a public transport option. It will be used in the City of Brisbane to deliver increased capacity and journey time reliability within busway corridors as per the Brisbane Metro Project.

Bus Rapid Transit was considered for the delivery of public transport services between Burleigh Heads and Coolangatta but was excluded from further consideration for the following key reasons:

- By 2026 there will be three stages of Gold Coast Light Rail operating along the coastal urban corridor. A Bus Rapid Transit option in the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta corridor would introduce a new public transport technology with a need for separate contracting, operating and maintenance requirements, including:
  - » Associated development costs to establish a standalone Bus Rapid Transit depot, stabling and operating system.
  - » Significant capital cost to construct the Bus Rapid Transit pavement for the length of the corridor and the integration of turnaround infrastructure.
  - » Additional land requirements compared to Light Rail Transit as the Bus Rapid Transit vehicle requires a wider corridor and the station platforms are wider.
  - » The Bus Rapid Transit is single direction in travel having a driver compartment at the front of the vehicle, compared to Light Rail Transit which is bi-directional with a driver compartment at each end. This means to vehicles needs to complete a 180 degree turnaround at the end of the line.
  - » Additional forced interchanges at Burleigh Heads and increased complexity of incorporating three forms of public transport (Light Rail Transit, Bus Rapid Transit and standard buses) with over 11,000 transfers per day forecast in 2041.

The interchange at Burleigh Heads would require passengers to walk over 200 metres and cross two signalised intersections.

- Bus Rapid Transit vehicles have a lower capacity and are forecast to be operating near capacity by 2041 based on the transport modelling outcomes. By comparison, Light Rail Transit is forecast to still have sufficient capacity to meet ongoing demand growth.

The Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 1 Business Case included a detailed assessment of Light Rail Transit and Bus Rapid Transit technologies including transport modelling, whole of life cost and financial assessment, risk assessment, and economic assessment. Light Rail Transit was demonstrated to be a superior solution especially from a customer experience perspective and was chosen as the preferred option in 2009. Bus Rapid Transit was also re-considered in the Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 3 Detailed Business Case, with light rail once again being confirmed as the preferred option.

Given these considerations and a similar range of cost to implement, Bus Rapid Transit does not present a viable alternative to the Light Rail Transit within the context of this project and the surrounding public transport network and did not warrant further consideration in the Preliminary Evaluation.

PHASE 4 – DETAILED ANALYSIS

6. Phase 4 – Detailed analysis

Phase 4 of the Preliminary Evaluation was the most complex and intensive. For this, engineering drawings of each option were developed along with an operations strategy. This allowed a comprehensive assessment and comparison of the likely impacts, both positive and negative.

The three shortlisted options mentioned at the end of Section 5.3 were analysed in further detail in the Preliminary Evaluation including:

- Risk analysis and cost estimate
- Transport demand modelling and analysis
- Land use analysis
- Economic analysis
- Legislative, regulatory and environmental analysis
- Community engagement
- Social impact evaluation
- Sustainability.

6.1 Project options – design

The three shortlisted project options were developed through a technical design process that defined how the options would integrate with the existing road network and public transport operations. All three options were designed to:

- Generally be contained within the defined project corridor (as identified in the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Study).
- Integrate with existing bus services and light rail services at the future Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 3 Burleigh Heads Light Rail station.
- Maintain four general traffic lanes (that is, two traffic lanes in each direction) along the Gold Coast Highway.
- Provide facilities for pedestrians and bike riders.
- Provide safe pedestrian crossings.
- Minimise impacts to existing on-street car parking.
- Be compatible with a future zero emission fleet.

The design process sought to minimise potential property impacts as well as potential impacts on the Burleigh Head National Park and the Gold Coast Airport.

Importantly, the Light Rail Transit and Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening options include a new fauna bridge over the Gold Coast Highway linking Burleigh Head National Park and Burleigh Ridge Park.

The three shortlisted project options are described in detail on the next page.

Light Rail Transit

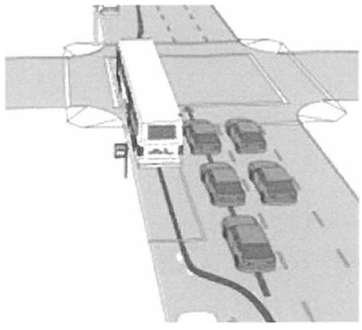
Light Rail Transit proposes an extension of Gold Coast Light Rail from Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta via Gold Coast Airport (this is, Stage 4 of the Gold Coast Light Rail network). The alignment generally follows the Gold Coast Highway, Coolangatta Road, and Chalk Street as shown on the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies. This option includes an upgraded bus network to improve connectivity and accessibility to the light rail. Stage 4 of the Gold Coast Light Rail would be no different to the previous stages and includes a right-of-way for the light rail vehicles along the full corridor with new bridges over Tallebudgera Creek and Currumbin Creek. Other key features include a new stabling facility and satellite depot at Bilinga and eight new trams compatible with current operations of the Gold Coast Light Rail.

Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening

Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening proposes new dedicated bus lanes, with the exception of the Tallebudgera Creek and Currumbin Creek bridges where the buses are required to merge into the general traffic lanes. The alignment is the same as the Light Rail Transit option as shown on the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Studies. This option includes improvements to the bus network in terms of frequency and connectivity. The kerbside bus lanes are proposed to operate 24/7 and shared with left turn movements at intersections.

This option would meet Queensland's Zero Emission Vehicle Strategy which states "every new TransLink funded bus added to the fleet from 2025 in South East Queensland will be a zero-emission bus".

Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades



Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades proposes short sections of dedicated bus lanes on the Gold Coast Highway approaches (both directions) at key intersections to improve bus travel times and reliability of travel times. These are also known as bus jumps as shown in the figure to the left[15]. Additionally, some minor improvements to the existing bus stops and pedestrian and bicycle access are included in the option.

This option would meet Queensland's Zero Emission Vehicle Strategy which states "every new TransLink funded bus added to the fleet from 2025 in South East Queensland will be a zero emission bus".

6.2 Project risk analysis and cost estimate

6.2.1 Whole of life cost estimates

Detailed whole of life cost estimates were developed for each of the three options that included:

- Costs including protection and relocation of public utility and plant, potential property resumption costs and project management through the delivery phase.
- Capital costs including design and construction costs, and the cost to supply new vehicles.
- Operating and maintenance costs over a 30-year time period.
- Cost escalation during the construction phase to allow for expected cost increases over time.
- Risk allowances.

The project cost estimates used current industry knowledge and included a detailed assessment of each project option so that a suitable risk allowance could be included in the estimates.

The risk allowances are used to offset uncertainty at this early stage of project development and will be reviewed as the project proceeds to more detailed design in the Business Case stage.

The project cost estimates are expressed as a confidence level. Two confidence levels are typically reported on are P50 and P90.

The project cost estimates were developed for each option to inform the economic analysis and are shown in the table below.

	Light Rail ($ millions)	Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening ($ millions)	Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades ($ millions)
Project Capital Cost (P50 - P90)	4,140 – 4,467	2,980 – 3,250	434 – 482

These costs are presented in nominal terms and include inflation from 2023 to the year that the costs are incurred. The capital cost is the sum of the expenditure in each budget year for the construction period.

The P90 preliminary cost estimate for Light Rail, is $4.467B. This is a strategic cost only at the early planning stage, and the cost range for delivery of the project is estimated between -30% and +70% ($3.13B and $7.60B). This is to allow for unknown risks which will be further clarified and updated in the detailed business case.

6.2.2 Risk assessment

The risk assessment process was used to identify key risk items that require more detailed investigation and analysis in future stages to confirm that the project can be delivered. The key risks identified include:

- Discovery of contaminated land and or groundwater within the project corridor including per– and polyfluoroalkyl substances (commonly known as PFAS).
- Discovery of adverse geotechnical conditions in the corridor that require extensive treatment before the project can proceed.
- The requirements to protect or relocate public utility and plant assets within the corridor including power, water, sewer and telecommunications assets.
- Constructing and operating a project within the Gold Coast Airport.
- Project outcomes not meeting community expectations including impacts on car parking, provision of active transport infrastructure and changes to the local road network.
- The potential for the project to be impacted by flooding during construction and operations.

These risks will continue to be monitored and updated as the project proceeds through the Business Case and later stages.

6.3 Employment generation

The Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project will offer significant direct and indirect employment opportunities. The project is expected to generate more than 500 local jobs onsite, and nearly 2000 total direct and indirect full time equivalent jobs during the construction phase.

Detailed consideration of employment generation, training opportunities and business engagement policies will occur in the Business Case stage.

6.4 Transport demand modelling

Transport demand modelling was undertaken for each of the project options and compared to a base case to identify the range of transport benefits that could be achieved by a major investment in public transport in the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta corridor.

A range of transport benefits for both the southern Gold Coast and the broader Gold Coast transport network have been identified including:

- Increased public transport use.
- Increased patronage on Gold Coast Light Rail stages 1 to 3.
- Increased cross-border public transport trips.
- Increased public transport trips to the Gold Coast Airport.
- Reduced car-based travel.

The table below shows how each option delivers on the potential benefits. Light Rail Transit was the highest performer on transport outcomes.

2041 Forecasts	Base Case (for reference)		Light Rail Transit		Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening		Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades
	Gold Coast	Southern Gold Coast	Gold Coast	Southern Gold Coast	Gold Coast	Southern Gold Coast	Gold Coast	Southern Gold Coast
Public transport use	5.3%	5.8%	6.0%	11.5%	5.5%	7.4%	5.4%	6.2%
Public transport person trips (daily trips)	155,586	14,500	176,649	29,060	162,033	18,563	157,915	15,476
Change in daily trips on Gold Coast Light Rail stages 1-3	75,289	-	+11,552	-	+466	-	-67	-
Change in daily cross-border public transport trips	4,093		+4,583		+1,664		+813
Change in daily public transport trips to Gold Coast Airport	3,145		+1,864		+785		+151
Change in daily car trips	2,457,190	208,766	-17,354	-11,660	+2,837	-2,131	+6,115	+407

6.5 Land use analysis

A detailed land use analysis was undertaken to forecast the additional population and employment attributable to investment in public transport in the southern Gold Coast from 2026 to 2041. The land use analysis demonstrated that there is a significant land use opportunity associated with Light Rail Transit.

By 2041, the provision of a Light Rail Transit solution in the area is forecast to accelerate the provision of dwellings and commercial floor space to result in:

- A population increase of 10,127 residents in the project area compared to the base case.
- 3,898 additional jobs in the project area compared to the base case.

The land use benefits identified were a major driver of the economic benefits of the project, particularly the benefits of increased land values within the walking catchment of stations.

The land use analysis identified that Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening and Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades are not expected to unlock additional land use change in the same way as Light Rail Transit due to the lower vehicle capacity, reduced reliability, reduced ride smoothness and lack of permanency of the bus options.

Additionally, bus lanes are unable to provide the step change in transport amenity or capacity required to catalyse land use change. As such, the land use implications of the Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening and Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades, are not expected to be materially different from the base case demographic forecasts.

2041 Forecast additional jobs, dwellings and population resulting from Light Rail Transit

Note: Range reflects Conservative and Probable Scenarios respectively

The land use analysis does not rely on changes to the Gold Coast planning scheme to facilitate land use change.

Sections of the coastal edge and inland areas of the southern Gold Coast have been zoned medium density residential for many decades with the intention to support a low to medium rise, mixed use settlement pattern that reflects the lifestyle and amenity of this highly valued part of the city.

6.6 Economic analysis

An economic analysis identified that each of the project options will generate benefits for public transport users, road network users, the community, and the broader economy. The benefits come from the following categories:

- Transport benefits – travel time savings, additional fare revenue, improved station and vehicle amenity and vehicle operating cost savings.
- Community and broader benefits – reduced environmental externalities, emissions benefits, reduced accident costs, reduced road maintenance, improved access for those with a disability.
- Wider economic benefits that reflect the productivity of the Gold Coast.
- Urban development benefits – higher value land use, infrastructure and service cost savings, environmental and sustainability benefits, transport option value.

The economic analysis considers the economic costs and benefits in present value and benefit-cost ratio terms so each option can be compared on an equitable basis as shown in the table below.

	Light Rail Transit	Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening	Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades
Economic Cost (present value)	$2.9 billion	$2.0 billion	$0.3 billion
Economic Benefit (present value)	$2.6 billion	$0.2 billion	$0.1 billion
Net present value	-$300 million	-$1.8 billion	-$0.2 billion
Benefit cost ratio	0.9	0.1	0.3

The economic costs and benefits are presented in present value terms (2023) which was determined by applying a discount rate of 7% to the total project cost or benefit over the 30 year assessment period (2041). The reason for this process is that money today is "worth less" in the future as costs increase. For example, the cost of milk today is greater than it was 10 years ago. This process is current industry practice and consistent with guidance from Infrastructure Australia.

The results of the economic analysis indicate that Light Rail Transit generates significant economic benefits that justify progressing this option to the Business Case stage for further investigation. Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades is a lower cost and low impact option and should also be taken forward to the Business Case.

Qualitative benefits

In addition to economic costs and benefits calculated as part of the economic analysis, a range of benefits have been considered qualitatively for their expected impact on economic outcomes. This includes an assessment of urban amenity improvements from reduced vehicle traffic, increased uptake of active travel, improved tourism experience, reduced need for road upgrades, reliability of road and public transport travel times. Additional transport capacity to support major events such as the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games, has also been assessed.

On a benefit cost ratio basis Light Rail Transit was considered the preferred option to progress to the Business Case, while Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades was also recommended to progress as a relatively low cost option.

6.7 Legislative, regulatory and environmental review

Legal, regulatory and environmental assessments were undertaken as part of the Preliminary Evaluation. The assessments identified several legal issues that will require further consideration in future project stages, including:

- An approval under the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 will be required where the project will have or is likely to have a significant impact on any Matters of National Environmental Significance, such as protected flora or fauna species, and works on Commonwealth land at Gold Coast Airport.
- The extent to which activities will occur in waterways that are tidal waters or non-tidal water will need to be further delineated as detailed design and construction methodologies are developed. For example, while works are anticipated in the tidal waters of Tallebudgera and Currumbin Creeks, works may also occur in non-tidal waters at Flat Rock Creek.
- A comprehensive analysis of historical tenure and public works will need to be undertaken to determine the extent to which native title has not been extinguished. Where native title continues to exist, compliance with the relevant future acts regime will need to be undertaken.
- A Cultural Heritage and Management Plan or Cultural Heritage and Management Agreement will need to be prepared for the project to satisfy the statutory cultural heritage duty of care.
- The Department of Transport and Main Roads will negotiate with the Commonwealth (as registered owner) and Gold Coast Airport Pty Ltd (as the airport lessee under the Airports Act 1996) to acquire any Gold Coast Airport land.

The assessment determined that the legal and regulatory issues will be most significant for Light Rail Transit and Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening which both involve substantial new infrastructure (including multiple water way crossings) and modifications to the existing road network.

Additional considerations arise for Light Rail Transit because it involves works on Commonwealth land at the Gold Coast Airport. This will require further planning, coordination and engagement with the Commonwealth Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, Communications and the Arts, the airport operator and lessee. More localised issues arise for Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades.

The assessment found that all identified issues could be managed through appropriate planning, coordination and mitigation strategies.

6.8 Community consultation

The Department of Transport and Main Roads undertook extensive community engagement coinciding with the completion of the corridor studies:

- Burleigh Heads to Tugun conducted in 2020
- Burleigh Heads to Tugun conducted from July to September 2021
- Tugun to Coolangatta conducted from October to November 2022.

The tools used for the consultation included project newsletters, webpage, email, phone, media statements and in-person sessions. The webpage allowed the community to access all consultation materials including a flythrough video, 360 degree panoramas, artist impressions, and the concept design. Reports about the multi-modal corridor studies were released and available on the GCLR4 website.

6.8.1 Burleigh Heads to Tugun community engagement

The community consultation outcomes from the Gold Coast Highway (Burleigh Heads to Tugun) Multi-modal corridor study showed overall support for the recommendation of a public transport route along the Gold Coast Highway as a potential solution to help improve the liveability and connectivity in and around the local communities.

The community consultation included telephone surveys during both the 2020 and 2021 consultation activities. The results of the 2020 independent community market research, where 500 residents and business decision makers were interviewed, showed overall strong support for the Gold Coast Highway Multi-modal Corridor Study recommendations, with 68% of residents and business operators indicating a level of positive support. Similarly, the 2021 independent community market research where 1005 residents and business decision makers were interviewed showed 63% of residents and business operators indicated a level of positive support.

The consultation included a range of activities including 43 in-person sessions.

Other results included:

1. The light rail extension along the Gold Coast Highway between Burleigh Heads and Tugun is a clear preference (58%) over bus lanes (25%), while a heavy rail extension to the airport from Varsity Lakes is highly regarded (87%)
2. Wildlife protection between Burleigh Head National Park and Burleigh Ridge Park was rated as of key importance (84% of the community), while M1 connectivity was noted as important by 82% of the community and is the biggest overall concern for business respondents (78%)
3. Development of an Oceanway path is considered important by 81% of the community
4. The primary benefits of the multi-modal corridor noted by residents include improved walking and bike riding paths, reduced traffic congestion and a faster and easier journey for commuters.

6.8.2 Tugun to Coolangatta community engagement

The most common themes raised at the community drop-in sessions and via feedback forms (both online and hardcopy) were:

- Parking and connecting services
- Retaining the village feel and providing a green corridor
- Light rail versus buses
- Route of the light rail
- The old Coolangatta Railway cutting
- Access
- Trams and congestion.

The consultation included a range of activities including eight in-person sessions.

6.9 Social impact evaluation

The purpose of the social impact evaluation was to capture the positive contribution that the project options make to society. It also enables any negative impacts to be identified and appropriately mitigated.

In the social impact evaluation, the existing social environment was used to establish a baseline to measure the likely degree of change (positive or negative impact) in the study area during the construction and operation phases of the project.

The evaluation considered all three shortlisted options and the relative positive and negative impacts each option could have. This would then identify which option has the greatest potential to realise significant positive social benefits.

Key elements of the evaluation include identifying the social and other benefits of the proposed project, the negative social impacts to be mitigated, and opportunities to create additional social value for the proposed project.

The approach to the social impact evaluation was based on the Queensland Government best practice Business Case Development Framework Social Impact Evaluation guide (2021). The social impact evaluation uses a three-step process.

Identify impacts

Potential social impacts were identified by considering a wide range of stakeholders including road and public transport users, residents and landowners, businesses, schools, community groups, cultural heritage groups, visitors and tourists, and special interest groups.

The social impacts were identified in categories including community impacts, health impacts, intergenerational impacts, personal and property rights, quality of life and cultural impacts, economic impacts, and lifestyle impacts.

Evaluate impacts

The social impacts were evaluated by assessing the change between the experience of stakeholders of the current state and the expected outcomes if each project option was delivered. Enhancements for positive impacts and mitigations for negative impacts were identified and also evaluated.

Integrate impacts

The social impact evaluation was integrated with other analyses in the Preliminary Evaluation.

Outcomes

The social impact evaluation concluded that:

- For all options, most of the positive impacts are expected to occur during operations of the project while many of the negative impacts are expected to be temporary during construction
- Light Rail Transit had the greatest positive social impact of the project options, and is significantly higher than Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening and Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades.

The key positive social impacts of the Light Rail Transit option include:

- Decreased network congestion – Light Rail Transit will reduce congestion on the road network as more people choose light rail over cars. It also provides improved accessibility for all users including people with disabilities and the elderly as well as people that do not drive.
- Improved public transport access to shopping, work, education, and entertainment opportunities.
- Improved travel time – Light Rail Transit will improve public transport and road user journey times within the study area.
- Increased economic activity along the corridor including access to businesses throughout the corridor.

- Job creation – the project will support increased economic activity through easier access to business centres, creating attractive development opportunities along the corridor, and attract businesses and jobs to the area.
- Increased economic activity and development along the corridor.
- Support more effective urban development and reduce urban sprawl.
- Easier tourist access to popular destinations on the Gold Coast, boosting tourism activity and economic activity.
- Improved pedestrian safety and accessibility by providing new active transport infrastructure along the corridor.
- Improved public transport and active transport mode share, safety and security at public transport stations and through dedicated pedestrian and bike riding routes off-corridor.
- Increased property values – Property values within the walk-up catchment areas are likely to increase in the long-term due to improved connectivity and access to modern public transport.
- Enhanced green space – The project will seek to improve greening of the corridor by planting appropriate species for the light rail, road and pathway infrastructure.
- Promotes sustainable transport.
- Improved awareness and promotion of cultural heritage by improving access to, and general community knowledge of, cultural heritage sites along the corridor.

The key negative social impacts of the Light Rail Transit option include:

- Changes to local traffic conditions and access on the Gold Coast Highway and some adjacent streets. These will be mitigated through the project design and community awareness programs.
- Reduced local parking on the Gold Coast Highway and some adjacent streets.
- Property impacts throughout the corridor including compulsory acquisition of directly affected properties.
- Traffic impacts during construction.
- Construction disruptions to businesses within the corridor.

Summary

- Overall, Light Rail Transit has the highest net social impact rating (positive social impact) followed by Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening and Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades.

6.10 Sustainability

The Infrastructure Sustainability Council's Infrastructure Sustainability Rating Scheme has been used to assess the potential sustainability of the project options.

The Infrastructure Sustainability Council definition of sustainable development is:

"Development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs."

(United Nations, 1987).

At the Preliminary Evaluation stage, this included a preliminary materiality assessment of the project options using the Infrastructure Sustainability Council Infrastructure Sustainability Scorecard.

The sustainability assessment ranked Light Rail Transit the highest of the three options as the long-term advantages of higher patronage use, seamless journey experience and alignment with the City of Gold Coast vision are greater than the other options. Key considerations included:

- For Light Rail Transit, there are greater construction impacts for both materials and community disruption, predominantly because of the new bridges required, which will need to be considered during planning and construction.
- Operationally, Light Rail Transit provides greater capacity and a better user experience as it connects to the existing Light Rail Transit infrastructure on the Gold Coast.
- There is the potential for the Light Rail Transit operations to be more impacted by climate change events, in particular flooding, due to the static nature of the rail infrastructure compared to buses.
- Light Rail Transit is aligned with community expectations and the City of Gold Coast vision, in particular the themes of liveable places and connected communities.

Reducing emissions

Public transport has a critical role to play in the transition a zero emissions economy, with transport emissions accounting for over 13% of Queensland's greenhouse gas emissions[16].

The Queensland Government has a commitment to achieving net zero emissions by 2050, with an interim target to reduce emissions by 30% below 2005 levels by 2030. Investment in public transport, and moving people out of private vehicles, as well as greater urban consolidation, will play an important role in achieving this target.

Light Rail Transit provides the greatest capacity improvement for public transport and is expected to realise the greatest mode shift from private vehicles to public transport.

The Preliminary Evaluation forecast that Light Rail Transit will result in over 18000 trips per day being removed from the road network by 2041. From fuel emissions alone, Light Rail Transit will realise a reduction in carbon emissions of over 18000 tonnes per day, compared to only 2900 tonnes per day for Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening and 1500 for Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades.

6.11 Summary evaluation and ranking project options

A range of assessments were undertaken during the Preliminary Evaluation stage for the project. Each assessment identified a ranking for the project options. A summary of these rankings is outlined in the table below.

Light Rail Transit emerged as the overall highest performing option across the assessments with the highest scores across the transport outcomes, land use, economic analysis, community engagement, social impact, and sustainability assessments.

Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades was the top performer for cost and risk and financial analysis. Infrastructure Australia recommends that at least two options in addition to a "do-minimum" base case, be investigated in the Business Case. Bus Service Enhancements has emerged as a low-cost alternative that may also be considered as a staging option.

There was no significant cost saving for Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening compared to Light Rail Transit. Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening underperformed on most other assessments. For this reason, Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening will not be progressed for further assessment.

Assessment area	Light Rail Transit	Bus Lanes without Bridge Widening	Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades
Risk analysis and cost estimate	3rd	2nd	1st
Transport demand modelling	1st	2nd	3rd
Land use analysis	1st	3rd	3rd
Economic analysis	1st	3rd	2nd
Legislative, regulatory and environment	3rd	2nd	1st
Community engagement	1st	2nd	3rd
Social impact evaluation	1st	2nd	3rd
Sustainability	1st	2nd	3rd
Project Costs (Economic Costs)	$2.9 billion	$2.0 billion	$0.3 billion
Project Benefits (Economic Benefits)	$2.6 billion	$0.2 billion	$0.1 billion
Benefit Cost Ratio	0.9	0.1	0.3

The economic costs and benefits are presented in present value terms (2023) which was determined by applying a discount rate of 7% to the total project cost or benefit over the 30 year assessment period. The reason for this process is that money today is "worth less" in the future as costs increase. For example, the cost of milk today is greater than it was 10 years ago. This process is current industry practice and consistent with guidance from Infrastructure Australia.

Part 4 – Summary

7 Conclusion

The Preliminary Evaluation has confirmed the strategic need for intervention in the southern Gold Coast transport network to provide a major boost to public transport connectivity as part of a multi-modal response to the identified problems and opportunities in this part of the city.

The Preliminary Evaluation has identified that a major investment in public transport could substantially boost accessibility, change the way people travel and result in a range of economic, social and environmental benefits for the southern Gold Coast as well as the northern Tweed and the broader region.

Without major investment in public transport, the increasing demand on the southern Gold Coast transport network is forecast to result in road capacity constraints and escalating congestion issues.

The ability to expand the road network, beyond currently committed projects (given geographic constraints), is limited and therefore continued growth in road transport demand in the absence of attractive, high-capacity public transport will result in unsustainable congestion growth. It is forecast that there will be congestion on all major traffic routes in peak times, including the M1. The annual cost of road network congestion is forecast to increase to $117 million per annum by 2041.

Delivery of the Burleigh Heads to Coolangatta Public Transport Project will support the development of a multi-modal transport network on the Gold Coast and promote urban consolidation and sustainable transport usage. ShapingSEQ – the Queensland Government's framework for achieving South East Queensland's vision for growth – identifies catalytic infrastructure as a critical tool to manage population growth and achieve urban consolidation targets, which is currently set at 80% for the Gold Coast.

Delivery of the project is a city-shaping opportunity, with major investment in public transport in this corridor identified in ShapingSEQ, SEQ Regional Transport Plans 2021, Gold Coast City Transport Strategy 2031 and Gold Coast Public Transport Plan 2018-2028.

Improved public transport connectivity to the Gold Coast Airport will support the numerous major events that the Gold Coast hosts each year, as well as the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The project is intended to support more people living and working on the southern Gold Coast, improve public transport accessibility and efficiency and connect the Gold Coast Airport to major destinations for tourists.

In 2020, transport was the state's third largest contributor to total greenhouse gas emissions. Delivery of an attractive, high-capacity public transport solution, which realises a shift towards public transport, decreased dependence on private vehicles and a more balanced multi-modal network further supports achieving the Queensland Government's net zero emissions goals.

The Preliminary Evaluation included a comprehensive multi-phase options analysis process to generate and assess a range of project options and determine the most suitable options for further investigation in the Business Case stage.

Based on the analysis undertaken in the Preliminary Evaluation, it was recommended that Light Rail Transit and Bus Service Enhancements with Minor Upgrades (subsequently called Bus Enhancement Provisions) proceed to the Business Case stage.
